Write For Free Emergency Chart

How would you handle a serious injury or illness? Anyone can panic. Those who do panic usually do so because they're caught unprepared. Yet, with a bit of foreknowledge and forethought, you can react to an emergency as calmly as an expert.

To guide you in an emergency situation, we've prepared a "First Aid In The Home" Chart to instruct you what to do in case of poisoning, bleeding, burns, scalds, shock, broken bones, eye contamination or artificial respiration. Just send your request to our Clipping Service, c/o our drug store, Box 5051, Raleigh, NC 27607. Include a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

It's my suggestion to get the whole family together to read aloud and study this Chart. You never know when such planning might pay off.

Church Honors Pastor

Rev. J. W. Gorham

Shady Grove Baptist Church near Wagram was the setting last Sunday, for the first Anniversary of its pastor, the Rev. J.W. Gorham.

He was presented a red carnation by Mrs. Jessie B. Dupree, while Mrs. Gorham, formerly Miss Bernice McPhatter of Wagram, was presented a matching corsage.

Featured on the program were several ministers and their choirs from the surrounding areas.

At the close of the program, Rev. Gorham, along with his family, was presented a check as a token of the church's appreciation for its continuous growth under his leadership.

The program was presented by the missionary Department with Mrs. Georgia McDonald as mistress of ceremonies.

The Missionary Department thanked everyone who helped to make this program possible.

Orientation Classes Set

Sandhills Community College will welcome new students with special orientation sessions designed to acquaint new students with all phases of campus life at Sandhills, Charles Yarbrough, dean of students affairs said.

For students enrolled in daytime classes for the 1975 fall term there is a special period scheduled Wednesday, August 20 from 6:30-9 p.m. in the student hall.

Orientation for students enrolled in evening classes will be held Wednesday, September 3 from 6-7:30 p.m. in the Lecture Hall in the Administration Building. Students will register for evening classes following the orientation
