The North Carolina Egg Mash for Laying Production

The North Carolina Egg Mash for Egg Production, by Dr. B. F. Kaup, Poultry Husbandman, State College, is as follows:

35 pounds corn meal,
20 pounds wheat middling,
20 pounds ground oats,
20 pounds fish meat or meat scrap,
4 pounds bone meal or ground lime stone,
1 pound table salt,
100 pounds total, mixed thoroughly and fed dry, keeping constantly before hens so that they may eat what they wish.

North Carolina Grain Mixture for Laying Hens.

50 pounds cracked corn (yellow corn preferred),
30 pounds oats (heavy oats preferred),
20 pounds wheat,

100 pounds total, fed at rate of pint to every 12 hens, morning and night, in litter on floor of henhouse or in a litter pen poultry yard, exercise being necessary for laying hens, and grain fed in this way causes hens to scratch and get the necessary exercise. There is no danger of a hen eating too much laying mash, but there is danger of her not getting enough. A laying hen should consume from 1 to 2 ounces of mash each day.

Keep plenty of clean, pure water before hens at all times. The egg is 65 percent water and a shortage of water, if only for an hour will interfere with egg development.

Green feed is also necessary for heavy production, and a patch of rye, oats and rape mixed and sown for winter grazing should be sown in early fall.

Your County Agent is now able to supply fish meal at cost to all of those who care to use it for making the above laying mash.

County Agent.

Hoke County Cotton.

There were 11,558 bales of cotton ginned in Hoke county from the crop of 1926 prior to October 18th, 1926, as compared with 13,619 bales ginned to October 18th, 1925.

Crop Control By Pool.

The Observer has made references to the excellent working of the pooling system by Canadian wheat farmers, later reports from which indicate a continued growth in results. Information from Winnipeg carries details which may prove of profit to farmers interested in the cooperative marketing movement in North Carolina, for the Canadian wheat pool represents cooperative marketing in its most effective shape. It is stated that membership in the Canadian Wheat Pool now totals 131,458 actual farmers in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, controlling nearly 15,000,000 acres sown to wheat. The pool now owns 638 line elevators with an approximate total capacity of 20,000,000 bushels. It also has six terminal elevators at Fort William and one at Buffalo, N. Y., with a combined capacity of about 20,000,000 bushels. Though only organized three years ago, the Canadian Wheat Pool is now the largest farmers' co-operative agency in the world. The Pool sells its wheat through a Central Selling Agency, which has agents in 51 ports over the world.—Charlotte Observer.

Music Department Meets.

On Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lewis, Mesdames Lewis, Luke Bethune and Lee Maultsby were hostesses to the Music Dept. of the Woman's Club.

The Life and some of the works of Bellini were studied. Miss Dixie Reaves read an interesting paper prepared by Mrs. J. A. McGoogan on Bellini's Life. Quartettes: "The Hunter's Horn," from La Sonnambula and "Often Dearest" from I Puritani was sung by Mesdames Lewis, Poole, Hoyle and Miss Sadie Culbreth. Miss Jean Boyles played in a beautiful manner "Fantasia Brilliant" from I Puritani.

At the close of the program the hostesses served creamed chicken in patties, hot rolls, tomato salad, coffee and mints.

Arthur Newcomb and Roy Pushee are starting to build what promises to be one of the most interesting building jobs this winter in Southern Pines. It is to be a stone house, using Moore County stone, and the location is on Weymouth Heights, adjoining the home of Mr. Pushee, close by the hand some house built by Mrs. Dull and Mrs. John Boyd. The new house will front on Connecticut avenue, which is the Raeford road out to Fort Bragg and will overlook the whole valley and fort. It will stand across the road from the Jenkins home.

Dr. Walter G. McLeod and Mrs. McLeod have arrived in town and are occupying their cottage on Connecticut avenue.

Dr. and Mrs. McLeod were married on October 14th at San Antonio, Texas, the home of the bride. Dr. McLeod is the nephew of Dr. A. H. McLeod, the well known physician of Aberdeen and belongs to one of the prominent old families of the state—Sandhill Citizen

Scotland County News.

Mr. J. R. Malcolm, well known citizen of Laurel Hill and a former member of the Charlotte police force, died suddenly on Friday evening, October 22, at about 8 o'clock. It is said that Mr. Malcolm was going down town to answer a long distance telephone call. He got into his car in the yard at his home, but didn't get any farther. Members of his family and neighbors found him a few minutes later in an unconscious condition, and he was carried into the house, but death came in just a few minutes.

A wedding of unusual charm and beauty was that of Miss Katherine McKinnon, fourth and youngest daughter of Mr. Calvin McKinnon, and William Haywood Cooper, Jr., only son of Mr. and Mrs. William Haywood Cooper, all of this city. The marriage took place in the McKinnon home on Church Street in one end of which a back ground of palms and ferns made beautiful by the many lights of Cathedral tapers held in silver candelabra, marked the place where they plighted their troth. The suite in the lower floor of the home was exquisitely decorated for the occasion by Miss Mary McKinnon, who is a skillful artist in this line. Rev. Carl B. Craig of the Presbyterian Church performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. T. G. Vickers of the Methodist Church.—Laurinburg Exchange.

Great Day at Davidson.

Davidson, N. C., Oct. 27.—The athletic officials of Davidson College are already making plans to take care of the tremendous crowd that will flock to Davidson November 13, Homecoming Day, to see the University of North Carolina and the Wildcats on the gridiron. Many alumni of the institution are expected to return for the entire program of events that day, while thousands are expected here in the afternoon. The largest crowd in the history of Davidson is expected here that day.

Plans have been completed to entertain the alumni who are returning, and the program of events made out. Heretofore graduates of Davidson, and men who had spent a few years here, have been returning solely for the coming, but indications are that numbers of them will arrive early to be present at the other exercises.

The date that Davidson plays the Carolina Tar Heels has generally been referred to as the day of the Carolina game, while many alumni at the game in Charlotte last Saturday were heard to remark that they were coming to Davidson "Homecoming Day," which is expected to be more significant than ever before. Full announcement of the program will be made soon.

District C. E. Meeting.

Christian Endeavors of the Southeastern District will convene in Mt. Olive for their annual session on the 5th, 6th, and 7th of November. Plans are being completed for an especially good meeting. A large number of delegates to be present.

Mrs. L. J. Simmons of Mt. Olive has charge of the registrations, and it is urged that a particular effort be made to have the Presidents and Secretaries attend.

The schedule for the entire three days has not been announced definitely, but there will be morning, afternoon, and evening meetings. Assuring the success of the convention will be: Rev. Chandler of Monroe, N. C., President of the N. C. U. E. Union; Rev. E. B. Quirk, of Atlanta, Ga.; Rev. S. K. Phillips, of Fayetteville, N. C.; and Rev. W. Arnette Gamble, formerly of Richmond, Va.

On Saturday evening, the outstanding social feature will be held. This is the fellowship banquet which starts at 6 o'clock and at which all are present to gether for a comradely time.

It is hoped that every society in the District will be represented and that each will receive a large share of the profit and inspiration fostered by the convention.

Brown-Fuller.

A ceremony characterized by quiet simplicity and beauty, Miss Annie Mae Fuller became the bride of Rev. D. W. Brown, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Fuller, on Wednesday, October 27th, at eight o'clock in the evening. Only the immediate families were present.

The bride and groom entered the living room together and stood in the music room where they were united in marriage by Rev. N. C. Yearby, the bride's pastor. The ring ceremony was held.

The bride's costume was of ecru and beige crepe Romaine with harmonizing accessories. She wore a corsage of sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley.

The bride is one of Raeford's most attractive young women. Her charming personality has won for her a host of friends. She was educated at N. C. C. W. and Cox College and Conservatory, Atlanta, Ga., and special courses at Peabody, Nashville and Columbia University.

For the past three years Miss Fuller has been a successful teacher in the Gastonia City Schools.

Mr. Brown is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Brown of Mocksville, N. C. He was educated at Weaver College and Emory University. In the summer of 1925 he went abroad travelling in Syria, Palestine, Egypt and Europe.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom left for a trip to Washington, D. C. The following announcements have been issued:

Mr. and Mrs. Allen J. Fuller of Raeford, N. C., announce the birth of their daughter, Annie Mae.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Walter Brown, of Weaverville, North Carolina, announce the birth of their son, on Wednesday, the twenty-seventh of November, nineteen hundred and twenty-six.

Cotton Gin Burns.

The Raeford Gin Company ginnery was discovered to be on fire last Thursday night at nine o'clock. The fire company responded to the alarm promptly, and soon a good stream of water was playing on the flames, and with the help of the new force pump, the fire yielded to the extinguisher readily. It was a good piece of work promptly done.

The loss was pretty heavy, but there was at least partially covered by insurance; and the operation of the plant had to cease for several days. However, repairs have been made, and ginning will start up within a week's time.

The loss is estimated at around $7,000.

Fine Farm Home Destroyed.

The splendid farm home of Mr. M. A. Chisholm went up in smoke at about five o'clock Sunday morning. The family were spending the week end with relatives in Moore county, and no one was in the house at the time. The fire was discovered by colored men on the place, and several of the neighbors arrived on the scene, but they could do but little toward saving. It was clearly the work of an incendiary, as the mules in the barn had been turned out and the gate latched. The barn with its contents, corn, forage, farming implements, was well under way of destruction when the fire was first discovered, and the dwelling was aflame inside when help arrived. There were explosions within the dwelling soon after the fire was discovered.

The loss is very heavy, and hard to estimate, but it approximates $20,000, partially covered by insurance.

Mr. Chisholm will rebuild at the earliest possible time, and although hard hit, he shows good pluck.

WARNING!

This is to notify all persons that riding on the fire trucks is against the Fire Ordinances and anyone caught riding on them without proper permission is subject to arrest and a fine of ten dollars. From now on this law will be carried out. Another fault that was noticed at the Raeford Gin fire was that several folks grabbed some of the hose off the truck at the wrong place and had the wrong end, thereby causing the fire department to lose three or four minutes in getting water. While we appreciate the help of the people who are not members, we feel that we have enough members who are trained to handle an ordinary fire. In time of need we will call on outsiders to help us. We trust that the public will do all they can to help us at fires by obeying the Fire Ordinances and giving the right of way in all places.
