Citizens Training Camps.

This summer there will be 85,000 young men all over the United States as the guests of Uncle Sam for one month at the Citizens Military Training Camps from June 15th to July 14th. The purpose of these camps are unquestioned and their benefit to young Americans is obvious. Even our industrial organizations are awakening to the fact that these graduate useful and alert young men are beginning to select them for places of responsibility.

These camps are quite different from the grim, bursting and nerve racking war camps held in Europe. The young men here are trained for better citizenship, and peace; they are given a better and bigger outlook on life; they are helped to physical health, mental vigor and moral excellence; social understanding and democratic feeling are developed; love and reverence for our flag and country are the natural outcome of the training.

Theodore Roosevelt said: "The tent where boys sleep side by side will rank next to the public school among the great agents of Democracy." President Coolidge, whose own son has attended the last two camps, call these camps: "An essential in the plan of National Security and essentially a school in Citizenship." General Pershing has said of camps: "The men grow more aggressive, more confident; they get the spirit of leadership and initiative, and in every way become better able to meet the problems of everyday life.

There is no better place for the young men of today to spend a pleasant and profitable summer vacation than at a Citizen's Military Training Camp.

One of the significant transactions this week at Southern Pines is the sale by Roy Pushee of the acres on Weymouth Heights to George W. Robertson, of Danville, Virginia, at the rate of $3,000 an acre. — The Vass Pilot.

Herbert McKelthan thinks he should break into this poultry association somewhere. He set five hens on 75 eggs, and has only 17 hiddles.

$628 worth of poultry was shipped from Raeford last Thursday. $3,926 worth of poultry has been shipped from Raeford since Jan. 1st.

Should It Be Allowed?

Seeing so many attempts on the part of writers, some of whom are so called ministers of the Gospel, to camouflage and befog the issue, denouncing it as an attempt to force the teaching of theology in our schools and colleges, while knowing that there is nothing whatever pertaining to the teaching of theology in legislation that has been proposed, but merely an effort to prohibit that part of evolution which teaches that the human evolve from a lower order of creation, and on back to the least species of life.

I cannot see how anyone can accept this theory and the Bible at the same time. You must reject one or the other. All Bible believers accept Moses as one of the greatest inspired writers. It seems to me that the most confirmed atheist would have to admit that he was an inspired man, or he never could have written the code of laws that he did. Where is the man today, aside from the influence of the Bible, after 3,500 years of evolving, could give a code of laws that would in any way compare with it?

If then, he was inspired in giving the law, would he have presumed to give an account of man's origin except by inspiration? I believe Moses' account of the children of God, and that He breathed into them the living spirit. Perhaps this detailed monkey crowd who seem to be so numerous, were the children of men, who came through the process of evolution. I do not presume to say. But I do claim that the children of God did not and strenuously object to paying taxes to support schools where such is taught our children.

If I believed such, my faith in the Old Testament would be gone, and with it the New; for the Old Testament is that which testifies and confirms that Jesus is the Christ. Jesus said that the children of this generation are wiser than the children of light. It certainly seems so in this case, when they are forcing the children of light to pay for the teaching of a theory that is designed to undermine the faith of their children in the Bible.

I am aware of the fact, that the Bible itself is in no danger of being undermined, for it will stand against all attacks of the devil, but faith of the children is not as impregnable as the Bible.

The 18th amendment is here to stay, but look at the good men who are being slain every day by the attacks of the devil against it. And there is no way of estimating the loss in human souls by the loss of one child's faith in their father's Bible being undermined.

May the spiritual eyes of the legislators be opened that they may see the hosts that are pro and con on this measure, and understand the motive behind these hosts. I would remind you of the two leading spirits in the Scopes trial in Tennessee, that of Bryan and Darrow. With which are you allied with? With which of the two would you prefer to stand before the final Judge?

A Well Murder Case.

The cruel murder of Sheriff James E. Turner of Lee county by Bud Davis, Tom McAvanee, Macon Harrison and Parker Robins last January, the trial of whom before Judge N. A. Sinclair in Sanford last week, revealed one of the most revolting and heinous crimes ever committed in this state.

The men were blockaders and were running a still, which had been reported to the sheriff of Lee, who, with officers of Chat ham county, (the still was located in Chatham, just over the line) had planned a joint raid. The story told by eyewitnesses, officers, who were not killed, was convincing. The lawlessness of these blockaders, their cruel depravity is bloodcurdling. From the evidence you glean that men of that type have determined to make liquor if they have to kill out all the officers. It shows a pure spirit of anarchy.

Scotland County News.

James Thompson, white, aged 60 years, died at his home near Old Hundred Sunday afternoon, April 3, as a result, it is alleged, of blows on the head with an axe in the hands of Willie Allen, a near neighbor. Coroner L. P. Gibson conducted an inquest at the Thompson home Sunday afternoon following his death and the only direct evidence was the statement of Thompson's wife that her cousin, Willie Allen, had come to their home on Sunday morning, March 27, to get some water. That she, Willie Allen, armed herself with an Tragic Death at Flying Field.

Fayetteville, N. C., Apr. 8. — Lieut. Herbert W. Gambia, popular young officer of the 22nd aero squadron at Pope field, died late yesterday afternoon from injuries sustained when his plain fell 100 feet. Staff Sergeant Edward C. Hillenbrand, the other occupant of the ill-fated flying machine suffered a fracture of the skull and cuts and bruises on the legs. His condition was reported very satisfactory this morning.

Lieut. Gambia and Sergeant Hillenbrand were making flights with a J. N. S. training plane at the time the deplorable accident occurred. After a height of about 100 feet had been reached the engine apparently started missing, according to brother officers, and Lieutenant Gambia immediately "nosed" the machine, but the air was very "bumpy" or gusty and it is thought that a gust of wind caught the plane and prevented it from leveling out before reaching the ground.

WANTED

As many boys as will in Hoke county, between the ages of 10 and 18, to feed at home from 1 to 12 pigs. These pigs are to be fed a BALANCED RATION known by the swine growers throughout North Carolina as the W. W. Sharp Ration. The pigs to be fed should be Jan., Feb., March or April farrowed. The feeding period to last from June 1st to Sept. 15th. A feed of feeding period at least one carload to be sold.

And as a reward for work well done, a trip by auto from Raeford to Richmond will be taken by those boys who finish the feeding schedule, this trip to be made for the purpose of seeing their hogs marketed, and also to inspect the slaughter and packing houses around Richmond.

Each member will be required to keep records on amount of feeds consumed by his pigs and the cost of these feeds, also the weight of the pigs at the time feeding is begun, and the final weight when feeding is finished.

The feeding schedule is as follows: Feed for one pig for 5 weeks, 10 lbs. fish meal; 10 lbs. corn meal; 20 lbs. wheat shorts; 40 lbs. grain corn. The milled feeds, or pulverized feed, to be thoroughly mixed and kept dry until fed, and fed as a wet mash morning and night at the rate of a half pound for the first three weeks, and two thirds of a pound for the latter two weeks. The grain corn to fed separately and dry and in the same proportion as the milled feeds.

The above schedule is for the first 5 weeks of the feeding period only. A second feeding schedule will be furnished later to those who may take advantage of this opportunity to learn how to properly feed young pigs.

This is a wonderful opportunity for boys to learn how to feed a balanced ration and also to learn what constitutes a balanced ration for livestock.

It is hoped that fathers and mothers will encourage their boys in this work. This method of feeding young hogs is not an experiment but one that is being used by some growers over North Carolina and has proven a success.

A card to the county agent giving name and address with the number of pigs to be fed is all that is necessary. The county agent will furnish a balanced ration for livestock.

Girls of high school age will be gladly accepted. Fathers and mothers not rejected. L. E. BRANDON, County Agent.
