Fire Prevention Week is October 8-14. Fire costs of $2.7 billion dollars was encountered this last year. The terrible cost was in lives lost, as 11,850 victims were counted. About one-fourth of these were children. These are heavy costs to pay for an act of negligence or ignorance. Through knowledge and care, destructive fires can be virtually eliminated.

Simple rules of safety are often violated, such as smoking in bed, leaving children alone and neglecting to teach youngsters that matches and lighters are not play things. Families should plan escape routes and practice fire drills to assume that the kids can get out. Soy bean producers that are planning to save their planting seeds or planning to sell seed to other farmers should plan for this at harvest time. 1. You should clean up combines, trucks, bins and conveying equipment. Variety purity is a must if you sell beans. 2. Harvest the beans at 14-16% moisture so you will not crack the beans. You then must dry them at 11% for storage. Heat should never get above 110°F. 3. Harvest at an average speed of 2 1/2 to 3 mph. Adjust your equipment according to instructions in the manual. 4. Reduce the number of times that seeds are to be moved. 5. Label each storage bin as to variety and field. Good care can assure you of a high germination of seed beans next spring.
