Advice Is Given On Preserving Eggs In Freezer Lockers

Eggs produced during the heavy season of lay may now be preserved for use at the time when eggs are scarce, according to Prof. Roy S. Dearstyn, head of the Poultry department at State College.

In the past years the use of water glass solution was widely carried out for this purpose, he said, but with the recent widespread development of freezer lockers, a new opportunity exists.

Where the freezer locker is to be used, clean, fresh eggs should be broken into parraffined cups and refrigerated at zero temperature. If the entire content of the egg is to be frozen, the eggs should be broken into a clean bowl, and one tablespoon of corn sirup or sugar, or one teaspoonful of salt should be added to each cup of liquid eggs. Break yolks, but do not whip.

If yolks are frozen separate, add two tablespoons of corn sirup or sugar, or one teaspoon of salt to each cup of yolks and mix as for whole eggs. If the whites are packaged, nothing should be added. The containers should be moisture-vapor proof, and the product frozen promptly. The eggs, when thawed, should be used immediately.

Undoubtedly, as time goes on and as freezer-locker space becomes more available, this method of providing for periods of scarcity in egg production will become more popular, Prof. Dearstyn said.

Approximately 225 Stanley County farmers recently made a field trip to Cokers Seed Farm to study a small grain breeding program being carried on there.

Thirteen purebred Hampshire pigs have been bought to be used in a pig chain that has been started among 4-H Club youth in Union County.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Industry Looks at Our Town

Maybe you read how a group of industrial experts have decided that the small town is the place for industry—not big cities. Reasons they give are better housing, pleasanter living, and more opportunity for wholesome recreation.

Well, looking around our town I'd say that was about right. Most of us own our homes, and keep them looking nice; we enjoy each other's company; and our recreations are mostly simple outdoor sports, and in the evening a mellow glass of beer with pleasant company.

As Doc Walters says, that sort of life just naturally sets you up for work the next day... whether it's in office, mill, or field. And Doc should know. He works fourteen hours, but never misses his morning "constitutional" or his evening glass of beer with friends.

From where I sit, any industry could profit from being in a town where wholesome living, temperance, and friendship are the rule.
