4-H Congress Begins July 21 In Raleigh

Tar Heel 4-H members, ages 13 and 19, will have an opportunity to participate in a tight schedule of contests, discussions, recreation and fellowship during N.C. 4-H Congress, July 21-25.

The event will be held at North Carolina State University in Raleigh with the night assemblies and the Wednesday morning assembly at the Scott Pavilion at the State Fairgrounds.

N.C. 4-H Congress climaxes the year's work in 4-H for the delegates, according to Brenda A. Canady, Assoc. Home Ec. Agent.

Some 35 contests will be held throughout the week to pick state winners. These winners receive awards ranging from luggage, watches and savings bonds to expense - paid trips to National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Mrs. Canady said.

Other highlights during the week include a pageant tracing the history of 4-H work, a bicentennial costume dance, 'rap' sessions and classes, and the election of state 4-H council officers.

The registration fee for the congress is $25 which does not include meals. Transportation will be arranged through the County Agricultural Extension Service Office.

The deadline for application is Monday July 14.

WHOOFS, WRONG BUTTON - The state highway department arrived Tuesday morning to paint the lane markings for one-way Elwood Avenue and about six feet of yellow paint was put down before a worker realized he pushed the wrong button. A red-faced foreman said the yellow paint would have to dry before it could be fixed.
