Books, Not Liquor, In Cartons

With lots of vacations still in progress and the July festivities pretty well behind us except for the memories; we are looking forward to a new fiscal year with great anticipation.

We hope our good friends in the county don't get upset when they see us transporting liquor of all kinds to the new library. We have been real busy packing magazines, books, etc. The ABC people have been real good to save us their nice strong boxes. We also appreciate boxes we have been getting from Home Food Market. I guess we can all get together, after moving day, for a big box burning.

We have added to our staff and are late mentioning this. We now have with us through the CETA program, Evelyn Earnest from Rockfish who is a journalism major in school at U.N.C., Chapel Hill. Through the same program, Helen Page, who will be continuing her schooling at Livingstone College in Salisbury, is with us again for the 5th year. She has been a long-time member of our library staff and we welcome her back each short, short summer. Helen has been working under PACE until this year. Mrs. Lyn Webb (Gail), is a welcomed addition at the desk taking the place of Mrs. Bob Harris (Bea) whom we lost to the political world. Betty McMillan will be attending Mt. Olive College this fall to study home economics. Betty is working under the PACE program. We will miss these girls when school starts.

We sure were hoping to get moved this summer while we have all our help, but time is racing and we haven't had the good word yet.

To all who were nice enough to come out in the rain for our July 4th dedication; we want you to know how much we appreciate your coming and your patience through not being able to hear.

Looking forward to our grand opening we anticipate a very special time for all the nice folks who have worked, donated, planned, etc., for this great day. So many times the folks who help the most and have much greater interest in what's going on get the least notice; we hope it will not be so when the lay out the "welcome mat" for Grand Opening Day of the new Hoke County Public Library. We have not forgotten all the young folks who participated through their school programs, bottle collections, etc. We are tempted to say here, "Yes Robert Wingate, we have built our library with such funds as your constant collecting of bottles, a few at the time and taking the time to bring them down to the library where they were kept to be picked up at special times." Some of you will remember the article we put in The News-Journal about Robert back in 1973, when he asked when we were going to build our new library, for which he had collected so many bottles to sell. A special "thank you" is certainly in order for all the young and young at heart who put forth so much effort. It is almost finished, it will soon be bedecked with your favorite reading material, it is your library, come in, use it.

USDA Makes Changes On Leaf Redesignation

Two revisions in the procedures for the redesignation of warehouses at which flue-cured tobacco growers will market their tobacco were announced by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Under one revision, the effective date of redesignation will be the second Monday following the end of the monthly five-day redesignation period. The second revision stipulates that a grower may change the farm's warehouse designation only once during the redesignation period.

Under the flue-cured tobacco program, growers may designate by May 31 each year the warehouse at which they will sell their tobacco during the marketing season. The selling time at each warehouse is based on the amount of tobacco designated to that warehouse.

Monthly redesignation periods have been set aside in the marketing season during which time tobacco growers may change the warehouse at which they will market their crop. Today's changes involve this redesignation period and process and were made to prevent producers of redesignated tobacco from using the sales opportunities of producers who do not change their designations.

Warehousemen will be notified of changes in designations. Any tobacco marketed prior to the effective date of redesignation (as indicated on the tobacco marketing card issued by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service) will be ineligible for government price support.

The revisions announced today make no change in the redesignation procedures for leased quota or for redesignation when a warehouse closes.

Selecting Paneling
Paneling is available in different price ranges and sizes. Most paneling is made of laminated plywood or reconstituted material such as hardboard, particle board, flakeboard, or chipcore. Standard sizes are 4 feet by 8 feet or 4 feet x 7 feet, but 10 ft. lengths are usually available on special order. Sheets can be either 1/8 inch, 3/16" or 1/4 inch thick. Matching trims and mouldings are also available.

When selecting paneling consider the location of walls. Special features may be desirable in certain locations:

(1) Basements. Most basements will have some dampness. Select 1/4 inch paneling and waterproof the walls before installing it. A plastic sheet, vapor barrier is recommended.

(2) Above ground supporting walls. Paneling of any thickness is available for installation above ground. For outside supporting walls, use a vapor barrier to protect against moisture migration and possible warping, even if panels are treated.

(3) High Moisture Areas. Some paneling is made for high moisture areas such as showers, bath and kitchens. Select paneling specifically manufactured for use in these areas.

High heat areas. When selecting paneling for a kitchen, furnace room, fire place room or other area near a flame or high heat source; make sure the panel material has a flame spread rating of no more than 50.

Be sure to read next week's edition of Housing Tips for information on installing paneling.

McCain Patient 'Rocks'

By Hilda S. Bukowski

Music is "everything" to professional guitarist Robert Lee Powell, tuberculosis patient at McCain Hospital and member of the rock quartet, Electric Express, of Greensboro.

Key-Vac has just released the group's fourth record, "Hearsay." Among the previous singles cut by Electric Express was their hit, "Life, Sho and Easy."

Powell, who has spent "a long five months" at McCain, anticipates release around August first. At that time he hopes that Electric Express can cut their first album.

Powell's interest in music he dates back to his grammar school days when his teen-aged brother began to play the saxophone. "I picked up an interest in music from my brother. We played together all the time."

Now, "music is my whole life," according to Powell whose appreciation spans the spectrum from rock to Bach.

Electric Express was born some fifteen years ago when four musicians from different rock groups came together. Since then, they have toured North Carolina and Michigan as well as played engagements in Atlanta, Ga., Washington, D.C., and New York City.

Powell plays lead guitar and sings occasionally. His brother plays tenor and alto saxophone. The other musicians play drums and bass guitar as well as sing.

In addition to his professional music career, Powell works with juvenile offenders as a parole officer for the federal government. He holds an Associate degree in psychology from A and T State University, Greensboro and is a 1967 graduate of Southern Guilford High School, Greensboro.
