By Mrs. A. A. McInnis.

The Mock Trial sponsored by the PTA and put on by local talent at Rockfish school house last Friday night was quite a success in every way except attendance which was not so good probably due to the fact that there are so many things happening near Christmas. Cast for the play, were Rastus (Chicken thief) Sgt. Matlock, T. C. Jones and Clarence Pittman prosecuting attorneys. Rev. D. E. Miller and Capt. Clark, attorneys for the defense. Mrs. Vernon Parsons, Rastus' wife. Mrs. M. R. Knight the girl friend, Mrs. Matlock, Rastus' mother-in-law, who was highly in favor of his conviction, the judge, B. B. Cole of Raeford, and a jury which found Rastus not guilty after much argument pro and con by the attorneys and a pretty close to murder feeling between the girl friend and the wife who went so far as to display a large knife during the trial.

The play was enjoyed very much by those present and around $27.00 was made for a movie projector for the school.
