The Confederate Reunion.

Greensboro Daily News.

Fayetteville, June 4.—After a day of unalloyed pleasure spent at Camp Bragg, the North Carolina Confederate veterans ended their annual reunion Thursday night and the old soldiers are leaving for their homes with instituted praise of the treatment they have received here. At a regular convened session held at the officers' club this evening the veterans passed resolutions expressing their warmest thanks for good times given them by Col. W. S. McDiarmid, the camp commandant, and his staff.

The visitors were taken to Camp Bragg yesterday by special train which ran in two sections. The soldiers of the Confederacy were most cordially received by the officers, most of whom were in uniform. The fifth field artillery brigade of Colonel McNair, who shook hands with each of them. The band played "Dixie," and enthusiasm and good feeling ran high. At 12:30 the soldiers who followed Lee and Jackson in northern Virginia messed with the men who followed Black Jack Pershing in France.

At 1:30 mounted and motorized batteries of American 75's and big 155 mm. howitzers were maneuvered, fired and then parked for the interested inspection of the old fellows, who had faced the cannon of a former day. The several service clubs and the hostess house were thrown open to the visitors, while Colonel and Mrs. McNair entertained at the camp commander's headquarters in honor of the former presidents of the Daughters of the Confederacy, the matrons of honor, sponsorists and maids of honor.

A Card of Thanks.

We desire to thank our many friends who were so kind and helpful during our sore bereavement. We had no idea before of the kindness of the people of Raeford until our late experience. W. Barnard and family.

Mrs. John W. Barnard.

After a short period of failing health, Mrs. John W. Barnard of this town died at Highsmith's hospital in Fayetteville at 6 o'clock, a. m., Wednesday, June 2nd, 1920, at the age of 55 years.

Her remains were shipped to Raeford Wednesday evening, and interment was made in Raeford cemetery Thursday, her pastor, Rev. R. G. Kendrick, pastor of the Baptist church conducting the funeral service.

Mrs. Barnard leaves a disconsolate husband, and seven children to mourn their loss. There is one daughter, Miss Katie Barnard, who is training as a nurse in James Memorial Hospital, Wilmington, and six sons, Messrs. X. G. Barnard of Darlington, S. C., W. T. of Pee Dee, S. C., A. F., of Sanford, N. C., R. L., of Fort McPherson, Ga., and J. O., of Charlotte, N. C., and the youngest son, Conrad, of Raeford. The family are all doing well in business, except Robert L., who was badly wounded in a truck collision in France during the war, and who is still being treated by government surgeons at Fort McPherson.

Mrs. Barnard was born and reared in Campbell county Virginia, was there married and moved to this section with her husband about thirty years ago and has since lived here.

To the bereaved family we extend our most heartfelt sympathy in this dark hour of grief.

Special Evangelistic Services at the Baptist Church.

Pastor R. G. Kendrick of the Baptist church of Raeford announces a series of special evangelistic services beginning Wednesday, June 9th at 8 p. m., and closes June 20th. Up to Sunday, June 13th, there will be only one service a day at 8 p. m. From then on to the close of the meeting there will be two services a day. The evening services will at 8 p. m. and the hour for the day service will be announced next Sunday.

The pastor, Rev. R. G. Kendrick, will do the preaching in these services, but will have with him Singer-evangelist W. Furman Betts of Raleigh, who will conduct the service of song. Mr. Betts is expected to arrive in time for the service Wednesday evening. He has conducted the service of song in evangelistic meetings in some of the largest churches in this and other states and the church here is fortunate in securing his services for these meetings announced to begin Wednesday evening.

The members of all the churches of the town and those who are not members of any church are most cordially invited to give these meetings their hearty cooperation.

Mrs. Thomas Entertains.

Mrs. J. C. Thomas entertained at a most elaborate dinner party Tuesday evening at seven o'clock which time she announced the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Maude Upchurch and Mr. Bob Lewis. Covers were laid for ten guests. The wedding will take place June 22.

Those present were Misses Maude and Bennie Lee Upchurch, Hersie Austin, Lillian Blue, Annie McEachern, Flora McNair, Margaret and Flora Belle Currie, Messrs. R. B. Lewis and Gordon Jones.

Miss Hattie Smith spent Sunday with her home people in Little River township.

Miss Ethel Rackley, of King's Business College, Raleigh, spent the week-end at home.

A series of meetings began in the Baptist church yesterday and continues until the 20th.

Good rains which seem to have been general came last Friday and they were badly needed.

Rev. R. G. Kendrick attended a conference on Evangelism in Raleigh, the first of the week.

Miss Ida McLauchlin, who is still at Highsmith's hospital, is doing well, we are glad to hear.

Rev. W. C. Brown returned Monday from Smithfield, where he preached for 10 days. He will fill his appointment in the Presbyterian church next Sunday mornning.

Mrs. Ada Barnard had a letter a few days ago from her people in Virginia bringing the sad intelligence that her brother, Mr. Alvah Sweehey, had been killed in an explosion in a coal mine in Pennsylvania. He was killed the day before her sister, Mrs. John Barnard, died. It is said troubles never come singly, and so it appears.

SPEAKING ABOUT THE CENSUS.

"Megalomania"—a word built up of two Greek words, though the Greeks never heard it—means a passion for what is big. It is a prevalent American disease.

The Constitution requires that there be a census once in ten years to ascertain the proportion in which Representatives shall be assigned to the several states. The people of each state are anxious that the census shall show a large increase of the population, in order that they may keep their representation in Congress or increase it. A laudable reason, perhaps; but population is not the only or the best evidence of the influence of a state in Congress. There are small states whose delegations at Washington outweigh those of other states that are ten times as large. It will be a fine thing when the people of every state try to send better men to Washington rather than to send more men of mediocre ability.

There is rivalry, too, between the cities. What is the advantage or the satisfaction of living in a city of 510,000 population instead of one of 605,000? Every tenth year St. Louis and Boston are in a stew over the order in which they shall stand in the census. It is a question not of greatness but of mere bigness, and bigness carries no advantage, as Whitman wrote:

A great city is that which has the greatest men and women. It is a few rugged hills, it is still the greatest city in the whole world.

The small cities and towns suffer from the same ambition. There are thousands of towns which used to be comfortable and prosperous, full of delightful homes, pleasant society and beautiful scenery, that have been transformed into ugly factory cities, overrun by an unruly alien population, simply because some go-ahead young local politician, afflicted with megalomania, persuaded the people to become "enterprising" and make the town bigger.

The dwellers in those pleasant hamlets where the census reports an increase of 1.15 per cent, or no increase at all are not to be commiserated but congratulated.—The Youth's Companion.

Notice.

All who pay their subscriptions before July 1 get Hoke County Journal for $1.50 a year. After that date everybody pays $2 a year. This is sufficient notice.

D. S. POOLE.

Misses Annie Mae Fuller, Ella Mae and Maude Poole left Tuesday for Nashville, Tenn., to attend summer school.

The 9 months old child, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel A. Conoly of Antioch township died Sunday night of something like croup. It was buried at Antioch Monday afternoon.

The vote for Overman in the primary Saturday for U. S. Senator expresses the sentiment of the Democrats in this State on question of Woman's Suffrage; and if the Republicans, and the women themselves had voted they would have spoken even more emphatically in the negative. Now you see whether we were right when we said the State Democratic Convention did not represent the Democratic Party in this State.

Why Many Don't Save

Saving money, you will find, is not wholly a Dollars-and-Cents matter. This statement may sound strange, but it is true.

Saving money is; first of all, a Brain-and-Backbone matter. And this is just why so many people who make money can't save any of it—they don't think and have little self-control.

Happily, however, there are very few who cannot learn the necessary lessons, if they will.

The time to start is today, and the place—this bank. We'll help by adding 4 per cent, interest, compounded semi-annually.
