TIMELY

Representative Ed Gossett, Democrat, Texas, has proposed that geographical representation on the United States Supreme court be equalized because the tribunal's recent decision's "indicate a lack of understanding of problems of the south and southwest."

Gossett has introduced a bill to require that at least three of the nine jurists be residents of states west of the Mississippi and at least two residents of the 10 states commonly referred to as the old south, plus West Virginia.

Asserting that private political and social philosophies of the justices seem to be reflected more and more in their legal interpretations he said that "a good many of the court's recent decisions, including that relating to the Texas primary laws, indicates a lack of understanding" of geographical problems.

And there should be at least one other provision in Mr. Gossett's bill to the effect that all appointments to the Supreme Court be made from the district and circuit judiciary.

Such a provision would afford due recognition of experience and proven ability, a suitable reward for merit.

Also such a provision stops the appointment of men because of their peculiar political or social philosophies.

WE DON'T BELIEVE IT

A recent headline quotes Roger Babson, the noted economic and financial authority, as saying:

"Uncle Sam's large debt will be self-liquidating; stabilizing."

Mr. Babson evidently is a smart man; but he can be wrong, and, in this instance, we think individual debt does not usually liquidate itself. If it is of much size, the individual generally has to put forth quite a bit of thought and effort to liquidate it; and sometimes, both the individual and his possessions are liquidated in the process.

The same is quite true with regard to public debt. The three hundred billion dollar debt we are told we will owe at the end of the war must be paid or repudiated; and the low interest rate will not lighten the load much. This "owing ourselves" idea doesn't get us anywhere. It's short the thousands who haven't been able to buy war bonds. Those who have bought them expect them to be paid when due, with interest. They are not going to willingly cancel them without "value received."

And that means that Uncle Sam must collect taxes from all, those who don't own bonds as well as those who do — taxes and more taxes, the likes of which have never been known in this country before. After reading the above-quoted headline, we read the article to see what Mr. Babson's argument was.

Well, as you might suspect, it was words, words, words; with so many if's, and's and wherefore's and hopeful wishing as to render it, to us, far from convincing.

There are only two things to be done with debt, public or pri...ate: pay it or repudiate it. And a $300,000,000,000 debt, the magnitude of which no human mind can grasp, will take a long time to pay, with all the taxes our economic set-up can stand.

NATURAL SODA

The Natural Side Dresser

Over 500,000 tons of Chilean Soda have been brought in for this year's crops. More is expected in time for side dressing, but there are distribution complications. The War Production Board and the War Food Administration control distribution of all nitrogen supplies under an allocation program. Principally, this program takes into account three things: (1) total supply of nitrogen products; (2) their respective locations and capacities; (3) crop requirements. So, if Chilean Soda happens to be scarce in your section, it is a war-time dislocation, a temporary scarcity.

If you haven't been able to get the Chilean Soda you need for top dressing and side dressing, don't blame your fertilizer man. Put the blame where it belongs . . . on Hitler and Hirohito.

A vast supply of natural soda is right where nature put it — in Chile. Large quantities are ready for shipment.
Every possible ton of this vital material is being brought home in time for this year's crops.
