RECENT BRIDE—Mrs. Hughlon Bland Garris, Jr., of Wilmington was, before her marriage in the First Methodist church of Mount Olive Thursday, Miss Linda Lee Cannon, daughter of Mrs. Cullen Hatch of Mount Olive, and the late Lee J. Cannon of Seattle, Wash. Mr. Garris is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Garris of Wilmington.

Miss Linda Cannon Becomes Bride of Hughlon Garris, Jr., Thanksgiving Day

Miss Linda Lee Cannon, daughter of Mrs. Cullen B. Hatch of Mount Olive, and the late Lee J. Cannon of Seattle, Wash., became the bride of Hughlon Bland Garris, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Garris, Sr., of Wilmington, on Thursday afternoon at 4:30 in the First Methodist church of Mount Olive.

The Rev. D. L. Fouts, pastor of the church, performed the double-ring ceremony.

The church was decorated with floor baskets filled with yellow chrysanthemums against a background of palms and candelabra holding yellow candles.

A program of wedding music was presented by Miss Ann Honeycutt, organist, who also accompanied Durald Wilson, soloist, as he sang "Because," "Through the Years," and "O Perfect Love" as a benediction.

The bride was given in marriage by her step-father, Cullen B. Hatch. She wore a ballerina length gown of white duchess satin with fitted bodice and Peter Pan collar fastened down the front with tiny satin buttons, and long sleeves with pointed cuffs. A white tulle overskirt featured insets piped with the satin. Her fingertip veil of imported silk illusion was attached to a headpiece of pleated tulle and seedpearls. She carried a white prayer book, to which a white orchid was attached.

The bride's maid-of-honor was Miss Joan Summerlin of Mount Olive and Winston-Salem. She wore a ballerina length gown of shimp-colored crystalet, fashioned with strapless bodice and bolero and full skirt of tulle. Her headdress was of matching velvet embroidered in seed pearls. She carried an arm bouquet of light bronze chrysanthemums.

Little Miss Eliza Hatch, sister of the bride, was flower girl. She wore an ankle length gown of shrimp taffeta styled with fitted bodice and puff sleeves, and full skirt. She carried a nosegay of mixed flowers.

Ushers were Tommy Garris of Wilmington, brother of the groom, and Lon De'Angury of Wilmington. Hughlon B. Garris, Sr., was his son's best man.

Mrs. Hatch wore a jacket dress of pale turquoise faille with black velvet hat and black accessories. Her flowers were a cluster of Phalaenopsis orchids.

The bridegroom's mother wore an embroidered ensemble of charcoal and mauve silk with mauve hat and black accessories. She also wore a purple orchid corsage.

Immediately following the wedding the couple received in the vestibule of the church, after which they left for a tour of the western part of North Carolina.

Wilmington, and will shortly enter the School of Architecture at N. C. State college.

Luncheon

Among the social affairs which immediately preceded the wedding was a luncheon Thursday in the dining room of Rusty's grill when Mr. and Mrs. Cullen Hatch were hosts to members of the wedding party, and members of the families and out-of-town guests.

Rehearsal Party

Mr. and Mrs. Durald Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Summerlin and Mr. and Mrs. Willis Honeycutt were hosts at a cake cutting at the home of the latter Wednesday evening following rehearsal for the Garris-Cannon wedding.

The living room was decorated throughout with arrangements of yellow chrysanthemums and yellow candles.

Guests were invited into the dining room, where decorations and refreshments carried out the bridal motif. The table, which was covered with a white hand-made organdy cloth with lace insets, was centered with an arrangement of white chrysanthemums in a crystal bowl, flanked by white candles in crystal candelabra. A three-tiered cake, topped with wedding bells, was on one end of the table and the punch bowl was on the opposite end.

Mrs. Hatch, mother of the bride, presided at the punch bowl, while Mrs. Garris, mother of the bridegroom, served cake after the couple had cut the first slice. Other refreshments consisted of lime ice punch, bridal mints and nuts.

The buffet was decorated with white candles and greenery.

The bride and groom presented gifts to their attendants during the evening.

Guests included the bridal couple and their parents, the Rev. and Mrs. B. E. Dotson, the Rev. and Mrs. D. L. Fouts, the Rev. and Mrs. T. W. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. William Davis, Durald Wilson, Jr., Tommy Garris, Eddie Summerlin, Lon De'Angury, of Wilmington, Bobby Lazarik, Boyce Honeycutt, Dr. John Taylor of Fayetteville, Albert Kelley of Norfolk, Va., grandfather of the groom, Misses Eliza Hatch, Joan Summerlin, Ann Honeycutt, Charlotte McQueen of Greensboro, Shirley Hines, Peggy Ann Hinton, Mary Stevenson Britt, Daisy Jo Norris, Elisabeth Holmes, Kay Mitchell, Ann Wilson and Ann Cooke.

Turkey Leftovers Make Good Meal

Nearly everyone looks forward to Thanksgiving dinner when he can enjoy the turkey with all the trimmings. However, few of us relish the idea of finishing up the bird once the big meal is over.

Is there anything you can do to make turkey left-overs more attractive? According to Virginia Wilson, State college nutritionist, there is. She says that there are a number of ways in which left-overs can be used to add variety to your menu. Cook frozen broccoli for about one minute, drain and place in a baking dish. Cover with chopped turkey, cheese sauce and crumbs. Brown in a moderate oven for about ten minutes.

Another turkey dish that Miss Wilson suggests is made by cooking noodles or spaghetti in turkey broth. If you don't have broth, you can easily make it by cooking the turkey bones in water for about 20 to 25 minutes.

After cooking the noodles or spaghetti in the broth, place in a baking dish with chopped turkey and cover with a cheese sauce. To add variety, you might want to add some chopped mushrooms or blanched almonds—or perhaps a little of both. Miss Wilson says that if the really wants to give the dish a special touch, she adds a few ripe olives. Bake the casserole in a slow oven for about 10 to 12 minutes.

Using up the Thanksgiving turkey need not be a problem. There are any number of interesting combinations that can be made using your Thanksgiving turkey as a basis. Many of these dishes use the bird so subtly that your family won't realize they're still eating the "piece de resistance" of the Thanksgiving dinner.

Be sure to test out the phenomenal effect of "variable pitch propellers" in Dynaflo Drive!
MAYBE—among the upcoming crop of new 1955 models—there's another car with an advance that can hold a candle to this one. But we doubt it. We doubt it because nowhere—among the rumors of what's cooking in automotive laboratories—is there anything to compare with what's actually happened at Buick.
It all started with the fact that modern air liners get two big advantages because they can change the pitch of their propellers.
First, they get off the ground hundreds of feet sooner than they used to.
Second, they can stretch their gasoline by setting propeller blades at just the right "pitch" for cruising.
So Buick engineers asked themselves—"If you can do it with air, why can't you do it with oil—the oil inside a Dynaflo Drive?"
And to make a long story short—they could, and they did.
They designed and engineered the propeller-like blades inside the "stator" of a Dynaflo Drive so they can change their pitch as much as 75 degrees.
That provides one setting for more-miles-per-gallon, and another for an instant safety-surge of power when it's needed.
All you have to do is push the accelerator pedal down to the last half-inch.
But the thrill of the year is Buick
