to marry her and had offered him money to do so. Walters testified that he would have liked to do so but was prevented by members of his family. Later Archie King began going with her and they were married in July.

King testified that some three weeks after his marriage the girl told him of her condition, and three weeks later he declared that Lamb had come to him and claimed the paternity of his wife's child. Several witnesses testified that Lamb claimed to be the father of the unborn child, and in presence of King, his wife and her mother and father asked King to shoot him. He also asked Fred Thomas, the girl's brother, to kill him, according to Fred's testimony.

Court attaches believed that the evidence would all be given by late afternoon but that arguments of attorneys would not be heard before this morning.

Baptist Convention Refuses Endorse Bible In Schools

WINSTON-SALEM, Nov. 17—The Baptist State convention was on record today as declining to endorse teachings of Bible in the schools of the state and as refusing to approve affiliation of the convention with the North Carolina Council of Churches. The way was left open, however, for individual Baptist churches to approve "week-day religious education" and individual Baptists to affiliate with the Council. What the convention, holding its 113th annual session here, did yesterday was to order the approval of these two subjects stricken from the report of the committee on social service. The remainder of the report was approved.

This included: That Baptists be patriotic in this war but refrain from asking the blessings of God upon war; that every church in every community in the state accept the responsibility of the welfare of local service men; that the "four freedoms" be endorsed and "we declare our belief that a righteous peace must recognize the right of every nation and every person in it to the full use of God-given talents and opportunities;" that Baptists develop sincere tolerance toward people of other races; that Baptists endeavor to help youth and lead it in right-living and support juvenile courts.

The report also said that "among various efforts to outlaw this sabotage (liquor consumption) we endorse the recently organized Allied Church league for the abolition of beverage alcohol and rejoice in its successful enlistment of leading denominations of North Carolina."

Carnival Outside Aberdeen Limits

Editor, The News-Journal Raeford, N. C.

I read with a good deal of interest in this section will be harvesting in this week's issue of your paper.

I'd like to point out, for the benefit of the record, that the carnival mentioned in your editorial was not operating in the Town of Aberdeen. It was operating outside the city limits and the City had no jurisdiction.

We have a town ordinance, long in effect, which prohibits carnivals showing in the town. We are not at all in sympathy with shows of this type and we have repeatedly refused them permission to operate here.

Sincerely yours,
Forrest Lockey,
FL-L Mayor Town of Aberdeen.

Troubles never come singly. When they have a wreck on a railroad the railroad folks always look for two more. Whether that is always true, I do not know, but in time of war, there are usually more sickness, and accidental deaths it seems than at other times.

Hundreds Of Jews Massacred In Kiev

Moscow, Nov. 17 — An eyewitness account of Jewish massacres in Kiev during the early days of its occupation by German troops has been given by the newspaper Izvestia by Dmitrii Grolv, a resident of Kiev, who said he saw hundreds of men and women stripped naked and then shot at the edge of a gulley into which their bodies dropped on a great pile.

In the account, distributed by Tass News agency, Grolv related: "Several days after the Germans entered Kiev I went to Lvovskaya street. An incessant procession of people was streaming through it and both sidewalks were lined with German patrols. This human stream kept flowing for three days and nights without interruption.

"The Germans were driving the Pews to Bab' Yar Gulley beyond the city. I also stealthily made my way to that place. I was able to stand the sight of what I saw there only for 10 minutes and after that everything went black before my eyes.

"The Germans forced people to undress and then methodically gathered their clothes and loaded them on trucks. In separate trucks they put underwear. Then they tore off from naked people — there were men and women among them — rings and watches if they had any, dragged them up shivering from cold or mortal terror at the edge of the gulley and shot them.

"The Germans did not spend any bullets on little children, but simply hurled them alive into the gulley.

"Those who were waiting their turn stood silently, or sang or even laughed. I could see that those who laughed were already insane.

"And this lasted three days.

Cotton

Since most cotton warehouses are practically full of cotton and there is little demand for it except at low prices, growers should store their crop on the farm and make application for loans through the local AAA office, says D. F. Holler, Extension specialist.
