THANKS

In behalf of our town, The Tribune would like to extend its appreciation to S. Moseley Davis for the very effective work he has done, and is doing with the young boys of Mount Olive, as their Scoutmaster during the past several years.

This good work was publicly recognized at the annual banquet of Tuscarora council, to which Mount Olive belongs, held in Goldsboro Tuesday night, when the council presented its highest award for service, the Silver Beaver, to Mr. Davis.

In the course of our daily lives all of us are leaving impressions on those with whom we live, work and play. To the shame of some of us, these impressions are not worthy, or of any value to those on whom they fall. In Mr. Davis' instance, however, he can justly feel proud of the devotion, respect and influence he has received from and wielded on numbers of Mount Olive's young citizens.

Their future lives will bear witness to the high ideals and moral standards which he has emphasized through the Scout movement in Mount Olive. Even our limited knowledge of Scouting impresses on us the traits of character which are necessarily incorporated in the nature of a youth who attains the rank of Eagle Scout, and the large number (more than any other troop in Tuscarora council) of Eagle Scouts in Mount Olive's Troop 34 speaks well for the type of leadership Mr. Davis has provided for local Scouts.

Inasmuch as our Scouts today are our leading citizens tomorrow, it behooves the town in general to heartily support, not only Mr. Davis, but any other citizen or movement which is striving to assure our future by building men and women of sound moral characteristics.

Thanks, Mr. Davis.

CLEANER MOVIES

Some years back, the Catholic church insisted that the movie industry improve the quality of its films.

(Now it's the National Grange's turn at the bat, and it has taken the matter up with Eric Johnson, movie czar, who promises his cooperation in the desired direction.

Undoubtedly, the moving picture is having a wide-spread effect on American life today. Generally what we see impresses us more than what we read or hear; and there does seem to be a quite prevalent opinion that much of what appears on the screen today is anything but uplifting.

But where is the clean-up to come from? Hollywood?

In view of the publicized moral tone of that movie production center, the demand for cleaner movies reminds one of Nathane's question to Philip: "Can any good thing come out of Nazareth?"

Also of that famous question by the Savior: "Do men gather grapes of thorns, or figs of thistles?"

Clean up Hollywood—if that is possible—and Hollywood products will be less objectionable.

Hardly.
 Admittedly, the strength of the organization depends upon the "Big Three"—Russia, Britain and America.
 To be sure, America and Britain want peace, but does Russia? Does a man who goes around with a chip on his shoulder, and with constant complaint about what somebody else is doing, want peace?

Russia wants to keep her troops in Iran, contrary to Iran's wishes, and insists that that doesn't endanger world peace.

But she pretends to think that British troops in Greece, with the consent of the Greek government, does endanger world peace.

Pretty nearly ditto with the Indonesian situation.

Moreover, according to Drew Pearson, one of the best known of Washington columnists, Russia has been guilty of spying on us since the war ended, about which our state department is wise, but for some strange reason, refuses to "raise the roof."

Permanent world peace? Bah!

CONFUSED

Harold Knutson, a veteran member of the ways and means committee, who represents the sixth district of Minnesota in the House sums up the existing situation as follows:

"Frankly, I am disturbed, confused, bewildered. The outlook for the future is anything but encouraging. Taking stock of the present situation, we find:

- 1. A national debt of 265 billion dollars.
- 2. An outbreak of strikes that is strangling our economy.
- 3. The administration's continuance of deficit spending.
- 4. Our diplomatic relations with much of the world not good.
- 5. Uncle Sam still acting as Santa Claus to all the world.
- 6. Government officials afraid or unwilling to meet issues squarely.
- 7. The average citizen willing to let columnists, radio commentators and second-rate hack writers do his thinking for him.

"Unless America soon wakes up to the situation that confronts her it will be too late."

How about using some common sense, together with the kind of cooperation and team play that enabled us to win the war?

NORTH CAROLINA MARKET SUMMARY

POULTRY & EGGS

The demand for live poultry and eggs at most of North Carolina poultry marketing centers continued dull during the week with supplies exceeding demand and prices weaker. Current receipts of white and mixed colored eggs returned producers and handlers 35 cents per dozen at Nashville and Mooresville; 33 at Durham, 31 at Raleigh, and 30 to 32 at Wilmington.

Top quality fryers and broilers brought 30 cents at Nashville, 28 at Statesville, 27 to 28 at Raleigh, 25 at Lexington and North Wilkesboro and 24 at Greensboro.

FRUITS & VEGETABLES

Unfavorable weather over eastern North Carolina during the week held up Irish potato plantings, which usually get underway around the second week in Feb.

any and continue through the second week in March. This year's seed stock is adequate and of good quality according to reports from potato growing areas. 50-lb. sacks of U. S. No. 1 size A, washed Florida Bliss Triumphs, closed the week slightly stronger in New York at 3.50 to 3.75; U. S. No. 1 size B, wholesaled at 2.50 to 2.75.

Approximately 100,000 bushels of North Carolina sweet potatoes moved from storage houses into commercial channels between January 15 and February 15 of this year, according to marketing specialists with the division of markets, North Carolina department of agriculture. It was estimated that the state's sweet potato producers and handlers had approximately two million bushels on hand January 15. One-fourth of these sweets will be sold commercially, while the remainder will be used for home purposes. Top quality bushels of North Carolina Porto Ricans closed the week in New York at 3.90 to 4.05.

The state's early spring cabbage growers have set or expect to set between 1,200 and 1,400 acres of cabbage for the 1946 marketing season. The bulk of this acreage is located in Carteret and Pamlico counties. 50-pound sacks of Florida domestic round type cabbage closed the week in New York at 1.75 to 2.00.

COTTON

Cotton prices reached another new seasonal high last week. Spot markets were somewhat more active than is usual for this time of the year.

Prices for middling 15-16 inch in the 10 spot markets averaged 25.86 cents Thursday, 25.44 a week earlier, and 21.66 a year ago. Middling 15-16 inch advanced 45 points Friday to 26.31 establishing a new 21-year high. The 10 market average spot price for middling 15-16 inch is currently about 16.00 per bale higher than the OCC purchase program price. However, the current spot price for strict good ordinary and good ordinary 15-16 inch is only about 2.50 to 3.50 per bale more than the purchase price. Discounts for short staples have also widened but not as much as those for low grades. Reported sales in the 10 designated markets totaled 187,100 bales this week, against 191,700 last week, and 72,700 in the corresponding week a year ago.

LIVESTOCK

Receipts of hogs at the country's 11 leading livestock markets during the first five days of this week totaled approximately 265,000 head, a drop of 15,000 as compared with the same period of the previous week. Practically all good slaughter hogs continued firm at ceiling levels. North Carolina's cash hog buying stations reported a slight increase in butcher hogs. However, offerings were far below normal for the season when compared with receipts a year ago.

Rocky Mount and Asheville livestock markets reported heavy runs of cattle during the week with demand firm and prices 25 cents to 1.00 higher. Rocky Mount paid 16.00 to 18.00 for good beef steers and calves. Good fat beef cows brought 12.00 to 14.00 and bulls 10.00 to 13.00.

Cattle offerings in Baltimore were extremely light during the week. Slaughter steers were 25 cents per hundred weaker. Heifers cows and bulls were steady, while vealers were up 1.00.

ALL THEY ASKED WAS AN EVEN BREAK

BUILDING a new country was no easy job. But there were men and women willing to tackle it—to turn their backs on the safe and sure way of life and their faces toward new frontiers. All they asked was an even break.

Free enterprise is another way of saying "an even break." Free enterprise is not a political catchword. It's the basic American principle of vision and personal initiative. Just give an American an even break—a chance to get ahead—and he'll go on from there.

But when government goes into business, in competition with its citizens, the American ideal of an even break is destroyed—for government in business enjoys special privileges that are denied the people.

Take the case of government-owned power systems, for example. They pay few, if any, taxes; often get money from the U. S. Treasury at little or no interest; make up losses out of the pockets of the taxpayers.

On the other hand, America's business-managed power companies—owned and operated by millions of folks like you—are on their own. They pay their full share of taxes, and they pay fair interest on any loans.

It's a tribute to American self-reliance that tax-paying, self-supporting companies supply over 4/5 of the enormous amount of electricity used in this country.

The same forethought and experience which furnished electric power for a global war will assure America's dependable—and cheap—electric service for a post-war world. There are still new frontiers in electric living to be opened. And business men can do the job better than bureaucrats.

To The Citizens of Duplin County!

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Sheriff of Duplin County, subject to the Democratic primary to be held in May, 1946.

If nominated and elected, I promise to faithfully discharge the duties imposed by the office, and to stand for law enforcement without fear or favor, with a firm hand, but without abuse or illegal methods, and to co-operate in any manner that will assure for Duplin county, one of the best governments in the state.

During World War I, it was my privilege to serve my country in the capacity of an enlisted man, as a battle soldier, in consequence of which I was wounded and awarded the Purple Heart, as well as cited by the President. I love my county, and want to serve its people to the best of my ability.

I will sincerely appreciate your influence and effort in my behalf.

Respectfully yours,

RALPH J. JONES
