Boyfriend Seeks Advice In Seducing Young Girl

Dear Mrs. Riggsbee:

I am 18 years old and I have been going with this 16 year old girl for a year. We haven't had sexual intercourse yet. She says she loves me, but does not want to have sexual contact. Everytime we are alone, I make continuous attempts, but she always stops me and I am getting tired of it.

Can you tell me a way to change her mind? If you have a pamphlet on the "Hot Spots" of a woman, would you please send it to me. I would appreciate it very much and I think it might help my problem.

Mr. C.

PREGNANCY PLANNING AND HEALTH

Dear Mrs. F.:

As your doctor has told you, no one can guarantee that you won't get pregnant. Ordinarily, doctors advise women to continue to use birth control for at least one year or as much as two years after their last period (even if that last period was very short and lasted only a day or two). In your case, since you did have a normal period after a 13 month absence of menstruation, you probably should figure on using a reliable method of birth control for another 12 months. If nothing else happens, this will mean you will have gone a full 18 months without a period and you should be safe after that time. As I am sure you know, it is very important that you continue to see your doctor for a physical examination and a pap smear at least once a year even after you have gone through your change of life (menopause).

DECA News

By Donald D. Steed

This past Monday, the 1971 Distributive Education Conference began at St. Andrews College in Laurinburg. The one week conference is attended by all 238 D.E. teachers in the state.

On Monday, the nine Board of Governors met, along with the nine district chairmen. North Carolina is divided into nine districts, each having one governor and one district chairman. This year Hoke County's D.E. coordinator, Don Steed, will represent District IV as governor.

All coordinators met Tuesday morning in the teachers' auditorium for a general session and welcome. New coordinators were introduced and the group dispersed into their own districts for general instructions. Each teacher will have an opportunity to attend five sessions of three hours each on a topic of their choice. The first of these sessions began Tuesday afternoon, two on Wednesday, and the final two on Thursday. Those coordinators who spent the night at the college had time to visit and talk with representatives of instructional materials and equipment companies.

Wednesday night was set aside as "D.E. sports a go-go." Each district competes with the others for total points won in each sporting event. Points are awarded from winner to fourth runner-up. Last year District IV won in which Hoke County is a member. The events include ping pong, tennis, bowling, handball, golf, pool, fishing, and badminton.

Thursday night is set aside for the annual coordinators' banquet. All wives are invited along with local directors of occupational education and superintendents who wish to attend.

On Friday, the districts meet separately to fill out all necessary information for the coming year and to receive all new materials for the DECA club.

This year T. Carl Brown, chief consultant of Distributive Education in North Carolina, was elected President of the American Vocational Association. He has taken a leave of absence to work in Washington, D.C. in this position as consultant to all vocational programs in the United States. Last year, Mr. Brown taught an in-service program to all coordinators in District IV at Hoke High School.

Insurance Competition

NEW YORK - More than 3,000 companies sell some or all forms of property and liability insurance, such as fire and automobile insurance, reports the Insurance Information Institute. The majority of such insurance, however, is provided by about 900 companies which operate in all or most states.

For "rescue breathing": Clear victim's throat of water, mucus, food. Tilt head back to open the air passage. Hold jaw in jutting-out position. Pinch nostrils to prevent air leakage unless victim is a child. Blow into mouth (and nose, if victim is a small child) until you see the chest lift. Remove your mouth; listen for air return from victim's lungs. Repeat about 12 times a minute for an adult, about 20 times a minute for a child.
