Orange Marmalade Glamorizes Bread Pudding

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

HERE'S a new-fashioned way to make a better and quicker bread pudding than grandmother ever hummed a tune over. What's so good about it is that it's made with either sweet or bitter orange marmalade as the main sweetener.

It's easy to make, and doesn't require any extra shopping if you have bought and kept a few tumbler of either sweet or bitter marmalade on your pantry shelves. The other ingredients, such as day-old bread, eggs and milk, etc., are always with you. Topped with a frothy cloud of sweetened meringue, this pudding is handsome enough and special enough even for a party.

Orange Marmalade Bread Pudding

(Makes 6-8 servings)

Three eggs, separated; 4 cups milk, scalded; 2 tablespoons butter or margarine; 1/2 cup orange marmalade, sweet or bitter; 1/2 cup sugar; 1/2 teaspoon vanilla flavoring; 5 slices day-old bread, cut in 1-inch squares; 1/4 cup sugar.

In a large bowl, beat 3 egg yolks and 1 egg white. Reserve remaining 2 egg whites for meringue. Gradually stir in milk, blending well. Then stir in butter, 1/2 cup of the orange marmalade, 1/2 cup sugar, salt, vanilla and bread; mix lightly but thoroughly.

Pour mixture into a buttered, 1 1/2-quart baking dish. Set baking dish in a pan of hot water. (The water should come within 1 inch of the top of baking dish).

Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 45 to 50 minutes, or until a knife inserted near one side of the pudding comes out clean.

Remove baking dish from the oven. Turn oven regulator to hot 425 degrees F. Spread top of pudding with the remaining 1/2 cup of orange marmalade.

To make the meringue: In a bowl, whip two egg whites until they form soft peaks. Add 1/4 cup sugar, a tablespoon at a time, whipping after each addition until the mixture is glossy and forms stiff peaks.

Spoon the meringue over the pudding in a circle or oval shape. Put baking dish in the pan of hot water and bake about 5 minutes, or until the meringue is lightly browned. Decorate meringue with additional orange marmalade. Serve warm.

Climbing Problem...

Here's a real problem in climbing. Actually, telephone poles must still be the same height, but today you can buy only about two-fifths of an average size pole for the price of one 15 years ago. So every time we replace an old pole or add a new one we have to spend more than twice as much as in 1939.

This is just one example of what climbing costs have done to the telephone business. The cost of furnishing telephone service has increased more than the price we get for it. And prices of almost all other commodities have gone up much more.

Southern Bell wants telephone service to be as good and as low priced as possible. At the same time we hope you will understand what inflation has done to us. We believe you are willing for us to earn a fair profit.
