You may think you can buy your supplies cheaper than you can produce them, but you fail to calculate the cost of putting the stuff where you can use it—the transportation counts, more you calculate, and making your own supply means independence and independence is worthwhile.

Sensible people should arise and put a stop to such dishonest contests in sports. They could stop it by withholding patronage. They can't operate without money, and the people furnish that. This way of teams in the larger towns remaining intact for five or more years, composed of great big men playing against teams a good deal younger and less experienced also, is poor sport. We may be prejudiced, because all our boys leave high school by then they are eighteen.

The people are demanding lower taxes. If the editor of The Journal can have his way, taxes will be reduced. Judges salaries should be put back where they were before in 1927. That emergency judge bill should be repealed. We do not need so many judges. There are a large number of commissions that we do not need. They get a good sum of money. There are about twice as many employees as are necessary. Taken altogether, some four millions dollars, in taxes should be cut off the state's expenses. Then every department of the state government costs too much. Salaries should be reduced.

You can see when your subscription to The Journal expires in figures below your name. Pay up, if you are in arrears, please.

There are those who say roads do not cost anything. They say the benefits of the good roads more than offset the building cost which is true, but you get the benefit in exhilaration instead of a cash dividend on the investment.

Mrs. Ellen Hammond of Columbus county forged a check for $500 a few days ago, but when the bank upon which it was drawn found it was a forgery, she refunded the money and has been promised immunity from indictment.

Prof. Carr and Miss Bowman, who are employed by the Synod of North Carolina, are conducting Teachers' Training Classes in the Presbyterian church this week. They are exceptionally fine teachers, and all who attend are delighted with their work.

Those responsible for it justify any and all expenses placed upon the government. There will be a great effort made in the next legislature to establish a State Constabulary to police the State highway system. Those favoring this claim the law will be self supporting, that is the officers' fees will pay their salaries, but the people have heard the same argument for other laws and question such logic, for they see greater and greater demands being made upon their resources with every movement made. We question the wisdom of a State Constabulary, which means an army of State employees.

Judge Paul Dickson was sworn in Monday and held his first term of court Tuesday morning, and sentenced Johnnie Johnson and Dan Harrington to the Wayne county roads six months each for stealing cotton seed from the Edinburg Gin Co. There were a few other cases disposed of.

The Disc Harrow
for Seed Bed Preparation

No other farm tool equals the disc harrow for quick and efficient seed bed preparation. Oliver-built disc harrows will do the very best possible job of discing and are made for many years of service.

This harrow is built to stand hard usage with one-piece bearing standards and bearings equipped with hard maple, oil soaked bushings.

Attaching the draw bars above the disc bearings gives a natural downward pull on the cutting edges of the discs which are pulled into the ground rather than pushed in by extra weight. Oliver Disc Harrows Dig.

When you come to town, remember to stop in and look at the Oliver harrow.

It is at our store.
