MISS LENA'S STICKIES
Mrs. Lena Heath, Riegelwood, Rt. 1, is one senior citizen who continues to influence her community. When she serves refreshments to members of her Extension Homemakers Club, you'll hear murmurs of "oh and ah."

Miss Lena made her impression on the older generation a long time ago with her homemade cinnamon rolls, better known as "Miss Lena's Stickies." And, as she continues to bake these for her grandchildren to take to school parties, she has a decided influence on them and their families. "It's this kind of tradition in a family and community that gives young people a sense of belonging and makes senior citizens feel worthwhile and useful," notes Elaine Blake, home economics Extension agent, Columbus County.

"Junk furniture can be fine furniture," notes Mrs. Betty Morgan, an Edgecombe County homemaker. Mrs. Morgan bought an old chest for a junk dealer for eight dollars with the intention of refinishing it. When she removed all the dark paint, she found the chest was solid mahogany and worth many times what she paid for it.

The chest is now a prized possession in the Morgan home. Claudia Tutterow, assistant home economics Extension Agent, suggests that anyone who needs furniture, but is on a limited budget, could save money by refinishing old furniture.

"Who knows," the agent added, "you may stumble on a 'gold mine' as Mrs. Morgan did." Two out of three homemakers in Tyrrell County were not getting adequate amounts of milk each day, according to a recent survey.

So Mrs. Frances Voliva, associate home economics Extension agent, conducted a special foods and nutrition class emphasizing the value of milk in the diet. Adults need two or more glasses of milk each day, the agent adds.

A Cumberland County 4-H'er believes you can save money by sewing "your own things." Doris Autry, Stedman, began her sewing career at age five by making doll clothes. She began sewing for herself at age 11.

Also, Doris has shown a gradual increase in the number of garments made, from two in 1964 to 57 in 1969. Over the five years she's been sewing, Doris made 148 garments at a total cost of $453.64. She estimated her total savings at $910.21, Mrs. Mavis G. Johnson, home economics Extension agent, notes.

Sometimes we, as mothers, take too much for granted; especially when it comes to daughters learning home economics skills. Here's an example. At a cooking class held for 10-year-olds in Richmond County, it was discovered that a young girl did not know how to peel or cut up an onion.

NO SUCH THING AS UGLY
There is no such thing as an ugly girl. There are only girls who don't know how to be beautiful.

So members of Richmond County's 4-H Clubs attended a series of charm classes that would help them make the most of their appearance, says Martha B. Adams, home economics Extension agent. In listing things they had learned that would be helpful, how to apply make-up appeared first. How to walk, sit and stand, came in second followed by building a wardrobe around a basic color, choosing a becoming hair style and selecting becoming colors.

SEWING TIP
Use of elastic is important in the 1970 spring and summer fashion scene. Fashion dictates its use for waistbands, necklines, wristbands and around midriffs, points out Mrs. Sandra Brown, Extension home economics agent, Washington County.

A simple technique that will eliminate twisting and rolling of elastic inside the casing is this: distribute fullness evenly after inserting elastic. Then from the right side "ditch stitch," sewing by machine along the line of each seam, starting at the top and ending at lower edge of casing.

With the elastic held at center front, center back and each side seam it cannot twist.

MAKES TIES
Mrs. Clyde Walker of the Caldwell Community, Orange County, doesn't let the price tag bother her; at least not when it comes to men's ties.

She takes the old broad ties of several years ago, rips them apart, cuts a pattern, and presto. Her husband has fashionable ties at a fraction of the cost.

His friends never guess: they only admire, Mrs. Fonnore J. Gore home economics Extension agent, observes.
