POOLE'S MEDLEY

BY D. SCOTT POOLE

A printer recently wrote to an editor, giving his experiences with the CIO and the business world. This printer was assisting in getting out and industrial and historical issue of the paper with which he was then employed.

In that city there was a noted laundry business which had grown up with the city, and the employees of the laundry had always associated together, their interests were identical; the workers in the laundry and the owners of the plant lived in equality.

The manager of the laundry had written a history of the business and an account of the friendly interest laborers in the plant felt for each other, and they had been compared to one big loving family. The printer had set the matter, and had brought the proofs to the laundry to allow the manager to O. K. the article.

Union labor had not been organized in that plant. Instead of paying dues they bought lots through the building and loan association, now owned their homes

Hoke Youths Will Attend 4-H Camp

The Hoke County 4-H girls and boys will leave on Tuesday afternoon, June 25, for Camp Millstone near Elberbe, N. C. The group will be joined by campers from Lee and Scotland Counties. Classes will be held in Handicrafts, Recreation, 4-H Organization, and Swimming. Each instructional period will be 45 minutes long. A camp manager has been employed his staff includes a life guard, a handicraft instructor, and four cooks who are employed by State College during the school months.

"We expect to have one of the best 4-H camps we have ever participated in", Josephine Hall, Home Agent, said yesterday. "Around thirty boys and girls have registered to attend and probably others will register later."

The group will meet at the Raeford Grammar school on Tuesday, June 25, at 1 o'clock. They will return on Saturday by noon.

BEDINGER SPEAKS TO KIWANIS CLUB HERE

Dr. H. G. Bedinger, president of Flora Macdonald college, was guest speaker at the weekly meeting of the Raeford Kiwanis club in the club's hall here last Thursday night.

In his talk Dr. Bedinger drew a parallel between the effect good leadership had on the military campaigns of the war and the effect good leadership and example has on the future of the youth of the world. He compared the battles of the war with the battles of life and pointed out the responsibilities of all to give youth the right leadership in various fields of endeavor for the winning of the battle.

Dr. Bedinger's talk was interesting and considered a fine message by all present.

-BRAWL-

ADDENDA

By The Editor

M. C. Dew, of the Johnson company, attended a cotton school in Raleigh this week.

It has been pretty hot here this week, but this weather has been general in the section and, according to the keepers of statistics, no records have been set, hot weather being the rule rather than the exception in June.

The Johnson Cotton company building on both sides of the corner of Main street and the Laurinburg road is nearing completion and is a fine looking building.

The same may be said of the building of the W. W. Motor company on the Fayetteville road next door to the Johnson company (not the Johnson Cotton company). Frank Williams, who married the former Patsy Blue, will be the operator of this company. He is originally from Manchester.

Understand from John McGoogan that the Carolina telephone & telegraph company is planning to build an extensive network of rural lines in this county and that they are going to start soon.

If people who knew the news would tell us here at 352-1 about it the subscribers wouldn't have to read so much of this sort of stuff. (Continued on page 6)

BUILDING PRIORITY ISSUED FOR FREEZER LOCKER PLANT

Boll Weevils Emerge To Attack Cotton

Boll weevils are coming out of winter quarters and going into the cotton fields off South Carolina, and recent rainy weather has complicated the situation, say reports reaching James T. Conner, Jr., Extension Entomologist at North Carolina State College.

Efforts spent in fighting the boll weevil this year to give better yields of cotton should prove a profitable venture in those sections where the pest is showing up in large numbers, according to Conner.

He suggests that farmers examine their cotton fields closely, particularly around woods, fences and ditch banks, because it is here that the boll weevil generally shows up in largest numbers. Mopping or spot dusting will give good returns early in the season, but when the pest really attacks, general applications of calcium arsenate are advisable.

Prof. Howard Jones of the Physics Department at State College, has just returned from an automobile trip to the black land area of Texas and says that cotton crops are generally poor, except in one area that visited in Texas. There he found the crop much farther advanced than at other places along the route he traveled.

LIBRARY NEWS

New books are coming in in large numbers at the public library. The public is invited to come in to select books for vacation reading. There are titles to suit every taste.

The Department of Literature of the Woman's Club has presented the following books to the library in memory of the men who gave their lives in World War II:

The Four Cornerstones of Peace, Dean; This House Against This House, Sheean; Patton, Fighting Man, Mellor; Soldier of Democracy, Davis; Memories of an Old Time Tarheel, Battle; The Vicar of Wakefield, Goldsmith; Masterpieces in color Metropolitan Museum of Art.

New fiction titles are: Wasteland, Sinclair; Deborah, Castle; This Side of Innocence, Caldwell; Gather Ye Rosebuds, Nolan; With Cradle and Clock, Stowman; Between Two Worlds, Sinclair.

The Library closes at 12:30 on Wednesdays.

COTTON BLOOMS

Two cotton blooms were reported to the News-Journal this week. The first, by G. C. Lytle, was not brought in but was reported by Mr. Lytle to have been found on Saturday, June 15 on his farm in Antioch township. He reported finding both red and white blooms that day.

The second bloom was brought in by Daniel Goins on Wednesday and was found on the farm of J. H. Wright. It was red.

Expect Construction To Begin Within Ten Days

Officials of the Frozen Food corporation announced to local officials this week that the government had issued the necessary priorities for the purchase of building materials for the proposed freezer locker plant here. With this news the proposal comes much closer to being reality, as it is expected that the construction of the plant on U. S. Highway 15-A near the armory in Raeford will begin within the next few days.

Officials of the corporation have expressed the opinion that the plant may possibly be completed by October, as experience on previous jobs has shown that the construction and installation of equipment takes from three to six months. They think that, as the weather of the next three months is normally about the best in the year, it is quite possible that the plant here may be built in about three months.

The plant will provide a capacity of 500 lockers, each six cubic feet in size. The processing equipment will provide ample space for the handling of a very heavy volume of pork, beef, poultry, and other meats, as well as vegetables and fruits.

In addition to the advantages of a frozen food locker plant for the preserving of food for home use, there will also be an opportunity for growers to have food processed through this plant and sold on the open market at premium prices.

The Louis-Conn fight last night sounded pretty even until the Brown Bomber loosed his dynamite in the 8th round. Then Conn was level and Louis was still champion.

FARM NOTES

By A. S. Knowles

The feed situation continues to be serious. In order to reduce the cost of feed and save concentrates, farmers are urged to plant temporary grazing crops now if additional feed is needed. Sudan grass and pearl millet can be planted now to furnish quick grazing or hay where needed. 200 to 400 pounds of fertilizer should be used per acre. When 6 to 12 inches high, topdress with nitrogen.

Do not over-graze permanent pasture. Mow weeds from pasture about twice each year. In order to improve the existing pasture or where a new pasture will be seeded, it is wise to start making preparation by adding limestone when convenient on a good, fairly well drained soil. The fertilizer and part of the seed can be put in during the fall.
