Sharp Knives In Kitchen — A sharp knife is safer than a dull knife because it cuts more efficiently and quickly without waste or strain — be sure to handle it with care. Never put the knife in the dishpan as it might give you an underwater cut.

After using knife, wash it and put it in a knife compartment. You can prevent cuts by keeping all sharp kitchen tools in their own compartments.

Opening Jars And Cans — When opening jars or bottles, be sure that you have the right type of opener. Knives should not be used.

A good can opener is one that makes a clean, smooth cut. The wall type which has a wide spread is excellent. However, to prevent bumping yourself, be sure to use the kind that can be folded back against the wall when not in use.

Broken Glass — When you've broken glass, first sweep up the largest pieces into a dustpan and then use moist cotton to pick up each tiny particle. Dispose of both the glass and the cotton by wrapping them up in heavy paper and placing in a safe disposal container. Be sure to tie the bag before disposing of it.

ARTHRITIS?

I have been wonderfully blessed in being restored to active life after being crippled in nearly every joint in my body and with muscular soreness from head to foot. I had Rheumatoid Arthritis and other forms of Rheumatism, hands deformed and my ankles were set. Limited space prohibits telling you more here but if you will write me I will reply at once and tell you how I received this wonderful relief.
