NEW LOOK

Whether you call it the French panel, the sailor front, or the double zip, a new look zipping around the country is pants and skirts with two brass front accent zippers.

Suddenly zippers are more than functional closings. Now they are baring their teeth and making major news as decorative detail in women's and junior's casual wear. The look is workable in many types of fabric leading off with successful denim and followed closely by corduroys, chambrays and gabardines.

Children's and men's wear are seeing double, too. In men's wear the look is rugged and masculine with the double zip showing up on pants, shirt pockets and jackets, and as decorative closings for sleeves and handsome accents on overalls.

SUCCESS WITH STRIPES

Stripes are big fashion news. Horizontal, vertical and diagonal stripes can create a variety of fashion looks.

The secret of successful "striping" is mapping out a cutting layout for matching stripes. Here's how for horizontal stripes.

First, check your pattern envelope for the "Go-ahead". If stripes will not match in a pattern, the back of the pattern envelope will say, "Stripe fabrics are not suitable." It's best to select patterns with relatively simple lines or few pieces.

Plan to match stripes at center front, center back, side seams, and dress front at armhole and notch level. The stripes may not match at shoulder seams or at sides above bustline dart.

Fold the fabric so that stripes are perfectly in line, and pin layers together at frequent intervals so they do not shift. Begin by placing the front pattern piece on the fabric. Now position the back pattern piece so corresponding notches on side seams fall on identical portions of the stripe design. Then check to make sure the design matches at the stitching line of pattern pieces.

To match the sleeve, line up the notches on the sleeve cap and the notches of the front armhole on the identical portion of the stripe design.

Remember, you don't want the dominant, or bold stripe to fall at a noticeable place - bust, waist, or hips. Using a dominant stripe at the hemline helps give balance to the garment.

For uneven stripes, lay all pattern pieces on the fabric so that the tops of the pattern pieces point in the same direction (with nap).

If the stripes are perfectly matched when cutting, you are well on your way to successful striping.

Hint: To find out how much extra fabric you will need to buy to allow for matching stripes, count the major pieces of your pattern - for example, say there are three. Then measure the width of the stripe repeat - say it's every four inches. Multiply 3 x 4 inches and you get 12 inches, which the amount of extra fabric required.

Mrs. Carl Freeman accompanied Mr. and Mrs. W.M. Blackmon and family of High Point, to the beach for the weekend.

tage", "Give Me Your Tired and Poor", "You'll Never Walk Alone", "Rock-A-My Soul", "Michael Row the Boat Ashore", "Wendy" - drummer Meredith Kernshaw, "Homework" - soloist Denise Walters.

Following a brief refreshment period with the chorus, the club continued the meeting with a brief synopsis of the Hymn of the Month, "Wonderous Love", given by Mrs. McKenzie. The hymn was then sung by members accompanied by Mrs. Hugh Lowe.

Installation of new officers followed: president, Mrs. Ed Brown; secretary, Mrs. Gerald Wright; treasurer, Miss Jessie Bright Ferguson.
