Nunsally-Upchurch

(Thomasville, Ga., News.)
A very pretty home wedding Saturday afternoon was that of Miss May Upchurch of this city and Mr. Talbot Nunsally of Monroe, which took place at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Upchurch on Remington avenue.

Pink and green were the colors used in the artistic decorations for the event. Southern smilax was draped over the windows and festooned across the ceiling of the room where the ceremony was performed, forming an effective background for the bride and groom. The bride wore a lovely trailing pink gown. The smilax was also used in the hall as a background for many beautiful pink roses and was twined around the stair rails, its graceful festoons framing the bride as she came down the aisle before the bridal party entered Miss Bennie Lee Upchurch of Raeford, N. C., sang very charmingly "Until." She was accompanied by Miss Frances Kelly on the violin and Miss Nell Pringle on the piano.

Miss Kelly played "The Rose Tree" and "The Violet."
The bride's party entered to the music of Lehengrin Wedding March played by Miss Pringle and Miss Kelly.

The bridesmaids of honor were Mrs. Johnson of Raeford, N. C., and Mrs. Loyd Faye of this city. The bridesmaids were gowned in blue and gold cut velvet with hat, slippers and other accessories to match. Mrs. Faye wore old pink cut velvet and silver, with hat, slippers and other accessories to match.

Miss Ray Lindsey, bridesmaid, wore old pink cut velvet with gold trimmings with hat of brown and with slipper to match. The maid of honor, Miss Rosalie Upchurch, was gowned in blue and gold georgette with silver shoes and slippers and other accessories to match. Both the maid of honor and bridesmaids carried pink roses.

Little Joe Upchurch was ring bearer, and wore a sailor suit of white satin, carrying the ring in a white lilly.
The bride entered with her father, Mr. W. J. Upchurch, and was met by the groom with his best man, Julian Roddenbery, of Raeford. The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. H. Freeman of the Methodist church.

The bride was beautifully gowned in gold cut cloth over pencil blue satin, with hat of blue and gold and other accessories to correspond. Her flowers were bride's roses and lilies of the valley.
Miss Bennie Lee Upchurch, of Raeford, N. C., wore a pretty gown of old rose cut velvet trimmed in georgette and carried pink flowers.

After the ceremony refreshments were served consisting of brick ice cream with pink bell center, angel food cake with orange blossoms in icing and white and pink mints. Punch was served by Mrs. W. T. McLean and Miss Ella Lindsey. Miss Hattie Brandon, Mrs. Bill Thomas and Mrs. Staley Upchurch assisted in serving. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Upchurch left for a short visit for which they will be at home in Monroe.

Sheriff N. A. Watson has just had patented a device for filling graves, that will fill a grave at once.

SHORT NEWS ITEMS.

There are a few wheat crops being sown we notice.

Prices of tobacco at Aberdeen have been very satisfactory, we are told.

The slump in the price of cotton has slowed down business perceptibly.

By the first of October Scotland county had ginned 16,700 bales of cotton.

We have been told that Evangelist Gaddy goes to Lumber Bridge from here.

Mrs. Lizzie Griffin of Greenville was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Starr McMillan last week.

Quite a number of Hoke county citizens are attending the Cape Fear Fair in Fayetteville this week.

W. B. Cole is now clear so far as the law is concerned, but from this time on, there will be little enjoyment for him.

We meant to tell you that Mr. Charley McInnis got his arm broke cranking his Ford last week, and we left out the broke.

The statement of the condition of the Bank of Raeford published last week shows a healthy financial condition of this town and section.

The Carthage American Legion members held an indignation meeting last week after they heard the verdict of the jury in the Cole case.

Miss Belle Graham has returned to Coats to teach for her fourth successive year. If she was not a good teacher, they would not employ her for so long.

The Raeford high school football team left Friday for Wilmington, where they played the Wilmingtonians Saturday afternoon. They played to a scoreless tie 0 to 0.

Walter D. Siler of Pittsboro has been appointed an emergency judge by Governor Wilton McLean. Our Hoke county people remember Mr. Siler as their attorney in 1911.

Mrs. Julia Williford bought the Wakulla brick school house seven rooms and two acres of land that joins her farm a few days ago for $800. That house to build a few years ago $6,500.

These farmers paid a "membership fee" of $22 each, which was supposed to entitle them to "privileges of buying merchandise and agricultural supplies at a small margin over cost for a period of five years."

At the time the "memberships" were purchased, most of the victims also put up cash for varying quantities of merchandise, which the sharpers promised to ship promptly.

No merchandise was ever delivered, so the farmers were out the entire amounts they paid. The swindlers disappeared and at last reports there seemed to be no probability that they would be apprehended.

So long as people prefer to deal with tramp salesmen and mail order concerns, instead of patronizing home merchants whom they know to be honest and reliable, such things are bound to happen.

But no argument or warning appears to have any effect upon those who labor under the delusion that they can do better by trading away from home. It is even doubtful whether these swindled Lancaster county farmers will profit by their experience for any length of time.

They will probably fall for the next glib faker or gaudy mail order catalogue that comes along.

Engagement of Miss Bennie Lee Upchurch and Mr. Allen McGhee Announced.

All (Communicated) Beautiful in every detail was the buffet supper given by Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Lewis, Jr., at their attractive home Saturday evening, October 17th. The large living room was most attractively decorated in gorgeous Fall Flowers, yellows and reds being the colors used. Tall vases of red and yellow snapdragons and high bowls of red dahlias placed on tables and mantels made a pretty scene indeed.

A delicious hot supper in four courses was served at the small tables where places were arranged for sixteen. At the conclusion of the first two courses the dining room doors were thrown open, revealing a most attractive scene. The room was softly lighted with yellow tapers and on the center of the table there stood a replica of a perfect home in Dutch Colonial style. This lovely home was set against a background of long leaf pine and blooming plants, and shrubbery adorned the front. Crossing the threshold of this pretty home was a groom leading his bride by the hand. This have the secret away and Mrs. Lewis then announced the engagement and date of the approaching marriage of her son, Miss Bennie Lee Upchurch to Mr. Allen McGhee, formerly of Goldsboro, but now of Winston-Salem. The marriage date announced was Nov. 11th.

After this announcement an enormous bride's cake adorned with bride's roses was brought in and cut. Mr. Lewis himself, as the bride's father, presided at the time and Miss Mary Blue the ring. Dainty ices and cake followed with mints were then served, after which the tables were cleared and bridge was played until a late hour.

Miss Upchurch is one of Raeford's best loved girls. She is also well loved and popular throughout the state. This party is the beginning of a long line of social activities in her honor.

Those invited to this small but delightful affair were members of Miss Upchurch's bridge club and a few close friends and relatives. Those present were: Miss Bennie Lee Upchurch, Mr. Allen McGhee, Miss Mary Blue, Mr. Tommie Upchurch, Miss Anna McDonald, Miss Marguerite Cameron, Miss Margaret Currie, Miss Erma Nisbet, Miss Dixie Reaves, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Green, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Upchurch, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dickson, Mr. Herbert McKeithan, Dr. K. B. Geddie, and Mrs. H. A. Cameron.

The Agricultural Department advises that cotton stalks be cut and the roots plowed up to prevent boll weevil sustenance. Perish them to death, if you can.

Dr. L. B. McBrayer, managing director of the North Carolina Tuberculosis Association, has been elected president of the Southern association. This distinction came to him at the meeting in Memphis the past week. He succeeds a Mississippi doctor. Thus the Southern associated doctors have given to Dr. McBrayer the same sort of endorsement as a tuberculosis authority that the medical profession of the State has persisted in giving him.—The Charlotte Observer.
