Tapp Sisters Are Wed In Double Ceremony At Baptist Church

MRS. ROBERT H. MORRIS MRS. JOHN D. MCPHAUL

In a double ceremony solemnized on Sunday afternoon, October 9, at 5 o'clock at the Raeford Baptist Church, Mary Frances Tapp became the bride of Sgt. Robert Harrison Morris and Emma Brooks Tapp the bride of John D. McPhaul. The brides are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. James DeWitt Tapp of Raeford. Sgt. Morris is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn G. Morris of Ontario, Oregon. Mr. McPhaul is the son of the late A. D. McPhaul and Mrs. Annie Currie McPhaul of Red Springs. The Rev. Judson Lennon, pastor of the brides, officiated.

The church was tastefully decorated for the occasion. Numerous seven-branched candelabra with cathedral tapers and floor baskets of white chrysanthemums with greenery made a pretty background for the ceremony. Pews for the family were marked with chrysanthemums tied with bows of maline.

Prior to the ceremony a program of nuptial music was presented by Henry Hodgins of Red Springs, organist, and Robert Gatlin, soloist.

Mrs. Morris was given in marriage by her father and Mrs. McPhaul by her brother, James Tapp. The brides wore identical dresses of candlelight satin fashioned with long fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline, long fitted sleeves ending in calla lily points over the wrists, and full gathered skirt which extended into a sweeping train, their only ornament being a strand of pearls. The double-tiered finger tip veils of French illusion fell from a tiara of pearlized orange blossoms. Each carried a prayerbook topped with a white orchid.

Miss Florence Sides, Mrs. Morris' maid of honor, and Mrs. Robert Veasey, Mrs. McPhaul's matron of honor, wore identical dresses of apple green taffeta faille fashioned with marquisette yoke extending to an off-shoulder cuff of matching lace, fitted bodice, full gathered skirt with slight bustle effect on each side. Each carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums and roses.

Sgt. Joseph Watson of Camp Campbell, Kentucky, was Sgt. Morris' best man and Hinton McPhaul of Raeford was best man for his brother. Ushers were Dr. Julius Jordan of Raeford, Eldred Helton of Chincoteague, Virginia, Graham McPhaul of Winston-Salem and Floyd McPhaul of Red Springs.

Immediately following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tapp, uncle and aunt of the brides. Mr. and Mrs. Tapp welcomed the guests and they were introduced to the bridal party which made up the receiving line. A bride's book in which the callers registered was kept for each couple.

Mixed flowers in pastel shades were used in the living room and all white flowers with lace ferns were used in dining room. The long table covered with a cutwork cloth was centered with a beautiful arrangement of white lilies, chrysanthemums and white gerberas.

ding were: Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Hinnant, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bartlett, all of Charlotte. Mrs. K. O. Veasey, Mr. and Mrs. H. G.
