Poole's Medley

BY D. SCOTT POOLE

One of the greatest storms in history crossed the states of Florida, Mississippi, and Louisiana last week, doing millions of dollars in damage.

Storms doubtless do good for the greater portion of the countries they strike, rendering the air more pure.

Smaller storms seem to follow the greater storms. The great storm in 1884 was followed by smaller storms doing local damage.

Guess Winston-Salem and Carhough now see they should have located in the sandhills. They have the best and purest water in the world in the sandhills.

If these unfortunate cities were to pitch their tents beside White Lake and Lake Waccamaw they might be able to get water they cannot muddy.

George Myrover said if the storm had to hit anything, it should have hit the Russian delegation in the United Nations. He also said the storm was making 5 mph toward the coast and that was 4 mph too fast.

A high school education of this day is equivalent to a college education 50 years ago.

The oldtime singing school served a good purpose. "Where they had a singing class, they took the sing"—they tried to sing.

The wets, who favor the sale of liquor, say it is evil, and evil only. They seem to think to license it does away with the evil.

I have seen the weather continue hot until the middle of October, but usually there are cool snaps in September.

The price of grains has fallen during the past two weeks, but bakeries raised the price of their products last week.

Feeds are not as good as they were because adulterations were necessary when foodstuff were furnished other nations.

Grain crops are smaller than usual, still they are using a large amount of it in the manufacture of whiskey, while people in many countries are threatened with starvation.

The great danger to this country is of a drop in prices as came in 1929 and a number of times previously. The people of this country had to start all over again after each of these collapses.

A good dairy cow requires a large quantity of water, and the milking cow needs considerably more than the dry cow.

An abnormal appetite as shown by cows eating dirt or chewing wood or bones is evidence that the ration is deficient in mineral matter.
