Magnificent, for the Dentist
A friend of ours went to a dentist and asked him to take a look at his teeth. The dentist did so and seemed full of admiration.
"What do you think of them?" asked the patient.
"Magnificent! Magnificent!" was all the dentist said.
"Then you don't find anything to do to them?"
"To do to them? Why, there are four to be pulled, six to be filled and a bridge to make," said the dentist.

"Do you believe in writing anonymously?" he asked the hero of the pen.
Scribber looked to see that the door of his study was shut ere he replied in a confidential whisper:
"Well, I've often wished that one of my productions had been anonymous."
"What was that?"
"A letter proposing to Mrs. Scribber," groaned the writer.

COMMISSION TO DIGEST BRIEFS

NO FURTHER HEARINGS ON STATE OWNED STEAMSHIP LINES.

MAY REPORT NEXT JANUARY

Southport and Wilmington Present Supplementary Briefs For Designation as Port.

Raleigh.
After giving Wilmington, Southport and Manteo one final inning with supplemental briefs, the State Water and Steamship Commission retired behind closed doors into executive session to begin to digest the thousands of pages of data that have been collected during the past eight months.
No more delegations will be heard, and little additional research will be undertaken. The commission, according to Chairman R. M. Miller, Jr., has about all that it can digest, and probably more. It has come now to the point in its investigations that it must think of its final report to the Governor and Council of State, and the next several weeks will be given over to that work.

No member of the Commission could foretell what the report is going to be like, nor what recommendations it will make. Mr. Miller said that eight months had been spent in collecting information and that six weeks for digestion must be given before the report will begin to take form. Outlines of the work of annotation of data will be made and various phases of the work given to each member.
Every town touched by water connections has had a proposal to make to the Commission for the establishment of a line of ships, the erection of State owned docks, and rail connections that would necessitate the revisions of the freight tariffs throughout the State. Southport has offered the most impressive brief that has been brought forward in the way of concrete suggestions.
It will probably be January 1, 1924, or later before the final report to the Governor is made.

Foreign Corporation to Pay Taxes.
Foreign stock tax exemption, under the act of the 1923 legislature, applies to individuals but not to corporations, according to a ruling made by Commissioner of Revenue R. A. Doughton, and approved by Assistant Attorney General Frank Nash.
The question as to corporations was raised by the First National bank of Durham, on stock in the Chemical Fibre company, a corporation chartered in Ohio but having mills at Canton, in this state. The ruling affects the bank to the extent of about $1,300 in taxes, and J. F. Glass, treasurer of the Durham corporation, is quoted as having said that he proposes to pay the sum under protest.

Under the old statute, which was superceded by the act of 1923, stock was exempted in corporations owning more than two-thirds of their property in North Carolina and paying all their taxes here.

Divorces Double in Seven Years.
North Carolina averages one divorce for every 16.8 marriages, against one divorce for every thirty-two in 1916, according to the Department of Rural Social Economics of the University of North Carolina. There were 688 divorces granted in North Carolina in 1916, and 1,317, an increase of 100 per cent in divorces, while total marriages increased only 3.5 per cent. The divorce menace is growing at a rapid pace in this state. Except for South Carolina, which grants no divorces, North Carolina made the best showing of all states in 1916.

Take Part in Livestock Meeting.
Members of the animal industry division of the North Carolina State college and the department of agriculture will take a prominent part in the livestock discussions and meetings at the annual convention of the Southern Agricultural Workers association at Birmingham, Ala., January 10, 11 and 12, according to R. S. Curtis, chief of the animal industry division.
Representatives from North Carolina have been called on to make nine talks, according to the convention program. V. W. Lewis, livestock marketing expert, will discuss the co-operative marketing of southern livestock. Professor R. S. Curtis will speak on the standardization in production and marketing of spring lambs for eastern markets. He also will make a report for the council of livestock research, of which he is chairman.

Governor Issues Proclamation.

"North Carolina has been blessed with a year of great prosperity," Governor Morrison writes in his Thanksgiving proclamation. He implores the people, in giving thanks for the many blessings, to particularly remember by acts of generosity and helpfulness the orphan and the weak and the defective of every class. The proclamation reads:

"North Carolina has been blessed with a year of great prosperity in material things. On the farm, in the factory and in every line of business, God has generously rewarded the labors of our people.
"We have been led by God to make a liberal use of our material prosperity for the benefit of the defective and for improved educational opportunities for our children.

"Now, therefore:
"I, Cameron Morrison, governor of North Carolina, following the previous action of the President of the United States, in his proclamation of November 6, 1923, do hereby proclaim and set apart Thursday, November 29, 1923, as

"Thanksgiving day."
"and call upon our people to observe the day by assembling in their respective places of worship and giving thanks to Almighty God for His many mercies and blessings to the people of the United States, and of this state, and pray for Divine guidance in the future. May I implore the people of strength on Thanksgiving day to remember the orphan, and the defective of every class by some act of generosity and helpfulness.
"Done in the city of Raleigh on this the fifteenth day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three, and in the one hundred and forty-eight year of our American independence."

Will Beautify Highways.
For the purpose of beautifying North Carolina highways, so that the territory through which the roads pass may have a pleasing effect upon motorists, a committee of engineers, foresters, and landscape gardeners, drawn from the various state departments has been organized and will work on plans to plant trees, shrubbery, etc., and in other ways appeal to the aesthetic sensibilities of the motorist, according to a statement issued here by Leslie R. Ames, assistant to Frank Page, chairman of the highway commission. Mr. Ames is the chairman of the committee, which will be known as the landscape committee.

"There is a great public interest in the beauty of North Carolina highways," reads the statement in part. "They have become, as it were, the formal entrance to the commonwealth. Through the eyes of the motorists we are being judged. This comment has everywhere stimulated an interest and led to active work in the improvement of surroundings.

"The highway commission's problem is not building roads. This is simple. To create a sentiment of interest that will provide ample funds for the upkeep of these roads is a much more difficult problem.
"The public interest in improving the highways from the aesthetic side is a step in the desired direction. To stimulate and foster this interest a committee has been appointed to serve the public without additional burden to the taxpayers.
"It is impossible at this time to devote the funds of the commission to purely ornamental work. Their problem is to give to North Carolina the greatest mileage of good roads at the least cost possible. This means rigid economy. Unsightly places have been left for lack of funds to obliterate them."

The statement declares that "communities," individuals, and associations are manifesting an interest and willingness to secure funds for the embellishment of roadsides and it is to aid these groups, furnish expert advice, prepare plans, secure planting material of the proper kind at reasonable cost and to plant and care for this material that the committee has been selected.

Certain sections of the roads will be taken into hand at once, according to plans now being formulated, and will be planted. The committee will designate the sections for experimental purposes and endeavor to secure the cooperation and aid of the communities through which the roads pass in financing the project with a view to demonstrating the desirability of landscaping the roadways. Accurate cost figures will be kept and detailed plans made in order that other communities may be able to determine the exact amount of money necessary for the work.
Work which the committee will do in various sections of the state will of course depend upon the aid received from the various communities. Because there is no appropriation for any such purpose it will be necessary to enlist the financial aid of the various cities and towns if the work is to be accomplished.

Attorneys for Dalton had been notified to be present and the mother, sisters and brothers of Dalton were to be on hand for the hearing.

ANOTHER NURSE PRAISES TANLAC

Mrs. Leona Culpepper, 17 Lucile Avenue, who was a trained nurse for fifteen years, is another highly esteemed Atlanta woman whose gratitude and desire to help others prompts her to tell of the wonderful results she derived from the Tanlac treatment.

"I had suffered from nervous indigestion and loss of appetite for four or five years," said Mrs. Culpepper, "and was nearly always nauseated. I had heartburn so bad I could hardly stand it, and became so weak and nervous I could hardly do my housework.

"Reading what Tanlac had done for others I decided to try it, and by the time I finished the first bottle I was feeling so much better that I bought two more. When I had finished the third bottle I was feeling fine and had actually gained sixteen pounds. Tanlac is all that is claimed for it."
