WHY THE PAPER
"FOLDED"

Why did over half again as many daily newspapers go out of business last year as during the low year of depression? The mortality figures for the United States, the American Newspaper Publishers Association reveals, were 79 in 1942 and 45 in 1933.

Curtailment of materials was not responsible. Newsprint reductions did not come till this year, and zinc shortages aren't fatal. Advertising fell off and costs rose, but it is much more than that. Probably the proprietor of the little four-to-eight page daily in the average mid-west county sent could enlighten us, and his story might be that of Editor Brown of "Midletown."

Editor Brown's boy, who was his ad solicitor and chief reporter, went off before Pearl Harbor and is now a veteran officer. The draft took one linotype operator and the boy who ran the press. Mr. Brown got along, even after his foreman went to Detroit to make machine guns. But when Miss Appleby, who wrote the personals, took subscriptions, kept books, wrote the boss's letters, and generally looked after him, decided she wanted to be a Wave, Editor Brown took off his green eye shades, pulled down his roll-top desk, locked the door, and patted on the window a proof of the following notice in his valedictory issue:

This paper is hereby suspended for the duration. It's getting to be more than one man can do. If anybody wants to pay me what he owes me, he can find me at the airplane plant. If this community still wants a paper after it's over,

I'll be glad to take up where I left off.

If we know anything about the Middletowns of the U. S. A., they WILL want their paper back. And the fighting Browns, too.—Christian Science Monitor.

ATTENTION!
Mr. Farmer

We are now in a position to trade with you on your 1943 Fertilizer requirements.

Due to the acute Labor, Gas, Tire and Truck shortages it is extremely doubtful if we will be able to deliver by truck to all of our customers their fertilizer requirements in time for use unless you make preparations immediately to take in your fertilizers. Therefore, the great importance of your contacting us and our agents immediately—making your trades and letting us start delivering your fertilizers.

The Above Is Very Important

We make only the best of fertilizers and in formulating our fertilizers use only materials that are beneficial both to your crops and land.

See us or our agents promptly for your requirements and advise us to deliver immediately.
