

ROCKFISH NEWS

By Mrs. A. A. McInnis

School got to a good start at Rockfish last Thursday, although there is not yet a full attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Brock and family of Raeford visited Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Brock Sunday.

Mrs. C. S. Pickett and children, Ronnie and Benita Jan, spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. M. R. Knight.

Cecil McKeithan who broke his leg sometime ago is able to go to school. He still has to use crutches but hopes to be able to walk with out them soon. Cecil says he was up in a tree and asked his nephew to cut the tree down and he'd have the thrill of riding it to the ground. He thought it would feel fine and he says it did, until he hit the ground. The result was a broken leg.

Mrs. C. H. Dove spent last week visiting in Raleigh and Fuquay Springs.

William Wright had a large stalk of cotton at A. W. Wood's store this week with only one good boll on it, which goes to show somethings of what the boll weevil has done.

Circle No. 2 Galatia Women of the Church met at the home of Mrs. Willa Parker Tuesday evening with a very good attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Brock and sons, E. T. Jr. and Harold visited Mr. and Mrs. Colin Brock at St. Pauls last Friday night.

Clarence Pittman and his sisters, Mrs. George Overton and Mrs. D. L. Heithox celebrated their birthday together with a dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Pittman last Sunday.

Miss Pauline Davis of Asheboro was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Monroe and other relatives over the past week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bundy and family visited Mr. Bundy's mother, Mrs. Agnes Bundy of Cumberland Sunday. She was critically ill at that time.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Newton and daughters, Ann and Patsy, of Lakeview and Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Wood visited Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Smith at Maxton Sunday.

Mrs. Alanzo Watson and Miss Lucile Jones were visitors to the Jones home near Rockfish Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Yeargan and family of Garner and Miss Jean Boone of Raleigh were all day visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Yeargan last Sunday.

Mr. Roy Monroe of St. Pauls visited Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Wood and family Monday.

Last Tuesday evening a Stanley Party was enjoyed by friends and neighbors of Mrs. Herman Koonce at her home at Wayside. After games and contests for which prizes were given and the selection of Stanley products, the guests were served refreshments by the hostess.

Mrs. Oscar Wood was hostess at a Stanley party given at her home last Friday week at 8 p. m. Games and contests were enjoyed by the guests. After the Stanley products were shown and orders placed cokes and cookies were served by the hostess and a very pleasant time was had by all.

Mrs. Mary Anna McLean of Raeford was a Rockfish visitor last Sunday.

A. T. Jones of Fayetteville was a dinner guest of Mrs. F. P. Bethea and O. L. Townsend Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Tally and children of Winston-Salem spent Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Dees and family.

A. A. Wright visited the site of his father's home in Fort Bragg reservation last Monday. The foundation timbers of the home are still there.

Premium List For State Fair Offers $35,000 In Prizes

Raleigh, — Prizes totaling more than $35,000 are listed for the 1949 State Fair in premium books being distributed this week by Dr. J. S. Dorton, manager of the annual exposition, which will be held at the spacious fairgrounds near Raleigh, October 18 through 22.

This is the largest premium list ever offered by the State Fair and is $10,000 greater than the sum of actual awards made last year.

"We already are receiving inquiries from prospective exhibitors," Dr. Dorton said, "and all indications point to a record-breaking list of entries in all events."

R. W. Shoffner, Extension Service district farm agent, again will serve as assistant manager of the fair, Dr. Dorton announced, and general directors of exhibits will be J. Warren Smith, state director of vocational education; Dr. I. O. Schaub, Extension Service director; Dr. J. H. Hilton, director of the Experiment Station; and Cecil D. Thomas, head of the Test Farms Division of the State Department of Agriculture.

This year's program will follow the same general pattern of previous fairs. Tuesday, the opening day, will be Wake County School Day and Friday will be Young North Carolinian's Day, when school children from all over the state will have an opportunity to see the fair free.

The James E. Strates Shows will return for their second year on the midway and spectacular new performances have been booked for the grandstand show and revue through George A. Hamid. Jack Kockman's Cavalcade of Thrills, which always draws capacity crowds, has been engaged for a death-defying exhibition of dare-devil driving Wednesday afternoon of fair week. Harness races will be held Tuesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons and auto races Saturday afternoon.

A record acreage of permanent pasture, most Ladino clover and fescue or Ladino and orchard grass, will be seeded in Nash County this fall, says County Agent M. E. Hollowell.

The 1949 turkey crop in North Carolina will be about 35 per cent larger than last year.
