GRADUATION RECITAL GIVEN BY MISS JO McLAUCHLIN AT SALEM

Miss Josephine McLauchlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. McLauchlin of Raeford, was presented in her graduating recital in organ at Salem College on Monday evening, by Dean Charles G. Vardell of the school of music.

During this year Miss McLauchlin has served as organist for numerous student college programs and this year has been organist for the morning devotional programs held at the Home Moravian church and also directed the choir for the devotionals held for the college students. She is president of the senior class, a member of the class teams in softball, hockey, and basketball, and during her college career has been active in many other phases of the institution's activities.

Of Miss McLauchlin's recital, Critic Mary V. Jones of the Winston-Salem Journal, writes: "Her difficult and exacting program was played with ease and assurance, displaying an excellent manual and pedal technique and a fine feeling for atmosphere and tone combinations." The critic especially praised her playing of the D Minor prelude and fugue of Bach, two preludes by Karg-Elert, and a modern group by Boellman, Dethier and Clokey.

Save Those Pigs That Usually Die

About one-fourth of the pigs die between farrowing and marketing and a large part of these losses can be prevented says Dr. C. D. Grinnell, veterinarian of the Agricultural Experiment Station at State College.

He gives the following suggestions for control of some of the common causes of baby pig losses. Provide a balanced diet for the sow with needed minerals and vitamin A to help prevent scours which is caused by the toxic quality of the sow's milk. Minerals and vitamin D help to prevent rickets.

There is also a baby pig disease caused by a sugar deficiency. Feeding of plenty of carbohydrates prevents this and sometimes an injection of glucose is needed to save the pigs.

The baby pig also needs iron in his system and the placing of clean sod in the pig creeps helps to take care of this condition. Iron salts solution is often sprinkled over the sod.

NOTICE

State of North Carolina, Hoke County.

In the Superior Court, MARY LENA HEATH, PLTFF., vs. HARRY E. HEATH, DFT.

The defendant, Harry E. Heath, will take notice that an action entitled as above has been commenced in the Superior Court of Hoke County, North Carolina, to obtain absolute divorce on grounds of two years separation; and that said defendant will take notice that he is required to appear at the office of the Clerk of Superior Court of said County in the courthouse in Raeford, N. C., within 20 days after the 24th day of May, 1945, and answer or demur to the complaint filed in said action, or the plaintiff will apply for relief demanded in said complaint.

This 30th April, 1945. J. B. Cameron, Clerk of Superior Court of Hoke County.

Evander Blue McNeill

On the evening of March 14, 1945, God, in His infinite love and wisdom, called home our friend and fellow elder, Evander Blue McNeill.

Mr. McNeill was born in the Union Church section of Moore County, North Carolina, in 1868. Under the ministry of the church, Mr. McNeill, early in life, became a Christian and gave his heart to the Lord, and became a member of the church. After a number of years in the naval stores business in Cumberland and Montgomery counties, North Carolina, and later in Alabama, he moved to Raeford in 1901. In 1915 he was elected and ordained a deacon in the Raeford Presbyterian church, in which capacity he served efficiently and diligently for several years, until he was elected and ordained a ruling elder.

Through long years of faithful and earnest service, Mr. McNeill served and was active in the duties of his office until just a short time before his death. He was diligent in promoting the cause of the Kingdom of God, and sought opportunities for Christian witness. Until his health no longer permitted it, he regularly attended and taught the Adult Bible Class on Sunday afternoons in the Phillip Sunday School near Raeford. He was deeply interested in the life and program of the church, and generously responded to every appeal for financial support. He was a sympathetic and understanding friend and was interested in the spiritual and physical well-being of his fellow man. He was admired for his rugged Christian character, and respected for his Christian convictions.

For several years he was in failing health, and early in the evening of March 14th he passed to the Heavenly Home as if falling asleep. He was laid to rest in the Raeford cemetery on March 16th. We shall miss his wise counsel, his active leadership, and his kindly service.

In view of the foregoing facts, be it resolved by the Session of the Raeford Presbyterian church:

1. That we bow in humble submission suggested that the sow and pigs be kept on the fresh land of temporary grazing crops or in clean pastures.

mission to the will of our Heavenly Father, and that we express our gratitude to Him for the life of Mr. McNeill, and for his faithful service to the church.

2. That we record our sincere appreciation for the privilege of being associated with him in Christian service as fellow elders.

3. That we incorporate these resolutions in the minutes of the Session, and that copies be sent to the family, and to the Christian Observer and to the News-Journal for publication.

By order of the Session, this 2nd day of April, 1945.

How can you get A WAR-TIME JOB WITH A POST-WAR FUTURE?

Pulpwood is one of our most serious war-time shortages. The need for more manpower to meet this critical shortage is especially great now that the Supreme Command is appealing to the American people to increase the flow of supplies.

"Critical" War-Time Jobs

Pulpwood has found many war uses. From it are made explosives, tow-lines for gliders, plastic plane parts, shipping containers and thousands of other things. Pulpwood work rates with the most essential war industries. But it is work that will continue after the war.

The Future of Pulpwood

The many war-time developments in the use of pulpwood have opened the way for equally great peace-time uses. The pulp and paper industry—the nation's 6th largest—looks forward to even greater expansion. It'll be a good business for you to be in after the war as well as today.
