POOLE'S MEDLEY

By D. SCOTT POOLE

If Germany conquers Russia, returns to the western front and defeats England, gathers the resources of all Europe, and through South America attack the United States with Japan aiding and abetting in this warfare, they might give our country a hard time between them.

The property of the United States is valued at four hundred billion dollars so our national debt is not alarming, but it will be hard to pay nevertheless. By the way: If we can spend such vast sums to destroy, why not do more toward living in time of peace?

Nazism is itself Communism, but a different brand from that which possessed the Russians, when they revolted against the Nobility and either killed them out or ran them out of the country, and Communists in Germany and Russia worked together to wreck governments the world over, but Hitler's brand carries more diabolism, surely.

The Legislature in 1921, which passed the first real road law, had provided in that law that road material might be taken free wherever found and the highway rights of way claim thirty-five feet from the center of the road. While they were building soil roads they dug some awfully ugly holes in farms in Hoke, and elsewhere, of course.

It has never been tested, but I just know that law is unconstitutional. It denies the right of the state itself to grant titles to land, if the state can go and take that land back any time the state wants it back. Were that law brought before our Supreme court I believe we will learn as I say to be true. We have a Supreme court equal to any State.

Everybody wants good roads. We remember the deep sand even in Main Street, Raeford, and why people were so long learning the effect of clay on sandy roads I do not understand. But the roadbuilders should have gone into edge of the fields to get clay, and not right in front of a man's dwelling in his best land.

By unjust legislation there has been an uneven distribution of the wealth of the world, but we should always remember two wrongs do not make a right. Fair dealing now, with income taxes will adjust matters as well as is possible.

Twenty to twenty-five miles a day was all we could make with a loaded wagon without driving in the night. We have made a trip to Fayetteville from Jackson Springs, but we stayed only one day in town, and driving thirty miles that day we reached home. Back there it was nip-and-tuck to live at all. We thought so at the time, and we just would have to "seek relief," nqw.

Making liquor makes sugar higher. The sugar makers are not getting more. The prices of a good many things we must have daily are higher for no cause except greed of sellers.

Famine will stop this war, after many have starved. If the ruling class who brought it on were to starve, none of us would shed tears because of such good luck. By the way, plant wheat, farmers. Grow oats and all kinds of grain and take good care of meat animals.

The honor of a great nation makes its bonds good, and a desirable investment, but our nation is now paying, it is stated, five billion dollars a year interest on its debts. Why not place the nation's honor behind its currency and save that interest,

"Mary had a little ram
As black as rubber shoe,
And everywhere that Mary went,
He emigrated, too."

A sailor was looking over greeting cards: Saleslady: "Here is a lovely sentiment: 'To the only girl I ever loved.'"

Sailor: "Fine, I'll take five—no. Six of them."

Gob: "I am a man of few words."

Narrative Report For October

Ten Home Demonstration Clubs met in Hoke County in October with 138 club members present. The major project for the month was "Textiles."

Three 4-H Club Members attended the State 4-H Dress Revue which was held in Raleigh on October 3. Ruth Gillis, a member of the Hoke High School Club, modeled a denim suit which she had made. Ruth's suit was placed in the Blue Ribbon group for cotton dresses and she received a gold pin for her efforts.

The County Council met on October 8. After the business session Miss Janet McGrit gave an interesting demonstration on plaque making.

The Blue Springs Club held its meeting at night at the same time the men held their meeting to discuss the farm program. After the meetings, the club women served refreshments to both groups.

The Home Agent spent one afternoon at the State Fair in Raleigh. Elaine Smith, a member of the Hoke High 4-H Club, received $15.00 for her bedroom unit at the State Fair. The unit consisted of a refinished single bed, a mattress which she had made at home, a mattress pad, linen and spread which she had made, a bedside table which she had finished and an oil lamp which she had converted into an electric lamp.

The Home Agent spent one day in Rockingham where she attended a meeting on the defense program. The Ashmont Club entertained thirty soldiers at a Halloween party at the Ashley Heights Community Building on the Evening of October 23. The families of the club members also attended.

The Home Agent, with Allyne Smith and Ruth Gillis, attended the annual 4-H and Service Club banquet which was held at White Lake on the evening of October 24. The Little River Club enjoyed Halloween Carnival at their Community Building on the evening of October 29. The Club realized approximately $18.00 for their club treasury.

The Home Agent attended three meetings on Agricultural Planning. The meetings were conducted by J. W. Green, Extension Land-use Planning Specialist.

The Blue Springs and Antioch Clubs furnished home-made cookies and punch for a dance for 225 soldiers and young ladies at the Armory on the evening of October 30. Several ladies from each club were present at the dance and helped serve the refreshments.

Home Demonstration Club members have furnished games, stationary, pens, ink and several hundred magazines for the armory which is being used as a recreation center for the soldiers.

1706 mattresses and 1059 comforts had been completed at the end of the month.

38 library books were checked to Club Members during October.

Local U. S. O. Hosts To Men and Officers

250 officers and men of 207th and 212th were entertained at a round and square dance given by the local U. S. O. and Methodist Church jointly. About 125 girls from Laurinburg, Wagram, Red Springs, Raeford and vicinity turned out. Refreshments were served by Blue Springs Home Demonstration Club under direction of the Home Demonstration agent. Music was furnished by Woody Singleton and his orchestra for the square dancing and Mr. McGoon secured a piccolo for the round dancing. The soldiers reported that this was the nicest entertainment that had been given them since they had come south. Most of the men were from New Jersey and New York.

Will you kiss me, or won't you?"
Gal: "I wouldn't normally, but you've talked me into it."

Girl: "Officer, that sailor accosted me."
Policeman: "What have you to say for yourself?"

Gob: "A buddy of mine asked me to come here to meet his sister. He told me to look for a lady with starry eyes, teeth like pearls, a smile like the Mona Lisa's, a figure like Betty Grable's as charming Myrna Loy, dressed as the Duchess of Windsor, with grace of a ballet dancer, the dignity of a queen."
Girl: "I apologize to the gentleman, officer. Anyone would have made the same mistake."

Report Of Hoke Health Officer

The Hoke County Health Department wishes to make the following report for the month of October 1941.

608 Small pox vaccinations.
114 Diphtheria enoculations.
97 blood tests.
3 smears.

28 started treatment for unusual diseases.

735 pupils inspected in school for teeth and tonsils, part for eyes.
50 pieces literature given out.
3 Health Talks Given.

This work done by Dr. E. S. Grady, health officer, Miss Mary Copeland, Public Health Nurse and by Miss Marion Maxwell, clerk.

The cafes, meat markets, hotels, tourist camps and dairies in Hoke County have been inspected and graded. Grade Cards have been posted in the windows of the cafes and meat markets for the benefit of the public and the army personnel.

Particular stress has been placed on grades of cafes. These grades are based on several factors; the main ones being: cleanliness, facilities and repairs. Other factors are: health certificates are required of all individuals employed in the restaurant; only Grade A milk products can be handled; power handling of foods and condition of food products.

The public is urged to observe the Grade of each cafe as the sanitary rating is the best index to the cleanliness and the food handling methods used by that particular cafe.
