

National Guard Softball Team Again in Undisputed Possession of First Place

The National Guard moved undisputedly into first place in the softball standings Friday night by defeating the Baptist Jacks 9-1, after the Presbyterians, with a 10-run rally in the fourth, turned back the Methodists 19-9. Going into the games, the Guard, and Methodists were tied for the top position.

Round-trippers by Bill Stevens and Oscar Lambert featured the Guard assault. Stevens' homer came in the third with one on, while Lambert connected with none on in the fifth. Lambert, who pitched for the winners, was the Guard's leading batter, getting a double in addition to his home run in three official trips at bat.

The Guard hurler had a shut out going for six innings, but lost it in the seventh when Roland Early singled and later scored on an error. Otis Wood, the losing pitcher, led the Jacks at bat, with two singles.

In the Presbyterian-Methodist clash, the Presbyterians broke a 7-7 deadlock with a 10-run outburst in the fourth when the Methodist fielding collapsed. Two singles by B. J. Lee and Morris Swinson's double featured in the uprising, but other runs were brought about by errors and walks.

The Presbyterians drew first blood by scoring twice in the first inning, but the Methodists retaliated in the second, scoring five runs on six hits. The Presbyterians plated two more runs in their half of the second, but in the third the Methodists again retaliated by scoring twice on successive singles by Jerry Norris, Norbert Wilson, and Bob Boyd.

The Presbyterians tied it up in the bottom of the third on singles by Daniel Jones and Morris Barwick, plus taking advantage of Methodists' errors, and went on to put the game on ice with an outburst in the fourth.

Paul Crumpler went the distance on the mound for the Presbyterians to gain credit for the win, while Boyd and Bill Lee shared pitching duties for the Methodists. Boyd was charged with the defeat.

Storage Can Help Farmers Make Money

"With wheat harvest just around the corner, farmers should think about selling their crop."

That's the advice of John M. Curtis, extension marketing specialist at State college.

Curtis adds that one of the most important tools in profitable marketing of grain is storage under the price support program.

To qualify for price support loans on the 1955 crop and the sealed 1954 crop, wheat must meet minimum requirements of the Federal Pure Food and Drug Administration.

Curtis says that most N. C. wheat growers who have followed storage recommendations in the past will have no trouble with the new regulations. He commented that most farmers have been convinced that good storage is just good business whether the grain is to qualify for the price support program or not.

Deaths in Accidents Increasing

The death rate from automobile accident continues to rise in this section with another fatality being reported by Highway Patrolmen, stationed in Wayne, Duplin, and Sampson counties, last week.

The single fatality occurred in Duplin county, where four accidents were investigated by patrolmen during the week. In all, patrolmen in the district investigated 18 mishaps in which three persons were hurt.

Wayne led the district in accidents with eight and was followed by Sampson which reported six. Each county reported one person hurt.

Sgt. T. W. Fearing of the Highway Patrol reported patrolmen in the area made 141 arrests last week, with speeding accounting for 40 of the violations.

Whitaker, of Raleigh, chief life guard, and Willie D. Mayor, Jr., of Fayetteville, life guard, both holders of the National Red Cross Water Safety Instructor's certificate, will conduct the classes.

Rotary Midgets Win Game from Tribune

The Rotary midget baseball team pushed The Tribune deeper into the league cellar Thursday afternoon by shutting out the newspaper boys 4-0, behind the one-hit pitching of L. B. Brewer.

Dallas Weaver and Doyle Whitfield, who shared mound duties for the losers, gave up one hit between them.

A single by Weaver in the fourth robbed Brewer of a no-hitter, while Andy Wells' first inning single was the only blow given up by The Tribune hurlers.

The Rotary scored three runs in the first frame when Wells singled, after The Tribune pitcher had given up four successive walks. The other Rotary run came in the second on two walks.

Home Run Wins for Legion Midget 9

A two-run homer by Carroll Lindsay in the fourth inning enabled the Legion midget baseball team to preserve its undefeated record as the little Legionnaires turned back Calypso 11-9 Friday afternoon.

Lindsay's round-tripper gave the Legion a 11-2 lead at that point. The Calypso club rallied for six runs in the next frame with a homer by Thompson setting the pace.

Jimmy Weeks, with two triples, led the Legion assault, while Thompson, with a double in addition to his homer, was the leading Calypso batter.

Lindsay, the winning pitcher, allowed eight hits, keeping them scattered until the fifth when Calypso bunched five to push home six tallies. Byrd, the losing pitcher, gave up nine hits.

Autos, Only 50 Years Old, Bigger Killers Than Wars

Automobile accidents have accounted for more deaths than the wars in which the United States has ever engaged. Yet the automobile is only 50 years old, while the nation's first war was fought 180 years ago.

The authority for this analogy of slaughter on the battlefields and slaughter on the highways is Maj. Charles A. Speed, director of Traffic Safety for the North Carolina State Highway Patrol.

Major Speed has the facts and figures to prove his statement.

"Our first war," he recalls, "was started on April 19, 1775, in Lexington, Mass., when a group of Yankee farmers who were tired of race control fired a series of shot that were literally heard around the world. That started the Revolutionary war.

On September 4, 1951, the War Department announced that somewhere in Korea the millionth American soldier lost his life in defense of our nation. On December 21, 1951, just a few weeks after this date, the National Safety Council announced that somewhere in Ohio the millionth victim in America had died.

"This date too had a beginning," Major Speed continued, "but you won't find it in our history books—though we would do well to put it there quickly. It began on September 13, 1899, in New York City, when a man by the name of Henry Bliss, who had just stepped off a trolley, started across the street and was struck by one of the 3,200 'horseless carriages' that we had in our nation at that time. To our knowledge, that was the first recorded auto fatality in America."

Major Speed asks this question of North Carolina motorists: "Now, who are you going to blame for this? Do you feel that someone in Washington should do something about it? Do you feel that your county commissioners or your city aldermen should do something about it?"

"Or are you willing to look the facts squarely in the face and realize that you have a personal responsibility not only to drive and walk safely but to do everything you possibly can to help the law enforcement agencies, the educational organization, to promote traffic safety in our state, and in your community?"

"There's no easy way to do this. It's going to take time, effort and money on the part of every one of you. I challenge you to join hands with your highway patrol, your police department, and the other agencies in your community who are working to reduce motor vehicle accidents. And please remember that we are asking you to help us save your own life. Will you do it?"

Major Speed and other officials of the State Highway Patrol are actively promoting the state-wide program sponsored by the Governor's Traffic Safety Council.

Give Cheese Chance In Family's Menus

There are literally thousands of different kinds of cheeses and each one is nearly as versatile as the other.

Unfortunately, however, sliced cheese hardly gets out from between two slices of bread and cream and cottage cheese see little use except as a garnisher atop a slice of pineapple.

This is the age of pick-up foods—they're at home as hors d'oeuvres or light refreshments. And according to Jo Earp, State college extension nutritionist, cheese is a nutritious dairy food.

Here are recipes for two cheese "dips" that go well with crackers or potato chips—and they'll give your party a unique flavor.

Mushroom Dip
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 small pkg. cream cheese
Dash of garlic salt
Dash of Worcestershire sauce
Beat cream cheese and soup together until creamy. Add seasonings. Keep chilled until ready to serve.

Onion Cheese Dip
1 pkg. cottage cheese or cream cheese
1/2 pkg. dried onion soup
Dash salt
Dash Worcestershire sauce
Beat all ingredients together until creamy. If you use cottage cheese, cream well before combining with the dried soup. Keep chilled until ready to serve.

HOMEMAKER'S CORNER

Just about everybody's talking about the wonderful parfait pies. They're so luscious and good. You've probably seen them on television or read about them in newspapers or magazines. Now you'll have fun making them yourself at home. They may look hard to make, but they're not. They're as "easy as pie."

9" baked pie shell
Juice drained from No. 2 can crushed pineapple, plus water to make 1 1/4 cups
1 pkg. lime flavored gelatin
1 pint vanilla ice cream
Drained canned crushed pineapple from No. 2 can Fresh lime slices.

Drain juice from 1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple; if necessary, add water to make 1 1/4 cups. Heat 1 1/4 cups liquid in 2 quart saucepan. When liquid is hot, remove from heat. Add 1 package lime-flavored gelatin; stir till gelatin is completely dissolved. Cut 1 pint ice cream into 6 to 8 pieces; turn into hot lime-gelatin mixture; then, with blending fork, vigorously stir until ice cream melts and mixes smoothly with gelatin. Place saucepan of ice cream mixture in refrigerator to chill about 25 to 35 minutes, or until a little of the mixture mounds when dropped from spoon. When ice cream mixture is just right, spoon about 1 cup of crushed pineapple onto it. Fold pineapple into ice cream mixture; then turn mixture into cooled baked pie shell. Garnish with paper-thin lime slices and dots of crushed pineapple. Return filled shell to refrigerator or about 25 to 35 minutes, or until set.
