

State College Answers Timely Farm Questions

Question—How many different kinds of vegetables can be grown in North Carolina?

Answer—According to H. R. Niswonger, Extension horticulturist, it is not a difficult task to grow as many as 20 different kinds of vegetables during some period of the year in North Carolina, and have at least three or more different kinds growing each month in the garden for at least eight months of the year. He suggests that farmers write for Extension Circular No. 122, "The Farm and Home Garden Manual." It is free upon request to the Agricultural Editor, N. C. State College, Raleigh, N. C.

Question—What publications are available on poultry production?

Answer—The State College Extension Service has published the following poultry bulletins, any and all of which are available free upon request to the Agricultural Editor, N. C. State College, Raleigh: Circular No. 154, "Common Diseases of Poultry;" Circular No. 155, "Artificial Incubation and Brooding of Chickens;" Circular No. 156 "How to Cull Poultry Flocks;" Circular No. 158, "Feeding for Egg Production;" Circular No. 160; "Parasites of Poultry;" Circular No. 239; "Grazing Crops for Poultry;" Circular No. 244, "Poultry Breeding as a Means of Flock Improvement;" Circular No. 245, "Feed Formulas for Poultry;" and Circular No. 249, "Incubation."

Question—When may dairy animals be bred?

Answer—The growth and development of the individual animal will determine the proper time to breed, says John A. Arey, Extension dairy specialist. If the heifer has been well developed; the following breeding

Motorist Urged To Use Care Over July 4th

With North Carolina already well on its way toward the worst traffic accident record in its history, the Fourth of July week end this year looms as a potentially murderous three-day period on the streets and highways of this state, the Highway Safety Division warned this week.

Ronald Hocutt, director of the division, pointed out that the celebration of Independence Day always brings about abnormal traffic conditions which result in many fatal accidents. Six persons were killed in this state last July 4.

"This year, however, we may expect a heavier traffic toll than usual because of the fact that the Fourth falls on a Friday, and thousands of people will take advantage of the long week end holiday to make motor trips," he said. "Then, too, the general traffic situation is much more acute this year. Already traffic deaths in North Carolina are running around 50 percent above last year. This, together with the Fourth of July celebration and vacation travel, threatens to bring the greatest July traffic death toll in the history of the motor vehicle."

The safety director pessimistically stated that he fears a toll of 15 to 20 deaths from traffic accidents in this state during Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 4-5-6.

"Think of it," he continued, "15 to 20 of the worst tragedies that can befall us threaten to mar a joyous holiday—unless every person who drives makes it a personal and constant responsibility not to have an accident and not to cause others to have one."

"This shameful situation need not be!" he declared. "Human actions—actions that we can control—are basic cause of nearly all our fatal accidents. I appeal to the motorists of this state to exercise a rigid control over these actions—thoughtlessness, carelessness, and recklessness—not only during the week end of the Fourth but throughout the remainder of the year."

PARITY

A U. S. Senate resolution calling for Congressional investigation of the federal parity price system is aimed to find a more favorable yardstick for farm prices.

Farmers Still Have Equity In Stored Loan Cotton

Farmers who stored cotton under government loan in 1938, 1939 or 1940 still hold an equity on cotton which has been kept in storage and they may stand to receive more than the original loan for the cotton, it is announced by G. Tom Scott of Johnston County, Chairman of the State AAA Committee.

Prevailing market prices now are several cents a pound higher than the loan rates for any of the past three years, and if the Commodity Credit Corporation, holder of the loan cotton, should find it necessary to market some of the stored lint to keep domestic prices from raising too high, farmers who stored the cotton on loan would share in the proceeds of the sale on the basis of the difference between the sale price and the original loan.

The U. S. Department of Commerce has ceased publication of statistical information on exports of American farm produce and will keep such information secret because of war.

That Sunday has become an unholy day: that Sunday leads all other days in the number of auto deaths, accounting for twice as many as Wednesday. Last year 6,930 people were killed in Sunday auto accidents, and another 219,050 injured.

That 60 per cent of the people of the United States are not affiliated with any church and that only one out of four of the other 40 per cent are in attendance at church on any given Sunday.

That the Sunday School enrollment of North Carolina is about 50,000 less than it was 15 years ago.

That of the 1,069,000 children in North Carolina between the ages of 6 and 17, enrolled in the public schools, only 338,786 are enrolled in Sunday School.

That the consumption of alcoholic beverage per person in France for the year 1939 was 65 gallons.

That the people of the United States in their consumption of alcoholic beverage have gone from 1.59 gallons per capita to 13.41 gallons in 1940.

That 23 states in the United States have a sales tax; 25 states have no sales tax.

That only about four persons in the hundred in the United States have an income large enough to place them in the income tax bracket.

That the defense tax is being passed down to the consumer, making the tax heaviest on those who have least. The week the defense tax went on cigarettes, beer, and gas the manufacturer raised the prices to consumers to include the tax.

That the tax paid on tobacco by smokers and tobacco users amounts to more than the manufacturers pay the farmers for the whole crop. The average crop of tobacco in the United States brings the farmers about $200,000,000. The government raises about $500,000,000 in taxes on the average crop.

The government is having trouble with the defense program; the laborer wants too much wages and the manu-

Fort Bragg Soldier Once Fought Louis

Fort Bragg, N. C., June 21, 1941—One selectee in the Field Artillery Replacement Training Center at Fort Bragg to whom this week's broadcast of Joe Louis' fight brought memories far too real to furnish any enjoyment was Private Charles Massare of New York City, now a member of Battery C, 1st Battalion.

Massare fought Louis back in 1935 just before the big boy took on Max Baer and Primo Carnera. Massare, as best he remembers, lasted 6 rounds.

"As I listened in this week's fight with the other men of the Battery, Massare said today, "Every left to the jaw which Conn took was a memory of one I had taken myself. It was a
