Final Plans Being Made For Farm And Home Week

With final plans rapidly shaping up for 1947 Farm and Home Week which will be held on State College campus August 25-28, it is hoped this year's event will be an outstanding one to the more than 5,000 farm men and women expected to attend.

Lectures by such outstanding National speakers as Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Dorothy Thompson, and Congressman Stephen Pace are scheduled. These talks will relate to state, national and international affairs affecting rural people. Other outstanding speakers during the week include: Dr. T. B. Hutcheson, outstanding personality in southern agriculture and Dean of School of Agriculture at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Blacksburg, Va.; J. B. Hutson, newly elected president of the board of directors of Tobacco Associates Inc.; and Thomas J. Pearson, former speaker of the House of Representatives.

There will be a series of talks and discussions, many of them held on the day at the same hour in order to give each person a chance to attend the one in which he is most interested. These periods will deal primarily with new and improved methods and procedures for farm and home activities. They will include such factors as crop and livestock production, farm mechanization, rural health, family relationships, home food supply, labor saving devices, and other points involved in family living.

New home equipment with emphasis on electrical appliances; the latest in farm machinery; and new methods in crop production and processing will feature in exhibits, as well as a number of demonstrations relating to both the home and the farm.

Not forgetting the recreational side of the week, arrangements have been made for visitors to see places of historical interest in Raleigh, and visits will be made to the college farms. There will be group singing, square dances, contests and prizes and other features.

Miss Christine Rivers of Hartsville, S. C. is visiting Mrs. Herbert Long this week.

Mrs. M. G. Ray and Mrs. K. P. Ritter attended the funeral of their cousin, John McCormick, at Parkton last week.

COVER YOUR SOIL THIS WINTER

A thick stand of legumes or small grain is the best way to hold your topsoil and maintain its fertility during the winter. Potash will help produce a thick stand because cover crops, especially the legumes, respond well to potash. It also speeds up an early and heavy spring growth high in nitrogen and minerals for grazing or turning under. Fertilizing winter cover crops is one of the best and safest ways of applying part of the fertilizer for the cash crop to follow.
