BROWN RICE

This fall, add a new touch to your turkey dinners - and surprise your family - by stuffing your turkey with brown rice.

For with its nut-like flavor and slightly chewy texture, brown rice is sure to make your stuffing memorable.

And, as an added bonus, brown rice contains more nutrients than the regular milled white rice that most consumers buy.

When shopping for brown rice, you may do well to choose rice in a package with a "see through" cellophane window or in a clear plastic bag.

Check to see if the color is bright and uniform - a mark of high quality. Look for whole kernels. Rice with a lot of broken kernels will not cook evenly. And check for the number of defective kernels.

If you are thinking of using brown rice for stuffing, it's best to buy short or medium grain rice. Both short grain and medium rice cook moist and tender and the kernels cling together - and that's ideal for turkey stuffing.

TURKEY TALK

With the harvest festival of holiday foods on the market, it's time to talk turkey. For golden roasted turkey has been satisfying

American appetites on national holidays since the days of the Pilgrims.

So if you buy turkey for the holidays - or any time - here's something you'll want to keep in mind.

There are two things to look for when buying turkey - the grade and the age.

Highest quality birds are graded U.S. Grade A. That means that the turkey is fully fleshed and meaty - well finished and attractive in appearance. Grade B birds may be less attractive and not as meaty.

But the grade of turkey does not indicate how tender the bird is. For tenderness, check the class or age of the bird. Young, tender-meated classes are most suitable for frying, broiling or roasting. Young turkeys may be labeled - young turkey, fryer-roaster, young hen or young tom.

The mature, less tender meated classes may be preferred for stewing, baking, soups and salads. Mature turkeys may be labeled - mature turkey, yearling turkey, or old turkey.

So, no matter what your choice - select turkey often.

Thermometer in Thigh

Roast turkey in a 325 degrees F. oven to either of the following temperatures; non-stuffed turkey - 180 degrees F. Stuffed turkey - 185 degrees F. in the inner thigh so center of stuffing is 165 degrees F. Continuously, while turkey meat temperature is in the range of 50 degrees to 165 degrees F. If roasting is interrupted, a total elapsed time should never exceed 4 hours.

Rate of cooking is affected by turkey meat, temperature, amount of fat, thickness of meat, size of turkey and oven temperature. Thawed turkey roasts in a shorter time.

Stars, Masons Gather

Contributed by Mary Jo Lovette

November 15, 1975, 8:00 P.M., Raeford Chapter No. 226, Order of the Eastern Star honored the Masons of Raeford Lodge No. 306, A.F. & A.M. and their wives at the Masonic Lodge. Approximately 50 people were in attendance.

The program was opened with the Lord's Prayer in unison.

The Worthy Patron, Hinton McPhaul, led the group in the Pledge of Allegiance to the United States Flag. Afterwards, all joined in singing our National Anthem.

The Worthy Matron, Frances Ward Greene, welcomed everyone. Master of the Lodge, Alfred Long, Jr., and Mrs. Long were escorted to the East by Conductress, Betty Gill.

The Worthy Patron gave a very informative and inspiring talk, "A Mason Believes."

Past Masters of the Lodge, Joe Dupree, Bobby McBryde and Glenn McInnis, entertained everyone with their guitar, banjo and violin. Several well-known selections were rendered and enjoyed by everyone.

Chaplain, Mary Smith, prayed a closing prayer before the Conductress attended at the altar.

After the close of the meeting, the group gathered into the Thanksgiving motif dining hall. A large selection of hot d'oeuvres and pastries were enjoyed with all the coffee and fruit punch needed.

An evening of fellowship between the Stars and Masons were truly enjoyed by all.

Several members of Raeford Chapter No. 226, O.E.S. motored to Greensboro, Sunday, November 16, 1975, to visit the Chapter's guest, Mrs. Nell Musser on her birthday.

The following enjoyed lunch with Mrs. Musser: Miss Frances Ward Greene, Miss Lona Graham, Mrs. Hallie Gilles, Miss Maggie Jane McBryde, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Duncan, Mrs. Lillian Wood, Mrs. Blanche Hedgepeth, Mrs. Katie Potter, Mrs. Isabelle Maxwell, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. William Gill and daughter, Cindy and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mewherter III.

The Chapter remembered her with a lovely gift. Mrs. Ernest Duncan presented her with a beautiful birthday cake she had made. Others remembered her with their personal gifts.

After all the festivities were over, the group enjoyed a tour of the Masonic and Eastern Star Home.

Correction

In last week's edition the operator of the County Line Grocery was incorrectly identified as A.B. Henderson.

The correct name is A.B. Hudson. The News-Journal regrets the mix-up.
