

Worship Topic

Part 5 In Series March 30

Michael McDaniel of Lenior Rhyne College in Hickory will be the speaker at the final session of "The Good Old Days: Then or Now?" on Tuesday, March 30 at 7:30 P.M. at the Hoke Civic Center in Raeford.

Members of the discussion panel for the "New Kind of Worship" topic are Ethelynde Ballance, James L. Glen, Ruth McEachern, Cissy Moses and Rev. Kelly Wilson. John K. McNeill Jr., moderator of the entire series, will lead the Tuesday evening discussion.

The public is invited to attend the free program which is made possible by the North Carolina Humanities Committee. Local sponsors are the Sandhill Regional Library System (Hoke County Library), the Woman's Club of Raeford, and the Hoke County Bicentennial Commission.

McDaniel, a native of Charlotte, received the B.A. degree from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He also received a B.D. degree from Hamma School of Theology of Wittenburg University in Springfield, Ohio. He was awarded the M.A. degree from the Divinity School at the University of Chicago and is currently enrolled in the Ph.D program there.

An ordained Lutheran minister, McDaniel served in various pastoral and administrative positions in the Lutheran Church from 1954 to 1968. He taught at Wittenburg University before joining the faculty of Lenior Rhyne in 1971. At present, he is chairman of the humanities division and an assistant professor of religion.

Schools, Staff Get Together

County school librarians and public library staff members were the guests at an informal "Get Acquainted Tea" at the Hoke County Public Library last Thursday afternoon, March 18.

The occasion was sponsored by the Education Department of the Raeford Womens Club and the Hoke County Citizens United for the Improvement of Reading. Purpose of the meeting was to bring together those persons in the county whose common interest and vocation is children and their relationship to books and libraries.

Among the topics discussed was how the public library can cooperate with a plan to keep school libraries open in the summer by providing more service such as regular story hours in the school libraries and use of public library materials.

Announcement was made of the workshops to be held March 29, 30, and 31 to train volunteers to teach adults to read. These workshops are to be sponsored by the Hoke County Literacy Council. The school librarians were invited to attend the Literacy Council meeting on Monday night, March 22, at the library.

School librarians who attended were Mrs. Mamie Spears of J.W. McLaughlin Elementary School, Mrs. Phyllis Hall of Raeford Elementary, Miss Karen Crumpton of Scurlock Elementary, Mrs. Sarah Ropp of Upchurch Elementary, and Mrs. Juanita McAlister of West Hoke Elementary. County School Superintendent Raz Autry also attended.

Representing Hoke Citizens United for the Improvement of Reading were Mrs. Kay Thomas, chairman, Mrs. Mamie Gatlin and Mrs. Betty Russell. Mrs. Jessie Neeley of Citizens United and the Education Department, Raeford Womens Club, provided refreshments. These four women are among a group of volunteers who regularly meet with some of the children in school remedial reading programs, listening to them read and offering support and encouragement. This program, as was the tea itself, an outgrowth of the Citizens United effort.

who were present included Mrs. Dorothy Cameron and her staff at the Hoke County Public Library and Mrs. Ann Hostetler, Secretary of the Hoke County Library Board.

Three staff members of the Sandhill Regional Library System also attended: Miss Linda Brown, childrens librarian; Miss Anne Edvalson, coordinator of services who also specializes in extending special programs to young adults, and Mrs. Pamela Williams, Hoke County consultant.

No concrete plans for a future meeting were made last Thursday, but later on, definite dates could be set to meet together when specific topics might arise for sharing and discussion. "For instance," said Mrs. Cameron, "a meeting can be scheduled toward the end of the school year to inform the school librarians what the public library's service to the school libraries will be this summer."
