YOU and YOUR CONGRESS

Much will be heard about the Baruch letter.

Recently the Senate's newest member, Blair Moody, Democrat of Michigan, wrote to Bernard M. Baruch to obtain the aging statesman's views on extension of the Defense Production Act (DPA), which expires June 30.

The Senate Banking Committee, of which Moody is a member, has been holding hearings on Administration proposals to extend wage, price, rent, production and certain other controls for two years under the DPA.

Baruch, who will be 81 in August and helped administer controls during both world wars, gave Moody a forthright answer this week.

Removal of economic controls now, Baruch wrote, would double or triple the cost of the mobilization program in higher taxes. He urged extension of price, wage and rent controls.

He also urged strict government economy, much higher taxes and screening of foreign aid programs to make certain they do not contribute to inflation.

The letter is bound to command wide attention in Congress.

Last July, Baruch appeared in person before the Senate Banking Committee to speak on the subject of controls.

Shortly after the fighting in Korea, President Truman asked Congress to vote controls on consumer credit and production. He did not ask for wage and price controls.

While Congress pondered controls and its Banking committees held hearings on them, prices began to rise. Congressmen began receiving letters urging controls and the volume of these increased steadily.

The Republicans were divided. Some wanted to take political advantage of the popular demand for controls. Others feared to give the President control power.

House Republican Leader Martin (Mass.) reported on July 26 a general feeling among Republicans that the President was asking for "too much power".

But on that same day, Baruch told the Senate Banking Committee that Congress should freeze all wages, prices and rents, increase taxes and ration essential goods.

More than anyone else, Baruch made up Congress' mind. Here was the man with more controls experience than any other living American. And as an eminently successful businessman and distinguished American, his recommendations would carry great weight with the public.

Five days after Baruch testified, House Speaker Rayburn (Texas) announced that President Truman would accept selective—as opposed to general—controls on a stand-by basis if Congress insisted.

Congress did—but it also insisted that the President take general instead of selective controls. Now the time is close at hand for Congress to decide anew about the DPA.

This time Congress hears very little from Mr. and Mrs. Public. No witness, including those for the Administration, has claimed that direct controls could attain any success without the use of indirect anti-inflation measures—taxation, credit restrictions and curtailment of government spending.

Business has contended that the indirect measures, if properly used, will do the job—that the direct controls merely impede production, also needed to combat inflation. The Administration denies this.

Farm Agent Reports On Weekly Check Of County's Boll Weevil

The weekly survey of cotton insect activity in Hoke County shows considerable build-up of infestation in some fields, according to E. M. Stallings, County Agent.

In eight fields checked on Monday, June 11, 19 weevils were found on 800 plants. The number per field varied from zero up to 5 per 100 plants. This shows that poisoning would be advisable in some fields and not necessary in others.

The Farm Agent makes the following recommendations at this time:

It would be advisable for each farmer to make a check of his own cotton to determine the number of weevils and the amount of damage being done and if one or more weevils are found per 100 plants and weevil injury is noted to squares or buds, then poisoning should be started immediately.

In making the check of fields for weevils move diagonally across the field and check 8 or 10 consecutive plants at each spot examined. They will be found mostly in the buds and in the squares.

Tobacco Co-op Meets June 29

Raleigh, June 11—Carl T. Hicks, Waistonburg, President of Fluerecured Tobacco Cooperative Stabilization Corporation, an organization of some 393,000 tobacco-producing stockholders, in the five fluerecured states, announced today that their annual meeting will be held this year in Pullen Hall, State College, Raleigh, at 11:00 a. m. Friday, June 29.

Hicks said that the principal speaker for this year's meeting will be Dr. Paul D. Sanders, Richmond, outstanding authority on Agriculture and Editor of THE SOUTHERN PLANTER. "We are very fortunate in having such a man who has done so much for agriculture to address us", he pointed out.

The Stabilization Corporation was set up in August of 1946, and has been in operation for the past four seasons. "During this time", Hicks said, "the membership of our organization in the five fluerecured states has been saved millions of dollars through the operation of our program."

"The outstanding feature of our Stabilization system," he pointed out, "is the fact that it is owned and operated by and for the fluerecured tobacco growers. This non-profit organization is a perfect example of what can be done when a group sets out to provide a self-sustaining program designed to overcome the problems that have confronted us down through the years."

Hicks made it clear that through Stabilization's operations, every producer of fluerecured tobacco is able to get at least 90 percent of parity for every pound of tobacco sold at auction.

He urged all members of the organization to "make every effort to attend this important meeting. We have a good program lined up for this year, and every member should try to be on hand to participate in it."

NEW MAN AT BELK'S

Rex Bullock went to work at Belk-Hensdale company this week. He is working in the men's ready-to-wear department and replaces Harold Gillis, who has accepted a position in the office at Robbins Mills. Bullock worked with Progressive Stores before coming to Belk's.

Town Fathers Drop Sewer Fee; Hike Water Rate

The town board of commissioners held a "continued" meeting Monday night to take care of business they were unable to get around to on their first meeting last week. At this meeting they discussed town finances and projects and familiarized themselves with the general situation here. They instructed the well diggers to get the material and equipment out of some non-productive wells. All members were present.

The board unanimously decided to repeal the ordinance passed January 2 which imposed a $1 monthly sewer fee on Raeford residents and at the same time increases in the water rates were passed to be effective July 1. The water rates were advanced one-third and the minimum monthly bill was raised from $1 to $2.

The board also raised the fee for tapping the town sewer system from $20 to $35 and raised the water tapping fees from $25 to $40 for three-quarter inch tap and from $35 to $50 for a one inch tap.

Commissioner J. H. Blue made a motion which was passed unanimously that garbage be placed in places more accessible to the collectors. In the past garbage collectors have gone into back yards after it.

The board approved expenses of Water Superintendent L. S. McMillan in attending a water works school in Raleigh last week. The board voted to have its regular meetings at 7:30 p. m. on the first Monday in each month.

Two Other Passengers Are Relatively Uninjured As Driver And Another Die

Two Fort Bragg soldiers, both from New York State, were killed at about 11:30 Saturday night when their 1950 Ford sedan left the Aberdeen-Laurinburg highway about a half-mile from Bob Parks' station. The car went about 330 feet in a course roughly parallel to the highway, uprooted several trees as large as four inches in diameter and turned over and came to rest pointing in the direction from which it came.

Pfc. Robert Kulback, 543 Quartermaster Bakery company, of Buffalo, N. Y., was riding on the right side in the back seat. He was thrown clear of the car and died instantly of chest injuries.

Pfc. Eugene B. Seils, 22, 520 Quartermaster Petroleum Supply Co., of Rochester, N. Y., was driving the car. He was taken to St. Joseph's hospital but died on the way from a fractured skull.

The other two occupants of the car, neither critically hurt, were Thomas R. Queller who was riding in the front seat and suffered head and body lacerations, and Pfc. Joseph M. Scoettle in the back seat, cuts on his head. Both were taken to St. Joseph's and later transferred to Fort Bragg. They are both members of the bakery company.

Coroner J. C. Lentz held inquest at 8:00 p. m. Tuesday with the following jury: Luke McFadyen, A. C. Gillis, D. H. Yarborough, Tommie Teal, C. E. Aury and Gene Powell. They found that the two died from injuries sustained in the wreck.

The two surviving soldiers said that Pfc. Seils, the driver, had not been drinking. They said they were both sleeping at the time of the accident and that they had been going from Aberdeen to Fort Bragg, so assumed that Pfc. Seils had missed the turn toward Raeford on the highway south of Aberdeen.

To Hold 4-H Club Dress Revue Today

The second and third place winners, who have made dresses will each receive several yards of dress material.

The first and second place winners in the skirt and apron contests will also receive lengths of materials for their prizes. Belk-Hensdale Company of Raeford is the donor of the six prizes of piece goods.

ARCH SANDERS HURT IN ACCIDENT TUESDAY

A. V. Sanders suffered a severe injury Tuesday morning in a logging accident. He was in the woods near his log skidder and the big log being moved went over the end of a smaller one. This threw the other end of the small log out and it hit Arch in the hip and knocked him quite a few feet. He suffered about three fractures of the pelvis and is a patient at Moore County hospital.
