Smith Chapel Society Holds Meeting

Mrs. John Wolfe was hostess to the W. S. C. S. of the Smith Chapel Methodist church Wednesday afternoon, August 15, at her home. The president called the meeting to order and opened with a song, "America."

Rev. W. E. Howard gave a very interesting talk on "Peace," and urged all who had girls and boys overseas in the armed forces to be patient concerning them, as it would take some time to return them. He closed with special prayer.

The theme for the program was "Methodists Cooperate in Latin America." Those taking part on the program were Mrs. Raymond Bell, Mrs. G. B. Smith. Roll was called, minutes of the last meeting read and approved. After a short business session the meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. A. G. Jordan.

Those present were Mrs. J. W. Waller, Miss Lillie Taylor, Mrs. A. G. Jordan, Mrs. Stanley Jordan, Mrs. Kermit Warren, Mrs. Elburn Daughtry, Mrs. J. C. Stephenson, Sr., Mrs. G. B. Smith, Mrs. W. E. Howard and Mrs. Raymond Bell.

Nylon Hosiery On Way Back For Women

Nylon and rayon were given back to the ladies this week and nylon stockings may be on sale by Thanksgiving.

Both fabrics were freed of all controls except for one technicality blocking the immediate use of nylon for hosiery. War production board officials said this formality will be ironed out promptly and that nylon stockings should reach store shelves by Thanksgiving, or by Christmas at the least.

Nylon can be used immediately for slips, blouses, shirts and other garments. Rayon can be used for anything.

WPB said it will be several months before there is enough nylon to fill the demand, but when factories get going they are expected to turn out stockings in unprecedented volume. Before the war about eight million pounds of nylon were produced annually.

principally for hostery. It takes a pound and a quarter of nylon to make a dozen pairs of stockings.

Rayon, principal component of wartime stockings, has been used during the war for synthetic tires, parachutes, nurses' uniforms and Wave and Wac clothing.

BIG JOB TO DO YET SAYS OPA DIRECTOR

Asks Ration Boards To Remain On Duty

Their rationing jobs done, all members of the gasoline and food panels of eastern North Carolina rationing boards were asked this week by OPA District Director T. S. Johnson to "stand by for further service to the community."

He pointed out "There is still a big job to be done in the field of price control, asking merchants through the difficult transition period from war to peace."

Johnson said that the gasoline, fuel oil and other panel members will be asked to assist merchants in "an even bigger job" than was the allocating of gasoline.

"Of paramount importance now is seeing that all of our merchants understand how they can help in avoiding inflation," he declared.

He reminded that within 24 hours after President Truman announced Japan's surrender, OPA removed gasoline, processed food, fuel oil and oil stoves from rationing. He also pointed out that price controls on such luxury items as furs and jewelry have already been removed.

"Those are evidence of OPA's resolve to keep the promise made months ago that just as soon as the supply of civilian commodities balances the demand, price and rationing controls will be removed," Johnson said.

"This transition period can be dynamite if it isn't handled properly and unless our citizens all help," he asserted.

The ruinous inflation that swept America after the last war," he reminded, "didn't begin until six months after the armistice."

"Then, by 1920, more than 100,000 businesses failed and nearly a half-million farmers lost their farms," Johnson said.

"We can't let that happen again." For this reason, members of the gas, fuel oil and food panels will be asked to stay on the job to help all merchants and buying public during the next several months, he concluded.

CONTROL REMOVALS OFFER NEW PROBLEM

There are still bottlenecks in the way of delivery of that new refrigerator or range, or automobile despite the green light given civilian manufacture.

Industrial observers agreed this week the war production board's relaxation of 210 restrictions on output has loosed a competitive rush to produce.

This very competition may bring an immediate problem.

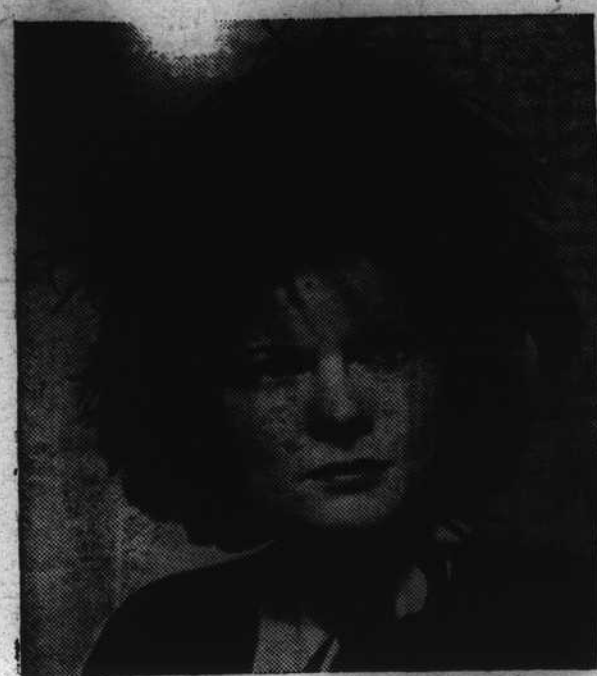

The Research Institute of America, incorporated, private fact-finding organization, predicted such a flood of exaggerated and duplicate buying by manufacturers trying to assure themselves an adequate supply of material that WPB will be forced "within the next few days" to take action.

Price ceiling reductions, announced this week by the office of price administration, range from six tenths of a cent to 1.2 cents a gallon on gasoline; 1 cent to 1 1/2 cents a gallon on kerosene distillate heating oils and deisels fuel, and 15 to 30 cents a barrel on heavy industrial fuel oils.

The reductions will become effective at the refinery and wholesale, including tank wagon levels, September 1. They will become effective at retail later in the month, but the exact date has not been determined.

FARM IMPLEMENT TIRES RELEASED

The OPA announced in Washington this week that rationing of tires for all farm implements and certain industrial-type vehicles ended at midnight Monday.

Truce tires and passenger car tires will remain on the ration list.

Administrator Chester Bowles said that the war production board has advised OPA that "ample supplies" of all sizes and types of farm implement tires, including tractor tires, and the types used for industrial equipment are now available to meet requirements.

Bowles added, however, that the shortage of passenger and truck tires is still so acute that they must continue to be rationed. Bowles said that passenger and truck tires must continue to be rationed because of short supply. Farmers needing them, he explained, will continue to apply to their ration boards for purchase certificates.

Canada Boosts Steel Production

(Above) Out of a hot sulphuric acid bath comes this steaming coil of "spaghetti." The 40 separate coils shown will be made into drills and punching instruments. (At right) A circular saw cuts through an 8-inch thick steel rod.

CANADA has recently built two of the largest blast furnaces in the British Empire. Notable expansion has occurred in connection with alloy steels and steel plates. The production capacity and output of alloy steels has been multiplied six times, making Canada practically independent in providing the types used in guns, armor plate and machine tools. Prior to the war, the Dominion Foundries and Steel, Limited, was the only maker of steel plates in Canada. In April, 1941, the new 112-inch mill of the Steel Company of Canada, Limited, came into operation just in time to provide much-needed plates for the shipbuilding program and for tanks, guns and carriers. In March, 1943, the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation, Limited, reopened its plate mill in Nova Scotia, idle since the war of 1914-18. Output of steel plates is now nearly six times that of 1935. In addition to these larger concerns, there are 33 other steel makers which use electric or open-hearth furnaces to produce steel from pig-iron and scrap. In all, there are 158 steel furnaces in Canada, including 50 open-hearth units, 52 electric units and 3 converters.

Canada's steel production in 1944 will amount to about 3,000,000 tons or nearly double the best pre-war tonnage. At the beginning of 1940 the rated capacity of steel furnaces in the Dominion was 2,500,000 net tons, but new installations have raised this potential to 3,600,000 tons as at the end of September, 1944. Canada now is the fourth greatest steel producer among the United Nations, exceeded only by the United States, Russia and Great Britain.
