

Home Agent's Narrative Report

Fourteen Home Demonstration Clubs met in Hoke County in March with 161 women present. The Arabia Club did not meet on account of the funeral of Mrs. Luther Ellis. The subject for discussion at the club meetings was

"Today's Fabrics." After reviewing some of the characteristics of the vegetable fibers—cotton and linen—and the animal fibers—wool and silk—the properties of the new man made fabrics were then discussed. Samples of nylon, orlon, dacron, dynel, vicara, and others were shown as well as some of the new finishes such as millum sanforlan, etc. Pictures of new spring clothes were cut from magazines, newspapers, and catalogs and exhibited. A training school for clothing leaders who will give the demonstration at April club meetings was held on the afternoon of March 31. The subject of the demonstration was "Achieving Distinction in Dress". Fourteen women attended the meeting.

A special interest meeting on "Corsage Making" was given on the afternoon of March 13. 45 people were present. Mrs. John Baker of the Little River club gave a demonstration on making flowers and corsages from old nylon hose, and the Home Agent discussed making corsages from other flowers and made several corsages in the demonstration. The essentials for making corsages are scissors, floratape, wire in at least two gauges—fine and coarse, flowers, foliage, and ribbon. Other materials that may be used are chenille stems, machine, corsage pins paper or cellophane collars, etc. The women were shown how to wire flowers, wrap stems with floratape, assembling them in a corsage, and how to make a ribbon bow using twisted wire around it and then twisting this same wire around the corsage. Corsages were made from carnations, camellias, chrysanthemums, violets, gladiolas, and daffodils. Lucky number were drawn and the corsages were presented to the women at the conclusion of the meeting. Samples of corsage materials which had been ordered for the demonstration were also distributed.

The Farm and Home Agents held a meeting at the Shady Grove Negro School where 38 adults and children were present. The basic seven food chart, gardens housing, and sanitation were among the things emphasized at this meeting.

The five-H Clubs met with 136 girls attending the meetings. The demonstration at the four junior clubs was on the use of the sewing machine, and the senior club girls heard a discussion on new fabrics.

The county biscuit making contest was held on Saturday morning, March 14. Judy Almond, of the Ashmont 4-H Club, was first place winner and received $10.00. Carol Everleigh of the Hoke High School Club received $5.00 as second place winner and Bobby Jean Culbreth of the Rockfish Club received the third prize of $1.00.

A mobilization committee meeting was attended in March.

Mr. W. C. Warrick, Extension Housing Specialist from State College, Raleigh, spent the morning of March 18 in the Home Agent's office. Mr. Warrick came to the county especially to confer with Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Lytle of Antioch regarding the construction of a new brick home.

Mr. and Mrs. D. R. John, of the Antioch community, received 25 Carolina dewberry plants which they planted for demonstration purposes in March. The Johns were given planting and cultural instructions and the Agent's will keep in touch with them in regard to yield, etc.

A N. C. State College study indicates that more efficient practices could increase the pork produced by a given amount of corn by 40 per cent.
