

Picture Story Of Booster Club Banquet

DOUBLE BASKETBALL AWARD - Two players were honored this year as Most Valuable Player in basketball. Jeff McNeill (left), basketball coach Larry Phillips and Joseph Bridges, (right) display their trophies. Phillips basketball was autographed by the members of the basketball team.

GUEST SPEAKER - Homer Rice, athletic director at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, was the principal speaker at the Booster Club's annual Athletic Awards Banquet held last Friday at Hoke High cafeteria.

BASEBALL - Most Valuable Player award in baseball was presented to Bobo Mooney by baseball coach Jim Danks.

ALL-AROUND AWARD - Coach John Pecora presents Johnny Hottel with a trophy as Most Outstanding for All Sports. Hottel played football, basketball and baseball this season.

TRACK - Coach Glen Langdon presents the Most Valuable Player award in track to Joseph Bridges.

GOLF - Most Valuable Player award in golf went to Bill Lentz, (left) shown receiving his trophy from golf coach Larry Phillips.

COACH'S AWARD - The Coach's Award for baseball went to Tim Hawks, Bucks pitcher who pitched a no-litter against Daim this season. Coach Jim Danks presents the award.

TENNIS - The Most Valuable Player award for tennis was presented to Eugene Monroe by tennis coach Ben Johnson at the Booster Club awards banquet last Friday night.

SPECIAL HONOR - Hoke High principal Raz Astry was presented an award as "Number One Principal" by Charlie Hottel (right) president of the Booster Club.

WRESTLING - Most Valuable Wrestler award was presented to Richard Davis by wrestling coach Billy Colston.

FOOTBALL - Best Blocker award was presented to football player Bill McNeill (right) by head coach John Pecora.