Three Former 4-H Club Students Work At Camp

Three former Hoke County 4-H Club members will be working in 4-H camps this summer. They are Pam Heath, Betty Pope and Dale Jones.

Pam Heath, a former Rockfish Senior 4-H Club member, will be recreational and a second time for the Recruitment Award.

Betty was active in the demonstration area, giving them in electric, clothing, and soil and water conservation and winning recognition on county and district level.

Other awards that Betty received during her 4-H career were: achievement award (three years), electric recruitment award, key award, home economics award, and I Dare You Award, and Citizenship Shortcourse Delegate to Washington, D.C. She was also Health Queen.

Betty attended camp several years as a camper and one summer as a leader. Many times she returned from camp with awards. She also attended N.C. 4-H Congress at North Carolina State University several years.

Betty worked on the PACE program in the County Extension Office during the summer of 1968. She held workshops in clothing and electricity.

Pam Heath

leader at Millstone 4-H Camp. Pam was a 4-H'er in Hoke County for six years. She will be a sophomore next year at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro majoring in Music.

Some of Pam's major projects were: clothing, home improvement, home beautification, electric, junior leadership, and foods and nutrition. She was a winner in all of these projects. In the clothing project she was a winner in the Dress Revue and was County Demonstration winner. She also gave demonstrations in the electric area and attended 4-H Electric Congress (an expense paid trip) as a result of being selected as County Electric project winner.

Other awards that Pam received were: Key Award, I Dare You Award, and Delegate to Citizenship Shortcourse in Washington, D.C.

She served varied offices in her local club. She also attended 4-H Camp and N.C. 4-H Congress at North Carolina State University several years.

Betty Pope, a former Sunset 4-H Club member, will be at Swannanoa 4-H Camp as Water Front instructor. Betty was a 4-H'er in Hoke County for eight years. She will be a senior next year at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro majoring in Physical Education.

Some of Betty's major 4-H projects have been: food conservation, electric, clothing, canning, and junior leadership. Betty was a county winner in all these. She was clothing winner for four years, participating in county, district, and state competition; junior leadership winner for two years, and electric two years. Betty attended N.C. Electric Congress two years (expense paid), one as county winner

The Cooperative Distributive Education class has closed out the school year earning a total of $31,391.19 and working over 22,756 hours. One of the D.E. students will win a fifty dollar educational scholarship which will be announced awards day, June 3.

Also, these graduating seniors have planned for a five year fund raising project. In 1971, the students will send the school $100 representing the first year, $200 for the second year, $300 for the third year and so on until each student will have contributed $15.00 at the end of the fifth year. This is a pledge of $300.00 which will go to a D.E. student to further his education. Along with this plan, a newsletter will be sent throughout the five years after graduation. This is to keep in contact with those who have left and to let all of them know what's happening where.

This year's earnings and hours are balanced down as follows representing nineteen business establishments here in Raeford:

Jimmy Allen, Tex-Elastic, 900, $1,810.80; Mickey Beasley, Raeford Medical Center, 1012, $1,337.10; Johnny Boyles, Raeford's A&P, 1026, $1,904.50; Jerry Butler, Traveler's Station, 1644, $1,654.25; David Crouch, Harding Farms, 585, $953.91; Gail Ellis, Belk's Dept. Store, 725, $1,194.25; Dennis Floyd, Robbin Heights Groc., 991, $1,126.62; Linda Hayes, Pope's Dollar Store, 662, $717.30; Mike Harrell, Cob's Grocery, 995, $955.00; Clyde Hendrix, Red Springs Mills, 1608, $2,684.28.

Odell Jackson, Mid-South Vending, 1859, $3,525.62; Kenneth Klutz, Burlington Indus., 1530, $3,096.51;

A CITY NO-NO - Although the city began May 1 enforcing its parking ordinance prohibiting parking with the driver's side to the curb, some drivers still haven't gotten the message. City Patrolman Leonard Wiggins hands out a ticket to an unwary motorist on Ewood Street.
