Harold Gillis, chairman of the Raeford Kiwanis Club pancake supper, was by the office recently and asks that we remind the public of this annual affair. The supper will be held at the Gibson School cafeteria on Thursday, December 2, starting at 4:30 p.m. Pancakes will be served as long as anyone shows up and wants to eat. The proceeds are used by the club for many of their projects. Tickets can be secured from any member of the club.

The United Fund drive will get underway next week and the directors hope that everyone will do their part so that the drive will come to an end soon. We will have further details next week.

The Hoke High Bucks played one of the best games ever played by a Buck team last Friday night against Seventy -First. We suspect that the article in the Fayetteville Observer fired the boys up somewhat. Many times when a player reads that another team will run over them, they seem to find a little something extra for that game. We hope that something will get them fired up for the game against Havelock.

We decided to go by two of our favorite spots in Raeford and inquire about the outcome of the Bucks - Rams game. At first we stopped in at Scott Poole's office and asked for the prediction there. The prediction was that the Bucks would win. No score was given. Our next stop was at the Raeford Savings and Loan Association and we asked for a prediction from that group. The group predicted the Bucks will win, if they play as well as they did against Seventy - First.

As we stated last week: Time will tell!

We want to thank Eugene Smith, editor of the Havelock Progress, for the article on the Havelock Rams. Gene is a native of Hoke County and graduated at Hoke High and received his degree at East Carolina (Note Smith, I did not say ECTC). He worked for The News Journal before going to Havelock and was known here as the champ for wrapping singles. Frank Teal stated that Smith Was manager or water boy for the Hoke High Bucks during his high school days. He also mentioned about an incident of Smith locking himself in the dressing room. Maybe Gene will relate the incident to me in the future. In Gene's article he also tells how to get to the stadium at Havelock. How Smith found out where Raz Autry was born, we don't know. We do know that Raz and Gene went to East Carolina.

 Smith didn't state in his article who he thought would win or who he was pulling for.

All we can say is that may the best team win.

t Havelock

Bucks To Play

The Bucks will meet the Havelock Rams Friday night at Havelock in the semifinal round of the Eastern 3-A play-offs.

Raeford downed Seventy - First last week 20-0 in the first step toward the championship

If Hoke defeates the Rams, they will meet the winner of the Roxboro -Northeastern (Elizabeth City) game in Raeford next week. Last year the Bucks fell to Roxboro in the first game of the play-offs and then the Rockets were defeated by Seventy - First.

Several chartered buses are expected to be filled with Bucks fans bound for Havelock Friday night. The Havelock team sports an 11-0 record for the season and has allowed only six points against them. The Bucks have a 9-2 record for the year.

Record Star To Perform

Havelock Rams Boast Powerful Ground Attack

(Editor's Note: Gene Smith, editor of the Havelock Progress is a native of Bowmore and graduated from Hoke County High School and East Carolina University.)

By Gene Smith

Editor Havelock Progress Sam Morris, it's true, the Yes. Havelock Rams still wear leather helmets. Until last season the Rams played barefooted, a 4 - 6 record that year due to the newness of the store - bought things. This year however, the players have boot an 11-0 adjusted to their shoes and sport an 11-0 record, including last Friday's stunning 23-0 whitewash of Dunn. This victory was possibly the sweetest of all because it served as convincing notice to many disbelievers who thought the Ram's record was suspect: a winner of a new, weak conference and whose 10-0 mark was fattened on smaller 2-A schools. Hoke Buck was fattened on the basis of weaker.

Raeford Hoke Buck tans understandably weren't in Dunn Friday night. What they would have seen was a powerful ground attack roll, relentlessly but steadily, over Dunn's vaulted defense. They would have seen the Rams' tough defense choke off Dunn's hard - running attack, limiting them to 38 yards net from scrimmage and only four of passes for 27 more yards.

The Bucks' scouting report might well add the footnote. "typical of football played by the Rams under Coach Frank Ciamillo this year." The Rams do not run a balanced attack, they choose the run over the pass. They combine the explosiveness of a pair of talented halfbacks with the relentless drive of their fullback.

As much as the Rams' fans applaud and appreciate their offense, 441 points games, they have come to worship the effort of the defensive unit. Operating on a basis 4-4-2-1 system they have teamed together to permit only one score, a six pointer, in 11 games, have held nine foes to less than 100 yards rushing, picked off 22 enemy passes and recovered 25 other - team fumbles. They have scored 16 TDs of their own on punt returns. pass interceptions. fumble recoveries and blocked punts.

It hasn't always been this way. As do the Bucks, they know the frustration of being on the opposite end of the scales. Three years ago they were 1-9 when some of the present seniors played as freshmen. Then came a 2-8 season and after that came Frank Ciamillo.

The Yankee from Long Island NY via Elon College and five years as an assistant in Rocky Mount, Va., came to Havelock in 1970. He inherited a team with a bad loser's complex and complete frustration. He instilled his brand of AUTHORITY tough practices and asked for perfect conditioning and complete dedication. The first year was 4-6.

This year he and his two assistants. Lou Bunn from Campbell College and Wilbur Sasser from East Carolina (they no longer call it ECTC. Sam) installed the · option. triple Results was the 10-0 mark in regular play, a pair of equally balanced offense defense units and the happiness of seeing losers experience the thrill of being a winner.

The Rams are basically a senior team, with 22 on the 34 man squad. The offense features eight seniors, two juniors and a sophomore. On defense, eight of the 11 are seniors, three are juniors.

Nineteen different players form the first 22. Two see double duty in the backfield, another does, or does not, as the conditions warrant it. go two ways in

The offense is led by 5-10, 160 pound quarterback Jim Dargan. Dargan runs the option with near - perfection, waiting until the last fraction of a second to make the decision to keep or flip away. He and Ciamillo, as does the team, have confidence in his passing. It was a weapon used in the past four games to insure victory.

Dargan in 11 games rushed 53 times. netted 297 yards for a fraction under six yards per try.

The running backs blend perfectly junior Vince Allen, 5-8, 160 is the explosion (19 TDs, 2 called back, all coming in a variety of ways: long and shorter breakers from scrimmage punt returns and pass interceptions). Senior halfback Garland Frazier is the rock steady performer. He is 6-0, 165 pounds. squad's fastest and most frustrated 13 TDs and seven called back. Fullback Randy Merritt. 5-9, 185 pounds, came into his own in the past two games. tough, power running in the second half against Jones County and Dunn to maintain ball control and insure each victory. He has 8 TDs.

Allen has 100 snaps and 814 yards. Frazier 88 for 734 and Merritt 127 for 668 yards. Not many carries for 11 games but then none saw offensive action in any game once the Rams opened a four touchdown lead.

Junior Doug Barnard, 5-11, 170 and sophomore Tim Johnson, 6-0, 175, fill the end positions, blocking or pass receptions equally. Cary Godette, 5-10, 200 and Larry Lundy, 6-3, 220, anchor the tackles, Don Nolon, 5-9, 170 and Mike Osterhus, 5-8, 170 are the guards and Rick Manson, 5-9, 170 is over the ball ball

The defense features Godette at one end. Johnny Carter, 6-1, 180 at the other The inside muscle is adequately filled by Lundy and Bruce Edwards, 5-10, 225 pounds at tackles.

Keying the linebackers is tough dedicated Lou King, 6-1, 200 pounds Almost equal with him are 5.9, 170 John Torcaso and 6-0, 165 Steve Clemenic and 1 shade behind is John Zuaboni, 5-9, 180 Zuaboni is a jumor, the other three are sentors

Allen is at corner - back along with junior Eric Brown, a fleet 5-10, 155 pounder. Frazier plays free safety. Allen and Brown have plucked off six enemy passes each. King has three.
