

Bucks Prepare For Battle With Cape Fear Colts Fri.

The Bucks are expecting a tough opponent when they meet the Cape Fear Colts tomorrow night at Cape Fear. "Cape Fear has a good ball club," Head Coach John Pecora said. "They got most of their players back this year and we didn't. Most of our boys are new and this game will be a test to see if they can play varsity ball."

Cape Fear is expected to be a contender for the Pioneer Conference title.

Coach Pecora said he plans to use a two unit system, however, his starting line-up is still unsettled.

His most likely pick for the offensive unit will be Russell Davis at right end, Rusty Mabe at right tackle and Don Williamson at right guard.

Kenneth Hendrix is a likely candidate for center, he said

Tom Howell and David Wood will both see action as quarterbacks. Howell played the first three games of the season last year and then was sidelined for the rest of the year with an injury.

Coach Pecora named as probable starters, Tim Hawkes at halfback, Robert Rucker fullback and Cecil Campbell at wingback.

For the defensive unit, Coach Pecora listed these players as probable starters: Danny McGougan, end; Rusty Mabe, tackle; James Rogers, guard; Earl McQueen, tackle and Russell Davis, end.

Linebackers will include David Matherly, Cecil Campbell and Bruce Morrison.

Mark Heath, James McLeod and Marty Jones will probably be used as defensive halfbacks and Tom Howell is slated for safety.

About 45 boys came out for the varsity team this year, leaving plenty of depth behind the starting line-up. Injuries have temporarily sidelined two players with William Wood out for the first game with a turned ankle and Frank Williamson out indefinitely with an injured arm, Coach Pecora said.

Kick-off against the Colts will be at 8 P.M. Raeford will play the first two games away from home against Cape Fear and Rockingham and then meet Lumberton in the first home game on Sept. 18.

Social Security News

Women workers under Social Security often wonder, "Of what advantage is Social Security to me, since my husband works and I could qualify on his record?"

There are many advantages to the women who has worked under Social Security, in addition to those to be derived from her husband's work record. The three basic considerations are these:

1. In the event of the death of a woman worker, Social Security will make monthly Social Security payments to her minor children, a disabled child or any of her children who are between ages of 18 and 22 and who are full-time students. These payments are made despite the fact that prior to her death her husband was supporting the children.

2. If the woman worker becomes disabled, she may qualify for monthly disability benefits and there would be supplemental payments for any qualified children as explained in 1. above. These payments are also made despite the fact that the husband is in the household and able to support his wife and their children.

3. Both men and women may elect to receive retirement benefits from Social Security at age 62. However, in the case of the woman worker who has worked fairly regularly up to age 62, she would be entitled to a larger payment of her own record than she could get as a wife on her husband's account.

Also, in the case of the deceased woman worker, there is always a lump sum death payment which is payable to her surviving "living with" widower or to whoever has paid or is responsible for her burial expenses.

For further information on this subject, call the Fayetteville Social Security office at 483-2661.

Dog Training Classes Start Thursday

Is your DOG ready for school?

Canine College will begin classes in dog obedience training Thursday, Sept. 10, at 7:30 p.m. at the tennis courts in Southern Pines. Instructing the 10 week course will be Judy Shackleford, of Fayetteville, who has been exhibiting and training dogs since 1954.

According to Mrs. Shackleford, "Dogs are fun. They are entertaining, protective and their companionship replaces loneliness with love. But few people gain true enjoyment from their dog because they are unable to communicate with them. Obedience training teaches owners how to control their pets by means of the dog's natural desire to please his master. When a dog has learned the basic commands, heel, sit, down, come and stay, the owner has also learned the invaluable lesson of communication with his dog. The results provide a greater companionship between owner and his pet, and to this belief, obedience training is dedicated."

Classes will be limited to 20 dogs, preferably 6 months old or older, with no maximum limit on age. Large dogs, such as Shepherds and Great Danes can begin their training as early as 4 1/2 months.

The instructor, along with her husband, Leon Shackleford, are founders and directors of the Cape Fear Dog Training Club in Fayetteville. An official American Kennel Club licensed Obedience Trail will be held in the Fayetteville National Guard Armory, Sunday, Sept. 27 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The Shacklefords have exhibited extensively in breed shows and Obedience Trials and frequently entertain with their own dog, a Golden Retriever, a Shetland Sheepdog, and a parti-color Cocker Spaniel.

Mrs. Shackleford received the Dog Award for Outstanding Service to dogs in 1968 and is a member of the National Association of Dog Obedience Instructors as well as the Dog Obedience Instructors and Trainers Association. Dogs owned by the Shacklefords have earned 9 obedience degrees from the AKC.

For further information concerning the classes contact Mrs. D.B. Grady in Southern Pines, 692-3942, or Mrs. Shackleford in Fayetteville, 484-206.

4-H Counselors Describe Summer Of Work-Fun

By Pam Heath

"4-H camping in North Carolina is an educational experience in co-operative group living, study, play and worship in an outdoor setting under the supervision of trained leadership. It utilizes the resources of natural surroundings to contribute to mental, physical, social, and spiritual growth as expressed in the 4-H Club pledge. It is sponsored by the North Carolina Agricultural Extension Service."

This summer I had the opportunity to work as a counselor-instructor at one of the state's six 4-H camps. Millstone 4-H Camp is located about fifteen miles from Rockingham on a state wildlife refuge. The 450-acre camp got its name from the millstones that were cut from large granite boulders found around the camp. The 18-acre camp lake provides enjoyable waterfront activities including swimming and canoeing.

Classes were taught in swimming, handicraft, wildlife, electricity, and recreation. I taught the recreation class. The purpose of my class was to create and instill in the campers an appreciation of music, laughter, games, dances, and to encourage potentials and leadership capabilities. Usually I taught one day of landsports and archery, two days of modern square dancing, and one day of social and folk dance.

But I had more responsibilities than recreation instructor. The camp staff was responsible for supervising clean-up duties, assisting in all activities, promoting enthusiasm, and most important, setting a good example.

It was truly a unique experience. I learned to be everything from a plumber to an understanding big sister for many of the campers. There are many of the more than one thousand 4-H'ers I met and many priceless experiences that I will never forget.

By Dale Jones

Working at camp this year was the most rewarding summer that anyone could have wanted. I met many campers from across the state and made many "life-time" friends.

I had always been scared to death of snakes because I was ignorant of the importance of snakes. Most campers were also scared to death of snakes but they would fight for position to see a snake when we went on a field trip. This year I learned to really respect snakes and their importance. People have a real terror of snakes as I found out at camp but in the last ten years only two people have been killed by snake bites in North Carolina. Bee stings have killed many more than snake bites. Working last year at the Extension Office helped me this year at camp with identification of trees and plants. I have been offered a job next year at the state parks because of my experience at camp in wildlife this summer. I had many rewarding experiences this summer and I would encourage anyone to work at a camp but it is different than any 8 to 5 job.

By Betty Pope

When I was asked to tell of my experiences as being a counselor at 4-H camp many things came to mind. Some of these cannot be expressed in words and others can. The first thing is all the people I met from this state and even

Woman Hurt In Wreck

A woman was injured in a one-car accident on the Red Springs-Duffy road Monday evening when she lost control of her car and overturned in a ditch.

Mrs. Liddy Hunt Bell, of Red Springs, was taken to Southeastern General Hospital with lacerations requiring stitches. Highway Patrolman Kenneth Weston said.

The accident occurred when Mrs. Bell rounded a curve just inside the Hoke County line and ran onto the right shoulder of the road, he said. She lost control of the vehicle, crossed the road, skidding 297 feet before her car turned over for another 37 feet and came to rest upside down in the ditch.

Mrs. Bell was charged with exceeding a safe speed.

Farm Items

By W. S. YOUNG, COUNTY EXTENSION CHAIRMAN

Corn affected with Southern Leaf Blight and intended for grain should be harvested as soon as possible to prevent excessive lodging, or losses and possible development of other molds on the dead affected tissue which may develop in the grain. It is recommended that the moisture content be below 25%, if possible and the stored corn be dried down to 14%. If the moisture is higher than this figure it should be dried in a batch dryer, continuous flow dryer or commercial drying equipment. Corn with this high moisture will tend to stick together and block the air in layer drying.

The corn should be checked several times after it is stored to see if it is keeping properly and that no hot spots are starting. It is most important that you look after what you harvest since the price of corn will be high.

During the month of September, azaleas can be rooted from cuttings of mature growth. Use a box about 12 inches deep; remove the bottom and replace with hardware cloth. Fill with clean, sharp sand to within two inches of the top, soak sand. Make each cutting 3-4 inches long. Select tip growth with well developed shoot buds. Remove the lower leaves leaving about 3-5 at tip. Slope the base cutting 1/2 inch long and dip base in root-inducing hormone.

Take care of the plants during the winter after the roots are started.

If you desire larger better-formed camellia blooms, you should remove some flower buds as soon as you can distinguish the pointed leaf buds from the rounded flower buds. In many varieties, flower buds appear in clusters; remove the smaller ones, leaving the largest to develop into a bloom. Of course, if you prefer a mass of camellias at blooming time-remove no buds. Blooms will be smaller, often ill-formed, but the plant will be doaked in color.

Also to induce camellia blooms to mature earlier, now is the time to begin using gibberellic acid.

Tuesday August 25th was a day filled with excitement and regret as the summer officially ended and another school year began.

Weekly Health Tip

From Mike Wood, R. Ph.

At night, pedestrians and bicyclists should definitely wear white or light-colored clothing which can be seen by an approaching motorist. You can see his headlights, but the driver often cannot see you in time to avoid a collision. Light colored trousers or skirts are especially important for night pedestrians as headlights are aimed rather low.
