Beauty Hints For You

From

Boyd Edmunds

Lets talk about cleansing the skin this week. A question I hear frequently is, "I have dry/oily skin, should I use soap on my face?"... Unless informed by a professional, I find that most women can use a good MILD soap followed by an application of lubricant for a dry skin or pat on an astringent for an oily skin. A nice astringent can be made from a piece of cotton soaked in water and squeezed out and then dipped into a few drops of fresh lemon juice. It tones the skin and smells nice too...
