Homemakers Enjoy Eastern Tour

(Contributed)

Have you ever touched a crack in the Liberty Bell or boarded a Whaling Ship by the Mystic Sea? Three extension homemakers from Hoke County boarded a bus in Fayetteville, April 25th to go on a tour sponsored by the State Home Economics Extension, N.C. State University. The tour was called "1976 University on Wheels." After our first night stop in Maryland, we went to Philadelphia to take a walking tour of Independence Square where we saw the Liberty Bell. From there, we visited the first solar house at the University of Delaware and at the research center attended a lecture on soybeans. The home economists had prepared a pot of soybeans and asked each to taste. Believe it or not but they tasted good.

HOMEMAKERS TOUR -- Three county women are off on the extension homemakers University Days on Wheels Educational Tour, left to right, Bertha Hendrix of the Mildouson Club, Blanche Hedgpeth of the Raeford Morning Club, and Rossie Floyd also of the Raeford Morning Club. The group will have a walking tour of the historical section of Philadelphia, a visit to New York, Delaware, and Connecticut as part of the tour.

Leaving Newark, we went to New York. The first thing on our program there was given by several Union Carbide officials, a lecture and demonstration of their outstanding development in areas of solid waste disposal, solar energy and etc. The most outstanding to us was the Lende Oxygen Walker System to help emphysema patients.

Some of us went to see a Broadway play "The Royal Family" at the Helen Hayes Theatre.

The next day we visited the Metropolitan Museum, seeing a special collection of arts being shown, "The World of Franklin & Jefferson", a Bicentennial showing. We also saw fashions of yesteryear and attended a lecture by M. Vincent Minetti. Mr. Minetti received part of his education at the University of N.C., Chapel Hill, N.C.

Have you ever seen silver being made? We saw this at the Wallace Silver Company at Wallingford, Connecticut. We saw how flatware was made from the beginning to the finished product, ready to ship.

Later the same day, we toured Mark Twain House and Harriet Beecher Stowe House, leaving here for New Haven, Connecticut, for a walking tour of Yale Art Gallery to see a special collection of art loaned to the University by England.

The next day, we went to the Mystic Seaport at Mystic, Connecticut for a walking tour. Here we boarded a Whaling Ship resting in the harbor. This is a 40 acre outdoor maritime museum, a restoration of 18th century seaport town.

Saturday was traveling day and we were all glad to get back to the "Grand Ol State of North Carolina". Fifty nine ladies from different parts of the state took part in this tour. It was well planned and executed.
