

AMERICAN HEROES

BY LEFF

Private Raymond B. Judd, of Navarre, Ohio, volunteered to swim the swollen and rapid Konombi River, New Guinea, in broad daylight, under heavy enemy fire. Armed only with a pistol and hand grenades, he assisted in towing a rope to the opposite bank to aid the crossing of the river by a platoon of infantry who secured a bridgehead on the opposite shore. He has been awarded the D. S. C. It's up to us to buy the War Bonds! Give them for Christmas.

STATESMANSHIP IN THE AMERICAN LEGION

In a forthright message to the American people, Edward N. Scheiberling, newly elected National Commander of The American Legion, not only outlines the high-purpose aims of this alert veterans' organization, but also touches a new high in thinking in behalf of the American people. And it comes at an opportune time. In fact, it stands out in marked contrast to other events of recent weeks and the discussion of the political campaign. It also bespeaks a new and stronger place for the organization founded men from the victory in World War I—a victory that later proved to be half-won.

Of events since 1919, Commander Scheiberling says: "Our experience and our memory of the tragic results of unpreparedness and lack of policy are too bitter—the suffering has been too great—the price we are paying for national indifference has been too heavy." How true!

Looking to the future, the Legion Commander sets forth objectives that can and should be supported by every citizen—the very objectives for which G. I. Joes are fighting. They are briefly: Complete and final victory over our enemies; peace dictated in no uncertain terms and to be maintained by an international group with authority and peace stick; adequate attention and care for the men and women who win victory and peace; full opportunity for these returning forces and to pick up the threads of life as they left them, and a United States internally and externally strong enough to assure them—and all other citizens—permanent peace and permanent opportunity.

He correctly summarizes this program as symbolizing Americanism at its best. National Commander Scheiberling expresses the hope that The American Legion—now composed of two million Legionnaires and Auxiliary members of two wars—will eventually be an organization of five, six or seven million men. If the Legion is to be the organization it has been in the past and if it is looking to the future under the pattern outlined by its Commander, we hope so too. America needs it.

In his first major address the National Commander has given a new lift to The American Legion. He has given new meaning to more than 12,000 Legion posts throughout the country. He has given new hope and new confidence to those who believe in the way that brought the United States to the greatest heights of freedom ever attained by any nation.

Thanks, Commander Scheiberling, more strength to The American Legion.

THIS IS WHERE YOU DECIDE, MRS. AMERICA...

IF YOU CO-OPERATE WITH YOUR GROCER, PAY NO MORE THAN CEILING PRICES... YOU'LL KEEP FOOD PRICES DOWN

PAY NO MORE THAN CEILING PRICES

OLD MAN INFLATION isn't licked—yet. He's putting up the fight of his life right now, and the danger is he may win, unless we all work together to beat him, once and for all.

Remember what happened after the last War? Prices rose to over 148% above pre-war levels. Almost half the total rise in prices during World War I took place AFTER THE ARMISTICE.

So—help fight this enemy on our home soil. Do it by knowing Ceiling Prices when you shop. Your grocer has them posted. He is as anxious as you are to observe Ceiling Prices—he knows price control protects his future—and yours. Co-operate with him. Don't pay more than Ceiling Prices—don't patronize black markets. That way we can win real post-war stability we all want so much.

Patriotic grocers are posting their Ceiling Price Lists... charging only ceilings or less... welcoming questions about prices. Patriotic buyers are using the lists... paying no more... asking friendly questions about possible mistakes.

Are you doing your share... for the sake of America's future?

WE CAN HELP PREVENT SKYROCKETING FOOD COSTS... IF...

The grocer posts his Ceiling Price List and charges only ceilings or less.

The buyer uses the list and pays no more.

The buyer doesn't hesitate to call the grocer's attention to mistakes.
