

The Mouth Piece

Quote for today: "If I wanted to punish an enemy it should be by fastening on him the trouble of constantly hating somebody." — H. More.

Several weeks ago, when all the farmers in the Mount Olive section had a real case of the blues because the hurricane weather was playing havoc with their crops, Giles Smith, Jr., was in Jesse Graham's barber shop here.

He told Jesse his only business that day was to make arrangements to get barber services on farmer's plan until next fall, because he sure wouldn't make enough this year to pay cash for his haircuts, shaves, etc.

Some of you readers have, no doubt, noticed the advertisement of the Sarasota Terrace hotel, in Sarasota, Fla. Its owner, C. V. Griffin, has recently inaugurated a plan under which his guests do not have to pay room rent on any day during which the sun does not shine.

Mr. Griffin did this to display his confidence in Florida's slogan as the "Sunshine State."

The three hurricanes which came up the coast recently, however, proved somewhat costly to him during September. In that month he lost to 236 guests from 17 states during three days in which the sun did not shine.

The storms didn't hit Florida, but they passed close enough to upset the weather pattern.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Martin, who left Mount Olive last summer for Georgia, her home state, and where Mr. Martin accepted a position teaching music in a college, are living right in the beginning of the foothills of Georgia. In a letter to friends here this week, Mrs. Martin pointed out they were only 20 miles from where the first gold rush in America took place, "way back in 1828."

In other words, if the teaching profession goes to the bad for the Martins (she's also teaching private pupils there), they could always go for the hills to try their luck striking gold.

Mr. Parker, owner and operator of Goldpark lake, between Mount Olive and Goldsboro, swears, almost, that he's going to keep working with the spot until he really has something there.

A little note from him last week said he was going to build the largest clear-water swimming pool in the South, and it would be ready for next summer. According to Ed, it will be 100 feet wide and 550 feet long. Also, he's building a skating rink 50 by 125 feet, with a hard rock maple floor, and modern in every respect.

Sunday morning was Carlyle Taylor's first time as president of the men's Bible class of the Baptist church, and the class members tried to put pressure on him for one of his fish fries which the class has enjoyed in the past. Carlyle is an excellent fish fryer, but he withstood the pressure, and told the class he wouldn't cook 'em any fish until they had 100 members present for Sunday school.

Buddy Dotson, Presbyterian minister here, was in a hurry to go play golf about noon Monday. He declared he hadn't played in a month or more, and was getting so ill and ornery he was hard to live with.

That's one of the advantages of playing golf—it gives you something to blame his cantankerousness (is that a good word?) on!

We couldn't get any cash out of Boyd (Ding) Beall for running his picture in the paper when he won the new automobile recently, but we did finally manage to get about 26 cents out of some of his relatives. An aunt, Miss Blanch Danforth, of Richmond, Va., ordered four copies of the paper.

Which just goes to prove there are very few situations which arise where EVERYTHING is lost!

We appreciate both of you telling us how much you missed this column the last two issues of The Tribune.

Coke Gets 2 Men On Whiskey Counts

Deputy Sheriff Raymond Cooke reported Monday morning that two local Negroes are under bond for a hearing on charges of having non-tax-paid whiskey for the purpose of sale. He said he arrested Leonard Wall and Leonard Johnson Sunday afternoon.

In addition, Cooke said, he had booked Wall, operator of Wall's Inn, on Highway 117, just south of Mount Olive, for operating a gambling joint.

Mrs. Elmo Blizzard Proves There's a Career at Home

By MRS. OARRIE SCOTT

Mrs. Elmo Blizzard has proven that being a successful wife is a career in itself, requiring the qualities of a business woman, a good cook, a school teacher, a trained nurse and even a glamour girl.

Mrs. Blizzard was the former Joyce Sutton, daughter of Mrs. Mae Sutton and the late William Ben Sutton. She was born August 28, 1930, on a farm near Mount Olive in Duplin county. She attended Calypso school until she married Elmo Blizzard May 8, 1946, and began her life career.

They lived with her husband's parents the first 18 months. During that time she continued her education by taking correspondence work. Most of her time was spent working in their country store. At the end of two years, a new home had been completed in which she now lives. She spends much of her time working to improve her home and surroundings. Mrs. Blizzard does all of her house work and finds time to do painting on the inside and outside of her home.

Mrs. Blizzard is a member of Outlaw's Bridge Universalist church and helps with many activities of the church. She admits she particularly likes to work with the young folks, and often helps with youth organizations.

In 1947, she joined Outlaw's Bridge Home Demonstration club and held the office of vice-president two years and secretary two years.

Scott's Store Home Demonstration club was organized in 1950. At that time, Mrs. Blizzard became a member. She is now a member of two home demonstration clubs and has had perfect attendance for six years. Mrs. Blizzard says she benefits by belonging to two clubs. She meets so many of her friends each month and gets many ideas from opinions of others on subjects discussed.

For two years she has served as secretary of the County Council. She has been recreation leader for Scott's Store club four years. Joyce is often called upon to plan recreation for parties and church groups.

Senior Memberships Are Explained to Rotarians Here

Charles Kraft, speaking on Rotary's membership classification at the local club meeting Thursday night, called upon all eligible members of the Mount Olive group to apply for senior membership as a means of opening the door for new blood in the organization.

Under the Rotary International's constitution, he pointed out, no two persons of the same occupation can belong to a club, but those who have been members for 15 years, or who are 65 years of age can become senior members, thus opening their classifications to others.

Senior membership was inserted into Rotary's constitution, he said, to keep the organization from becoming stale through the failure to bring new members into clubs. Those of the Mount Olive club who are eligible for senior membership should give serious consideration to this, Kraft said, for there are many advantages to becoming senior Rotarians.

Airman Hall Serves Overseas in Korea

Grover M. Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Hall, of E. Maple street here, is an airman, second class, in the U. S. Air Force, and is now assigned to a Bomber wing based in Korea, according to word recently received by his parents.

Hall attended Calypso High school, and enlisted in the Air Force in December, 1953. He is a unit supply technician, and was stationed at Niagara Falls municipal airport in New York before being assigned to his overseas duty.

Bond of $500 Set For Local Youth

Chief of Mount Olive Police Alton Daly said that bond of $500 has been set for the 14-year-old Negro youth who was apprehended last week while making a telephone call to white women here and using obscene language in his conversation.

A hearing has been scheduled for Wednesday. At the time of his departure from Goldsboro Monday morning, no one had supplied the bond, Daly said.

Mrs. Lloyd Dies Friday In Hospital

Funeral services for Mrs. George Lloyd of Bowden, who was well known in this section, were held from the home Sunday afternoon at 2:30, conducted by the Rev. Robert Baker, Warsaw Baptist minister, assisted by the Rev. Norman Flowers, pastor of the Bowden Presbyterian church, and the Rev. M. C. McQueen, Presbyterian pastor of Clinton. Interment was in the Memorial Park cemetery at Jacksonville.

Mrs. Lloyd died Friday morning at 7:50, in Sampson Memorial hospital, Clinton, where she was taken after a heart attack last Wednesday morning.

Surviving are Mr. Lloyd, prominent lumber dealer, and one-time operator of Bowden's mill in connection with his lumber mill; five daughters, Mrs. Stella McMillen, Mrs. Elvin Carter and Mrs. Bill Bartlet, all of Bowden, Mrs. John Brown of Sneads Ferry and Mrs. Johnnie Robinson, McAllen, Tex.; two sons, E. D. Lloyd of Bowden, and Bill Lloyd, with the army in California; two sisters, Mrs. Ima Welde and Mrs. Robert Bush, of Holly Ridge;

Seven brothers, L. T. Kater and Vance Howard, Holly Ridge, Willie Howard, Galveston, Tex., Luther Howard, Belton, Tex., John Howard, Wilmington, and Bob Howard, Harker's Island.

Merritts Announce Son's Birth, Death

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Merritt, of Mount Olive, announce the birth of a son, Johnnie Ray, Sunday, October 2, at 12:30 p.m., in Wayne Memorial hospital, Goldsboro, and his death Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon, with interment in Maplewood cemetery here. Surviving, in addition to the parents, are two brothers, Billy and Jimmy, of the home, and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Davis, of Calypso.

Homecoming at Thunder Swamp PH

Sunday, October 9, will be homecoming day at Thunder Swamp P. H. church.

The Rev. Byron A. Jones of Portsmouth, Va., will be the guest speaker at the 11 o'clock service.

Tenant Farmer Is Held for Shooting Landlord Sunday

Elias Sutton in Hospital as Doctors Fight to Save Limb

Harry Washington, about 40 years old, Negro tenant farmer, is being held without bond in Wayne county jail pending the outcome on shotgun wounds he inflicted Sunday evening on his landlord, Elias F. Sutton, prominent white man of Mount Olive.

Mr. Sutton is in Wayne Memorial hospital, with his right arm, and parts of the right side of his body punctured by shot from the single-barreled shotgun Washington is alleged to have used in the shooting.

Mount Olive police, headed by Chief Alton Daly, were being assisted by Wayne County Sheriff Jesse Hinson, Deputies Roy Precise and Roy Jones, Raymond Cooke, and State Highway Patrolmen William Wright and Wallace Morrow, in the investigation.

According to Daly and Officer Hardy Davis, of the local police force, Washington went to the home of Mr. Sutton, on West Main street, Sunday evening about 7:30. He called for Mr. Sutton, who went on the front porch to talk with him. In a few minutes, Mrs. Sutton, and neighbors of the Suttons, heard the shotgun blast, and upon investigating found Mr. Sutton on the porch alone, shot in the right arm and side.

The Negro tenant had fled. A search was begun for Washington, which included the use of bloodhounds from prison camps at Smithfield and Kenansville. About 9:30, or 10 o'clock Sunday night the dogs picked up Washington's barefoot trail within a few hundred yards of his home, which is just beyond the city limits on the Smith Chapel highway.

Chief Daly said the dogs finally lost the man's track near the Martin-Price cemetery, two miles northwest of Mount Olive about 1:30 Monday morning.

Search for the Negro continued through the night until Monday morning, when he walked into the sheriff's office in Goldsboro, in company with his uncle, Cephas Washington, of Dudley, and gave himself up.

Daly immediately left for Goldsboro to question Washington, and on return to Mount Olive said the tenant farmer told him the shooting occurred because he could not get a settlement on this year's farming operations out of Mr. Sutton.

Washington told him, Daly said, that he had tried three or four times to get a settlement from Mr. Sutton, and that Sunday evening he went to Mr. Sutton's home determined to get the matter straight. He told the chief that his wife and children, of which he has several, were "hungry," and that he needed the money.

Officers have not questioned Mr. Sutton yet, due to his condition, and reports from the hospital indicate his wounds are more serious than at first thought, since doctors are reported to have found more of the shotgun pellets in Mr. Sutton's body than at first believed.

Mr. Daly said reports indicated physicians give Mr. Sutton a 50-50 chance to save his right arm, which bore the brunt of the shotgun discharge.

Washington's wife, who was questioned by police while they were searching for her husband Sunday evening, said her husband had been drinking rather heavily Sunday.

Varsity Queen Will Be Selected Friday

Selection of a varsity queen, who will be crowned during the half-time procedures, will feature the homecoming football game here Friday evening, when the Mount Olive Panthers play host to the Vanceboro eleven.

The queen will be selected by secret balloting by the student body of the high school, and she will not be known until her name is announced at the game. All supporters of the local team are urged to attend the game.

JC Contest For Speakers Open Now

The opening of the 1956 Voice of Democracy contest, sponsored over the nation by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, was announced yesterday by Charles Whitley of Mount Olive, Seventh District chairman, and James R. Spence of Lillington, State chairman.

Local and district contests will be held in North Carolina between October 1 and November 11. It is expected that several thousand students in the state will participate this year.

The Voice of Democracy contest is a script writing and speaking competition. All students in the 10th, 11th and 12th grades are encouraged to enter the local contests. The community winner will be entered in the district competition and the district winner will participate in the state contest, competing for honors and awards with some of the outstanding students in the state.

WCS SPEAKER—Mrs. L. Landruf of Little Rock, Ark., will be guest speaker at the sub-district meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Goldsboro district of the Methodist church at the St. Paul church in Goldsboro next Tuesday, October 11.

Duplin, Sampson Polio Funds Exhausted, Leader Reports

In spite of a million dollar March of Dimes campaign in North Carolina last January, 35 county polio chapters in the state are without funds for aid to polio patients, according to Rex Edison of Chapel Hill, 1956 March of Dimes state chairman.

Counties dependent upon emergency financial support from national headquarters of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis include Duplin and Sampson counties in this section of the state.

"If we need proof, which we don't, that polio is not licked yet, we have only to look at the financial plight of our own county chapters," said Edison. What is true for North Carolina, is true for other states, he pointed out.

"The condition faced by North Carolina and the nation for the next few years makes it imperative that the people everywhere make an all-out effort in the March of Dimes next January," he said, emphasizing that the national need for 1956 is a minimum of $47,600,000.

"While the number of new polio cases in North Carolina is less than in 1954, hundreds of patients, stricken in previous years, are at the present time receiving needed help," said Edison. "Up to September 24, this year, the state's needy chapters had received from Foundation headquarters $24,893.60 in emergency aid. Present requirements indicate that our chapters will need considerably more funds to carry on to the end of this year."

Bill Porter acted as master of ceremonies. The Rev. B. E. Dotson, pastor, gave the invocation and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lane and children gave a brief worship program.

Among visitors were President W. B. Raper and members of the Mount Olive college faculty; Mrs. Darby Fulton, Nashville, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Davis and children, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Cox, the Rev. Horace Hilton, of Wilmington, and Capt. Paul King, of the National Guard unit here.

Mrs. M. M. Lownes and Mrs. Bryce Ficken directed the recreation program, and Mrs. Johnny Walker showed a religious movie.

Duplin Court to Open For Criminal Hearings

A session of Duplin Superior court, for the trial of criminal cases, will begin in Kenansville, October 10, it is revealed. Last week, names of 29 prospective jurors were drawn, and notices served them.

Calypso Baptists Planning Revival

In preparation for a week-long revival effort next week, cottage prayer meetings will be conducted this week by Calypso Baptists.

Tonight the meetings will be held in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Register, and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Turner, beginning at 7:30.

Wednesday evening the congregation will meet at the church during the regular prayer meeting hour.

Friday evening prayer meetings will be held in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Cook and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Guy.

All members of the Calypso Baptist church, and other interested persons, are cordially invited to attend.

Palestine Films to Be Seen at Thunder Swamp

The Rev. Byron A. Jones of Portsmouth, Va., will be at Thunder Swamp P. H. church Friday night October 7 at 7:30 to show films made while he was on a recent visit to Palestine.

Class Officers Named

Officers of the freshman class at North Duplin High school, Calypso, have been elected as follows: J. C. Millard, president; James Albritton, vice-president; Peggy King, secretary, and Harper Pridgen, treasurer.

HONORED — A. L. Tyler, of Rocky Mount, executive vice-president of the 14 Belk-Tyler stores in Eastern N. C., including the one in Mount Olive, was one of six N. C. merchants honored by Gov. Hodges last week in a special luncheon. The merchants were honored for their contribution to retail merchandising in the state.

Staffers for North Duplin Annual Listed

Those students in the North Duplin High school, at Calypso, who will be in charge of the school's annual, have been named by the senior class, as follows:

Editor-in-chief, Ada Margaret Barfield; associate editor, Jonnie Millard; business manager, Ed Lewis, Jr.; typing editor, Rachel Davis; sports editors, Glenn Price and Cecil Daughtry; art editor, Bettie Lou Taylor; circulation manager, Marjorie Pridgen;

Advertising manager, Faye Wiggin; picture editor, Larry Bailey; statistician, Peggy Swinson; historians, Eleanor Bowden and Charles Walker; testator, Rex Best, and prophet, Mary Rose Davis.

These students have already begun work on their annual, and are engaged at present in selling advertising to sponsors.

A man of the world would escape most of the unpleasant experiences if he had to pay for them in advance.

Clifton to Be Installed as Commerce Prexy Tonight

Frank Clifton, newly-elected president of the Mount Olive Chamber of Commerce, and other officers of the organization will be installed at the Chamber's annual banquet tonight (Tuesday) in the elementary school cafeteria, beginning at 7 o'clock.

Leading the guest list will be W. Burkette Raper, president of Mount Olive college, who will speak on the activities and progress of the school.

Besides Clifton, other officers to be installed are Shelton Boyd, vice president; Ray Scarborough, treasurer; and Mrs. Jean Jackson, secretary. The officers were elected at a recent meeting of the board of directors.

Bryce Ficken, retiring president, urges all members and their wives to attend tonight's banquet.

Eight Persons Injured in Two-Car Wreck Near Seven Springs Saturday Afternoon

State Highway Patrolman William Wright, of Mount Olive, has reported investigation of a two-car collision, near Seven Springs, Saturday, in which eight persons were injured. All the injured, he said, were taken to Wayne Memorial hospital, in Goldsboro.

The accident occurred at the intersection of NC 55 and NC 111, between Seven Springs and Mount Olive, about 8 o'clock Saturday evening.

Wright said the mishap occurred when a car driven by Pfc. Richard CERTIFICATE OF APPRECIATION—Leslie S. Thompson of Whiteville (above right), president of the N. C. Press Association, is shown accepting a certificate of appreciation from Dr. Lynwood E. Williams of Kinston, president of the N. C. Tuberculosis Association. Dr. Williams presented the certificate on behalf of the NCTA and TB associations across the state for the outstanding contributions the newspaper industry has made in the field of health.

valued allies on the occasion of National Newspaper Week," Dr. Williams said. He explained that this year was particularly fitting since it is the Golden anniversary of the NCTA, and that newspapers have cooperated in the crusade against tuberculosis each one of those 50 years.

"It is fitting that we pause to pay tribute to one of our most

valued allies on the occasion of National Newspaper Week," Dr. Williams said. He explained that this year was particularly fitting since it is the Golden anniversary of the NCTA, and that newspapers have cooperated in the crusade against tuberculosis each one of those 50 years.

"It is fitting that we pause to pay tribute to one of our most

valued allies on the occasion of National Newspaper Week," Dr. Williams said. He explained that this year was particularly fitting since it is the Golden anniversary of the NCTA, and that newspapers have cooperated in the crusade against tuberculosis each one of those 50 years.

"It is fitting that we pause to pay tribute to one of our most

valued allies on the occasion of National Newspaper Week," Dr. Williams said. He explained that this year was particularly fitting since it is the Golden anniversary of the NCTA, and that newspapers have cooperated in the crusade against tuberculosis each one of those 50 years.

"It is fitting that we pause to pay tribute to one of our most

valued allies on the occasion of National Newspaper Week," Dr. Williams said. He explained that this year was particularly fitting since it is the Golden anniversary of the NCTA, and that newspapers have cooperated in the crusade against tuberculosis each one of those 50 years.

"It is fitting that we pause to pay tribute to one of our most

valued allies on the occasion of National Newspaper Week," Dr. Williams said. He explained that this year was particularly fitting since it is the Golden anniversary of the NCTA, and that newspapers have cooperated in the crusade against tuberculosis each one of those 50 years.

"It is fitting that we pause to pay tribute to one of our most

valued allies on the occasion of National Newspaper Week," Dr. Williams said. He explained that this year was particularly fitting since it is the Golden anniversary of the NCTA, and that newspapers have cooperated in the crusade against tuberculosis each one of those 50 years.

"It is fitting that we pause to pay tribute to one of our most

valued allies on the occasion of National Newspaper Week," Dr. Williams said. He explained that this year was particularly fitting since it is the Golden anniversary of the NCTA, and that newspapers have cooperated in the crusade against tuberculosis each one of those 50 years.

"It is fitting that we pause to pay tribute to one of our most

valued allies on the occasion of National Newspaper Week," Dr. Williams said. He explained that this year was particularly fitting since it is the Golden anniversary of the NCTA, and that newspapers have cooperated in the crusade against tuberculosis each one of those 50 years.

"It is fitting that we pause to pay tribute to one of our most

valued allies on the occasion of National Newspaper Week," Dr. Williams said. He explained that this year was particularly fitting since it is the Golden anniversary of the NCTA, and that newspapers have cooperated in the crusade against tuberculosis each one of those 50 years.

"It is fitting that we pause to pay tribute to one of our most

valued allies on the occasion of National Newspaper Week," Dr. Williams said. He explained that this year was particularly fitting since it is the Golden anniversary of the NCTA, and that newspapers have cooperated in the crusade against tuberculosis each one of those 50 years.

"It is fitting that we pause to pay tribute to one of our most

valued allies on the occasion of National Newspaper Week," Dr. Williams said. He explained that this year was particularly fitting since it is the Golden anniversary of the NCTA, and that newspapers have cooperated in the crusade against tuberculosis each one of those 50 years.

"It is fitting that we pause to pay tribute to one of our most

valued allies on the occasion of National Newspaper Week," Dr. Williams said. He explained that this year was particularly fitting since it is the Golden anniversary of the NCTA, and that newspapers have cooperated in the crusade against tuberculosis each one of those 50 years.

"It is fitting that we pause to pay tribute to one of our most

valued allies on the occasion of National Newspaper Week," Dr. Williams said. He explained that this year was particularly fitting since it is the Golden anniversary of the NCTA, and that newspapers have cooperated in the crusade against tuberculosis each one of those 50 years.

"It is fitting that we pause to pay tribute to one of our most

valued allies on the occasion of National Newspaper Week," Dr. Williams said. He explained that this year was particularly fitting since it is the Golden anniversary of the NCTA, and that newspapers have cooperated in the crusade against tuberculosis each one of those 50 years.

"It is fitting that we pause to pay tribute to one of our most

valued allies on the occasion of National Newspaper Week," Dr. Williams said. He explained that this year was particularly fitting since it is the Golden anniversary of the NCTA, and that newspapers have cooperated in the crusade against tuberculosis each one of those 50 years.

"It is fitting that we pause to pay tribute to one of our most

valued allies on the occasion of National Newspaper Week," Dr. Williams said. He explained that this year was particularly fitting since it is the Golden anniversary of the NCTA, and that newspapers have cooperated in the crusade against tuberculosis each one of those 50 years.

"It is fitting that we pause to pay tribute to one of our most

valued allies on the occasion of National Newspaper Week," Dr. Williams said. He explained that this year was particularly fitting since it is the Golden anniversary of the NCTA, and that newspapers have cooperated in the crusade against tuberculosis each one of those 50 years.

"It is fitting that we pause to pay tribute to one of our most

valued allies on the occasion of National Newspaper Week," Dr. Williams said. He explained that this year was particularly fitting since it is the Golden anniversary of the NCTA, and that newspapers have cooperated in the crusade against tuberculosis each one of those 50 years.

"It is fitting that we pause to pay tribute to one of our most

valued allies on the occasion of National Newspaper Week," Dr. Williams said. He explained that this year was particularly fitting since it is the Golden anniversary of the NCTA, and that newspapers have cooperated in the crusade against tuberculosis each one of those 50 years.

"It is fitting that we pause to pay tribute to one of our most

valued allies on the occasion of National Newspaper Week," Dr. Williams said. He explained that this year was particularly fitting since it is the Golden anniversary of the NCTA, and that newspapers have cooperated in the crusade against tuberculosis each one of those 50 years.

"It is fitting that we pause to pay tribute to one of our most

valued allies on the occasion of National Newspaper Week," Dr. Williams said. He explained that this year was particularly fitting since it is the Golden anniversary of the NCTA, and that newspapers have cooperated in the crusade against tuberculosis each one of those 50 years.

"It is fitting that we pause to pay tribute to one of our most

valued allies on the occasion of National Newspaper Week," Dr. Williams said. He explained that this year was particularly fitting since it is the Golden anniversary of the NCTA, and that newspapers have cooperated in the crusade against tuberculosis each one of those 50 years.

"It is fitting that we pause to pay tribute to one of our most

valued allies on the occasion of National Newspaper Week," Dr. Williams said. He explained that this year was particularly fitting since it is the Golden anniversary of the NCTA, and that newspapers have cooperated in the crusade against tuberculosis each one of those 50 years.

"It is fitting that we pause to pay tribute to one of our most

valued allies on the occasion of National Newspaper Week," Dr. Williams said. He explained that this year was particularly fitting since it is the Golden anniversary of the NCTA, and that newspapers have cooperated in the crusade against tuberculosis each one of those 50 years.

"It is fitting that we pause to pay tribute to one of our most

valued allies on the occasion of National Newspaper Week," Dr. Williams said. He explained that this year was particularly fitting since it is the Golden anniversary of the NCTA, and that newspapers have cooperated in the crusade against tuberculosis each one of those 50 years.

"It is fitting that we pause to pay tribute to one of our most

valued allies on the occasion of National Newspaper Week," Dr. Williams said. He explained that this year was particularly fitting since it is the Golden anniversary of the NCTA, and that newspapers have cooperated in the crusade against tuberculosis each one of those 50 years.