Sheriff D. H. Hodgin said yester-day that he interviewed Mc-Neill on Sunday and that he was in fairly good shape at that time, but that his memory was-n't too good about who cut him or where it took place. Appar-ently it was generally between Raeford and Shannon.

KNEE DEEP IN COTTON

Boll-weevil control experiments on the H. B. Ashley farm, Route 1, Red Springs, indicate Benzene hexachloride, the new chemical, may be the answer to the cotton farmer's prayers. The above picture shows Ashley is expecting a good harvest in spite of bad weather and the boll weevil.

Kiwanians Hear Dr. Willis On Thursday

Dr. H. S. Willis, superintendent of the North Carolina Sanatoria who has recently returned from a trip to Europe where he repre-sented the United States Tuber-culosis association at several con-ferences, was guest speaker at last Thursday night's meeting of the Raeford Kiwanis club.

Dr. Willis, accompanied by Mrs. Willis, visited Oslo, Norway, Stockholm, Sweden, Copenhagen, Denmark, Brussels, Belgium, Paris, France, and London, England. At each of these places he met with leading tuberculosis specialists and exchanged ideas and infor-mation about the disease. At the British Empire conference in London and a world conference in Paris he delivered addresses on the subject.

His talk to the Kiwanis club was not about tuberculosis but was a most interesting collection of ideas and impressions about the people and the places he vis-ited and their political and econ-omic ideas and conditions.

Farm Bureau Head Urges Farmers To Join Hoke Unit

"The North Carolina Farm Bu-reau campaign for 100,000 mem-bers should have the support of everyone for only through orga-nization can agriculture hope to survive and contribute its share to the prosperity of our state and nation," Richard Neeley, Hoke County Farm Bureau president, said this week in a prepared state-ment.

"Farm Bureau-membership com-miteemen are hard at work en-listing new members to boost the 62,057 members to 100,000 by November 15," he said, "However, this task is of such importance that we can't be content to let just a few do the work. If a commit-tee-man does not call on you, do yourself a favor and look one up. The campaign means much to the future of the farmers of North Carolina. If we farmers are to be represented properly before our state and national legislative bodies, we should see to it that the Farm Bureau can point to a membership so large that there will be no doubt how N. C. farm-ers stand on important issues."

"The drive is attracting wide in-terest," Neeley said, and "meet-ings of the past two weeks have shown that farmers are concerned about their future."

He said that it is up to the com-miteemen and other members to put the campaign over and it is up to the men and women of Hoke county to show that they are 100 percent behind it.

PEANUT REFERENDUM

A last minute reminder to all Hoke County peanut growers was issued today by T. D. Potter, Chairman of the County Agricul-tural Conservation Committee. "October 1 is the deadline," the chairman said, "for returning the Questionnaires on peanut acreages and production which were sent from the Agricultural Conserva-tion office. Information needed by the county office for establishing peanut acreage allotments on each farm in 1948 will be taken from facts furnished by the farmers themselves. These questionnaires also establish each grower's right to vote in the coming referen-dum."

The chairman explained that, if the county committee does not have complete information on a certain farm by the time allot-ments are established, that allot-ment must be made from the lim-ited county reserve. Failure to file the questionnaire by October 1 may result in smaller allotments for some farms.

Whether marketing quotas and acreage allotments are to be in effect next year will depend upon the results of the referendum to be held later this year, the chair-man points out. The referendum date will be announced shortly. The county office then will notify farmers of voting places, and provide other information about the referendum.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL TEAM PLAYS MASSEY HILL FRIDAY

Anderson Man Makes Survey For Ginner's Association

LOUIS G. MCGILL

Announcement was made today of the appointment of Louis G. McGill, Anderson, S. C., as Field Representative of the Carolinas' Ginners Association to conduct a general survey of all gins in the Carolinas and Virginia. This sur-vey will enable the organization to provide improved service to ginners and cotton farmers alike.

In announcing the appointment, George T. Ashford, President of the Association, said Mr. McGill will study types of equipment, building and operations now em-ployed and interview farmers and ginners to obtain a cross-section of ideas on how the group may better serve them. Mr. McGill, Ashford added, will inquire par-ticularly into ginning methods in an effort to coordinate the better features of various systems and recommend them for wider use.

"This survey," Ashford said, "will be thorough and painstaking. The Carolinas' Ginners Association is eager to provide the best service possible to ginners and cotton farmers. We feel that through such a study the Asso-ciation will be far more adequately prepared to recommend im-provements in ginning that will assure farmers proper handling of their products and give ginners additional incentive to process cot-ton more rapidly and efficiently."

Homecoming Day At Bethesda Next Sunday

Plans are shaping toward a big Homecoming at Old Bethesda church in Aberdeen on Sunday, September 28. The various com-mitees are actively at work, round-ing out the many details neces-sary to make the event a spiritual and neighborly success.

This year promises to be an out-standing event. The program com-mitee has arranged with Dr. Walter L. Lingle, D. D., LL. D., President Emeritus of Davidson College; former Moderator of the General Assembly of the Southern Presbyterian Church, and one of the leading theologians of the nation, to deliver the morning sermon. This will be followed by a basket luncheon in the grove where the local members will be host to the returnees and visitors.

At about two o'clock in the af-ternoon, the congregation will as-semble in the church to hear Dr. Charles G. Vardell, President Emeritus of Flora Macdonald College. Dr. Henry G. Bedinger, President of Flora Macdonald Col-lege, will be present with young ladies from the College Glee Club. Immediately thereafter, and as the closing feature of the day, the congregation will be addressed by Honorable J. Melville Broughton, former Governor of North Caro-lina.

PLAY IN FAYETTEVILLE BOWL AT EIGHT O'CLOCK

Coach Haywood Faircloth's Hoke County High School foot-ball team starts its ten-gam schedule against the Massey Hill team in the Fayetteville High School bowl under lights tomor-row night at eight o'clock. The Hoke team, which has been work-ing out at Armory park here for the past five weeks will be seek-ing to avenge a 6-0 defeat at the hands of Massey Hill in last year's opening game.

The Massey Hill team defeated the Wagram team last week 38-0 in Massey Hill. The Hoke team's first home game of 5 is to be played here Friday of next week at three p. m. against the Wagram team.

Coach Faircloth has had his 32-man squad working out for the past five weeks and reports are that the team looks promising. 11 lettermen from last year's team are on the squad, which is ap-parently in excellent condition but lacking somewhat in polish.

Faircloth said yesterday he would probably start MacDonald and Lee at the ends, George Free-man and Alton Clark at the tack-les, John Sinciair and Alexander at guards, Neil B. Sinclair at center, and Murray McMillian, Mc-Bryde and Moses in the backfield.

Others showing up well in the practice sessions are Blue and Leach, both guards, Whitley and Glisson at tackles and Niven, Johnson and Yarborough at end.

Bobby Huff, converted lineman from Siler City has been looking good at fullback and will un-doubtedly see action there as will Joe Gullidge at wingback. Gull-edge was out most of last season with a broken collar bone.

FARM NOTES

By A. S. Knowles

Tobacco farmers should begin selecting and preparing their plant bed site if they plan to treat for weed control. The material should be applied at least 90 days before seeding. Two different treatments are recommended. Apply 1 pound of cyanamid per square yard, or use 1 pound of uramon and one-half pound of cyanamid per square yard. The latter treatment is recommended especially on permanent plant-ed sites as it will help control diseases as well as weeds.

Winter and spring grazing crops can relieve the short feed crop. Plant extra acreage. Plant early and fertilize with 300 pounds of 4-10-6 per acre. Use sufficient seed to insure a good stand. Top dress with nitrogen soon after the crop is up to a good stand.

About 60 acres of hybrid seed corn is being grown in Hoke County this year. The bulk of it will go to a large seed producer in Indi-ana. This seed supply will help relieve the shortage of hybrid seed in that area.

Tobacco prices were generally unsettled during recent weeks. Most farmers report satisfactory sales on the middle belt markets. By the way, a good project for the newly formed Chamber of Commerce would be to get a tobacco market established in Raeford. This would be a big asset to the whole community.

The chief functions of three plant nutrients are nitrogen: Im-proves dark green color to plants. Promotes increased leaf and stem growth. Produces crisp improved
