WINNING WRITERS—Frances McLean and Kay Thomas display award certificates for creative writing earned at the district fine arts festival of the N.C. Federation of Women's Clubs.

Crafts Earn Top Honors

Raeford clubwomen brought back awards from the district contest and earned a spot at the state arts festival to be held in Winston-Salem March 22.
Winners from Raeford Woman's Club and Raeford Junior Woman's Club took top honors in writing, crafts, and sewing.
In the creative writing division, Frances McLean won first place for her skit and her lyric poem. Kay Thomas took a first for a newspaper article and earned a white ribbon with her essay.
In crafts, Helen Clark took a blue ribbon with her plastic figures, while Mrs. Thomas earned a blue for her needlepoint on a blank canvas and a white for needlepoint on a stamped canvas.

Rosa Morrison won a red ribbon for pattern crochet and Katie McLeod took a red for her decoupage project. They are RWC members. RJWC winners included Wilna Lovett, who won a blue ribbon in sewing for her pants suit.

Top craft winners were Brenda Edwards in nature craft with an ecology box, Karen Thompson in paper craft with nesting bowls constructed from Christmas cards and Rhenda Cameron for her letter box in the decorative painting on metal class.

Male Cooks Can Win

A "father's only" cooking contest will be held April 19 at the Edenborough Shopping Center parking lot.

The winner will earn a $25 award, donated by Farm Chemical Service. A state top prize, to be earned at a cook-off at the state fair, is $300.

The recipe entry must feature beef and cooks must provide their own grill.

fuel, table and table setting. Phil Ricks, county assistant farm agent said.

Entries must be in to the sponsoring CowBelle Association in Raleigh by March 15.

Entries may be obtained at the county extension office or at Home Food, Marks or Harrells grocery stores. For further information, contact Ricks or Brenda Canady, assistant home agent.
