Young - Chabot

Mrs. Roland Dale Young, Jr.

Deborah Louise Chabot, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Chabot of Fayetteville and Roland Dale Young, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Young Sr. of the Galatia community were married Saturday, May 22, at 2 p.m. at Galatia Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Russell Fleming and Rev. Charles Pittman officiated the ceremony. Lester Southern, soloist, provided nuptial music, accompanied by T. Mason Bell, organist.

Miss Jean Watson of Fayetteville was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Jackie Kimberly and Ann Watson of Rockingham, and Anne Yonts of Laurinburg. Jennifer Barefoot and Herby Chabot Jr. were child attendants.

James Clark of Fayetteville was best man. Mark Shaw, David Vencill, Floyd Young, Richard Chabot, Tony Young and Robert Chabot, all of Fayetteville, were ushers.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained with a reception in the church fellowship hall.

After a wedding trip, the couple will make their home in Denver, Colorado.

HINT — When washing walls, first wash a test area. Wash walls from floor to ceiling to avoid streaks, doing only a small section at a time. Rinse and wipe dry. Finish the wall, once you've begun, to avoid a cleaning line.

than those than have not been cooled.

To maintain quality, leafy and green vegetables should be refrigerated in a closed container, such as vegetable crisper, covered container or transparent bag.

Keep in mind that all vegetables are more or less perishable and should be used as soon as possible.

SHOPPING WITH CHILDREN

A shopping trip. To a parent it may mean shoving crowds and aching feet. But to a wide-eyed child, shopping is the wonder of pressing his nose against plate glass windows and staring longingly at brightly-colored displays. And it's the excitement of noises and people.

No matter how you view shopping trips, it's a wonderful way to continue your child's education about the world of money. But make sure you gear money experiences to the child's level of understanding.

Decide in advance how much the child will be allowed to spend. Then help select items that can be purchased for that amount.

However, do let the child make the final decision — even if you think it's a poor choice. Mistakes are a part of learning. But avoid an "I told you so" attitude when the child discovers the mistake.

Offer praise for wise choices.

FRESH GREEN PRODUCE

Did you know that we spend about twenty per cent of our food money for fruits and vegetables, including nuts, beans, peas, potatoes and sweet potatoes?

If you are concerned about what's good for you and the family — give special attention to two things that are related to high vitamin content of vegetables. One — the degree of yellow or green color and two — freshness.

There is no substitute for freshness. Freshness in vegetables is shown by bright color, crispness and freedom from spoilage. Leafy and green vegetables that are refrigerated or iced in the store or market will be of higher quality. And help children understand why they can't buy everything they want. Positive guidance works wonders.

Finally, allow the child to pay the salesperson.

It may be easier to buy everything for your child. And shopping trips with children tagging along may try your patience. But guided shopping expeditions can also teach your child the practical use of money.
