How to make the most of your Checking Account

... Endorse checks ...

When you want to deposit or cash a check you have received from someone else, you must endorse it - sign your name (and sometimes other information) on the back of the check.

A BLANK ENDORSEMENT (figure 2 below) shows only your signature, and authorizes the bank - at its discretion - to pay the amount of the check to anyone who presents it (and also endorses it). Blank endorsements should be used with caution - normally only when you are at a teller's window, ready to cash the check.

A SPECIAL ENDORSEMENT (figure 3 below) allows you to designate the specific firm or person who should receive payment of the check.

A RESTRICTIVE ENDORSEMENT (figure 4 below) limits the use of the check for a particular purpose. Always use a restrictive endorsement when you are depositing a check to your account.

If your name is misspelled on the check, first endorse it the same way, then the correct way.
