Miss Josephine Hall, Home Demonstration Agent, is doing, and has done, some good work in encouraging rural electrification. Several communities are soon to have lights and power available.

A young man, graduate of State College. asked me in 1925 if I would vote for a bill to allow the State to control all power and light companies. I told him I would. This is what I thought was fair to the present chartered companies: Allow the present power and light companies to manufacture at wholesale rate, and allow the State, counties and towns to retail electricity to the people of their towns, counties and the State institutions at about the rate people are now paying.

And, where all the rural people using electricity as they should be, it would not be necessary to levy any taxes, for I believe sufficient funds for all purposes would be collected from this article alone to defray all governmental, expenses, and manufacturers would make as much as they are now making from this source.

The City of Fayetteville has a contract buying electric current at wholesale, and retailing this out to its population, making enough to pay a good portion of the city's expenses. The wholesaler is saved trouble and expense of collecting from the retailers, and the city takes care of the upkeep of the equipment.

Were all electric lines put underground, it would make for safety of the population of the towns and cities and in the long run, upkeep would be less, for the lines would not blow down, not break so frequently.

I do not believe it wise to spend very much on State highways. County roads need more attention. Before many years a man can step into a little airship that sits in his front yard, which will rise up like a bird, fly over town and park in front of his place of business. Taxying is a draw back now.

I am glad to hear of rural electrification in Hoke. Electric lights are so much more satisfactory than oil lamps, and safer. Then running water in every home would not be far away after electricity arrives on the premises. And, corn-shellers, feed-cutters, threshers, feed and corn mills. Electricity is the most satisknown.

So, if pupils can make the grades in eight months, why have a nine months term? There are some who will be repeaters, no matter how long the term.

The Williamsport (Pa.) Grays, baseballers, who are to train here this spring, think they had as good climate for baseball in Pennsylvania as they found here; however, this is quite unusual for this time of the year here.

Some writer said there is as much heat in one place as another, but that is not true. There is more heat and more cold some years than other years. Some years there is little blustry weather, and few storms.

Little Jimmie was made to rock the cradle against his will, and he said: "Mamma, if the Lord has any more babies to give away, don't take 'em.

March 31 week of spring-like weather has mitted Robeson County, N. C. ers to put all hands to work and in every field can be seen plows busy preparing the land for planting. A rather large decrease in tobacco acreage has not discouraged the growers-in fact only 116 protests on tobacco allotments were filed with the regulation board-this is considered a record for the state. Robeson farmers were among the first to become reconciled with the recent AAA rulings, although many of them were cut considerably more than the 20 per cent which was general over the country. Many who formally depended entirely on tobacco and cotton will be greatly diversified in their farming operations for 1940. While tobacco plants are much later than last year, they appear to be plentiful. Enough yardage was sown to transplant five times the acreage allotted to Robeson county and farmers are carefully nursing them along to insure strong, vigorous plants. A quality and not quantity crop is foremost in their minds. Canning factories have sprung up at Rowland and Fairmont and one will be ready at Lumberton if needed. Acre after acre of tomatoes, beans, potatoes, and the like will be contracted for by planting time. One of the most modern pasteurizing plants in the state was opened at Lumberton this week - providing means of a weekly income for the farmers throughout the country. Swine and cattle breeding is on the increase. Two of the state's largest breeders of hogs are located at Lumberton and St. Pauls, D. T. Lambeth's Berkshires and the Ballance Farm's Poland Chinas have taken prizes over the entire southern states. The entire population accepted the drastic change from the "old way of living" With good graces, and Robeson county, as always, is expected to maintain her position among the state's leading agriculture counties.

WAXING Good results have been obtained from waxing all types of root vege-tables except passive reports the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Many of you remember snows on March 28th, and April 4th, 1915. When the April 4th snow came, all the telephone and electric wires in town were blown down by the storm. The Raeford Power and Manufacturing Co. line, poles, wires and all, lay flat on the ground that Saturday morning. The snow was about four inches deep, and the wind blew it against the pines on the grammar school grounds, and that was a pretty sight that morning, April 5th, when a bright, clear sunshine glistened on that snow telescoping those pines.

I got out my first "Scotch Scion" at Red Springs on March 29th, 1894. and a thundercloud came late that afternoon; the weather turned very cold, and for three days the ground was hard frozen. That was colder weather than we had Monday morning of this week. I read that 22 Mexicans killed each other in a "cemetery fight" last Friday, in Vera Cruz State, Mexico. What would a bunch like that do were they to start fighting at a baseball game?
