One In School Board Contest

Ruth S. McNair, assistant director of nurses at McCain Hospital and wife of a Raeford businessman, became the first candidate to file for one of two seats up for grabs this year on the Hoke County Board of Education.

Mrs. McNair, 55, filed last Wednesday for the November election. The board of education is a non-partisan race.

Mrs. McNair, who resides in the city on Oakwood Ave., has been employed at McCain Hospital for the past 23 years.

A native of Wampum, Pa., she attended high school in West Charlotte and received her nursing training at Kate Bittings School of Nursing in Winston-Salem and at McCain Hospital.

"I would like to render service to the county, friends have asked me to run and I am interested in the schools. I would like to be helpful", she said last week.

Mrs. McNair's husband, Ivery

McNair, owner of McNair Cleaners, ran unsuccessfully for the board of education in the 1960's. This is Mrs. McNair's first bid at seeking elective office.

A member of the Professional Womens Club of Raeford, Mrs. McNair is a past commandress of Ouda Court #151 and a past worthy matron of Eastern Star chapter 256. She is presently loyal lady ruler of Carpenters Assembly #164.

She is a member of McLauchlin Chapel AME Zion Church.

In the school board race, incumbents D.R. Huff, Jr. and A.W. Wood Jr. have not yet announced intentions to file for re-election. The two are finishing out two year terms.

The others on the five board, Robert L. Gibson, W.L. Howell Jr. and Riley M. Jordan, were elected to four year terms in the last election.

Deadline for filing for the Aug. 17 primary is May 28.

Slimming down? Don't cut out bread - but do switch to whole grain bread, advises Dr. K. W. Heaton in the medical journal Lancet. Whole grain bread is tough and must be chewed. Chewing soothes the appetite and the eating urge - you have less desire to eat. (Chewing is also excellent for teeth and gum health.) The bran and wheat germ in whole grain bread contains roughage and fiber which avoids constipation. But it also fills and distends the stomach, with less digestible and less fattening food.
